Woman Badly Burned As Home Is Destroyed Near Plaingrove

HOOVER WARNS OF JERKING SENATORS' PLATES, SAYS WILL

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 25.—Mr. Hoover not only fed the Republican senators and congressmen this morning, but along with their ham and eggs they received the following iron in their food:

"You Republicans want to get it out of your head that you are in here for life. The country is slowly getting on to you. After November 1 I can easily take a dozen leaves out of this breakfast table.

Now go back to your office and have your stenographer compile you a list of ex-senators and congressmen who are still living. You would be surprised."

Yours,
WILL.

Burns May Prove Fatal To Woman; Burned In Blast

Mrs. Frank Guanneri Of Plaingrove Township Terribly Burned In Oil Explosion

HOME TAKES FIRE AND BURNS TO GROUND

Little Is Saved From Structure—Fourteen Children In Family

Mrs. Frank Guanneri, 44, of the No. 2 Mine district in Plaingrove township was burned so badly that she may die, and her husband, a son Frank, and little daughter were also burned, when kerosene which she was pouring in the stove of their home exploded at 7 o'clock last evening. Fire which followed the blast burned the house to the ground.

Mrs. Guanneri, it is said, believed that the fire in the stove had gone out and was in the act of pouring kerosene oil into the stove preparatory to lighting it, when it ignited and spread to the can she was holding which exploded enveloping her in flames.

Mr. Guanneri and a son Regget, were burned in trying to extinguish her blazing clothing. The little daughter, who was nearby also received burns from the blazing oil about her feet and legs.

Home Is Burned

Another son, led the other children in the family to safety from the burning home, which burst into flames following the blast and was burned to the ground, despite the efforts of neighbors who formed a bucket brigade. Only a small quantity of clothing was saved from the fire, it being impossible to carry out any of the furniture, as the blaze spread so quickly.

Mrs. Guanneri was removed to the Mercer hospital where it is stated that her condition is critical, and little hope is entertained for her recovery.

The children were cared for at the home of neighbors last night. There were fourteen children in the family, neighbors stated.

It is impossible to learn this morning whether insurance had been carried on the home or not. The loss will approximate $5,000 it is believed.

FIRST PHOTO OF TRAIN CRASH IN WHICH ELEVEN MET DEATH

Here is the first photo of the crossing crash at Kenosha Wis. in which 11 met death and 100 were injured when a speeding electric train on the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee struck an auto, hurling it into the path of an oncoming freight, which in turn crashed the heavily loaded passenger express. The picture shows the twisted steel passenger coaches in which most of the dead were found. Witnesses declared the auto tried to beat the train over the crossing.

PA NEW OBSERVES

New Castle and Lawrence County experienced a regular mid-winter thunder and lightning storm last night. It was not one of a few moments but continued for several hours. Rain fell in large quantities during the storm also. Weather forecasters predict that the weather will again turn cold, after the unusual storm.

New Castle and Lawrence County folks have an unusual opportunity in the auto show that will be staged at the cathedral beginning Thursday, in the home products and industrial exhibit that will be a part of the program. Some 20 or 25 industries of this city will present exhibitions of the products made in New Castle. It will be a most interesting affair and one that will have a truly educational flavor.

A little work was done in the grading of the bridge, which is being built on the New Castle-Ellwood road, at Cascade Park, last week, but the bad weather conditions prevent much work being done. It is expected that the road will be open to traffic early in Spring. However, the road will not be completed until June. Fifty feet will be paved beyond the bridge, workmen say.

The robins must be heading north as far as their wings will bring them for again this morning Charles Johnson, King avenue, reports seeing two in his back yard and one of them was doing a lot of chirping, probably discussing where they would find an apartment for the summer.

As soon as the weather permits work will proceed in laying the foundation for the new Epworth church at the corner of East Washington street and Butler avenue.

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Following a quarrel with his young wife in their Park avenue apartment, Richard H. Jones, graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy and vice president of an oil company, killed himself by plunging from an eighth floor window today, according to police.

Jones was 35. His wife, the former Louise H. Conkey is 20.

The couple were in an altercation early this morning, according to the story of the tragedy given out by the police.

Mrs. Jones told authorities her husband picked up a floor lamp and struck her on the head with it.

As she reeled from the blow she said she saw her husband run to a rear window of the apartment which was open because of the mild weather. He threw himself out as his wife screamed in horror.

Mrs. Jones, who is extremely pretty, was treated for cuts on her scalp.

Auto Driver Is Held Responsible For Train Crash

FOUR OF INJURED EXPECTED TO DIE

(International News Service)
KENOSHA, Wis., Feb. 25.—A hasty coroner's inquiry today blamed a wild automobile driver for the triple train and automobile wreck that ground out the lives of eleven persons and injured nearly one hundred.

Deaths of four of the injured are expected hourly, according to hospital attaches. Two others lie in critical danger due to severe injuries.

Blame Driver

In a statement issued by officials of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee road, the blame for the wreck is laid directly upon Norman Shinner, driver of the automobile that tried to "beat" the trains to the grade crossing.

Instead of clearing the speeding trains, Shinner's automobile was caught by a freight train and hurled against the passenger coaches. Both trains leaped the track and plunged down an eight foot embankment, trapping the passengers within the crushed cars.

The jury of six business men, formed by Coroner A. B. Schmidt, will hold a more thorough examination as soon as statements of some of the victims are available.

Examine Bones Of Murdered Woman

Bones Found In Shallow Grave Believed Those Of Woman Alleged To Have Been Slain

(International News Service)
NILES, Mich., Feb. 25.—Bones believed to be those of the missing arms and legs of the headless torso of Mrs. Rozella Plovie, 42, found in a shallow grave in the back of her home here yesterday, were being examined by the coroner today.

They were found in the furnace of the Plovie summer cottage at a nearby lake.

Philip Plovie, husband of the murdered woman, killed himself near her grave yesterday rather than face questions. He had confessed to Henry Baker, brother of Mrs. Plovie, but Baker doubted Plovie's story.

FREAK STORMS STRIKE WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA

(International News Service)
Pennsylvania awoke today to clearing skies and balmy temperatures in the wake of freakish snow and thunderstorms that swept over the state last night.

Streets and roads in Western Pennsylvania, notably in the Pittsburgh area, bore mute testimony today to the fury of the tropical electrical storm which vented its wrath on that city.

Following snow flurries in the afternoon, a roaring, growing tempest broke over the Smoky City last night. Two hours after the storm first let loose, streets and roads in the Pittsburgh district were transformed into miniature rivers, traffic was paralyzed as the swirling torrents of water washed earth and rocks onto the city's boulevards and a general tieup in street car traffic throughout the entire district resulted from the washing of mud and rocks onto traction lines.

Phenomenal Rain

Employees of the Bureau of Highways and Sewers still were at work today in their efforts to render blocked highways passable. Several automobiles were stranded, brought to a halt by huge boulders which had been forced from the hillsides and onto district boulevards by the phenomenal rain.

Outside of the city conditions were reported as bad. Allegheny river towns reported that flood conditions resulted from the driving rain. Eighteen inches of water surged through the Freeport road at Aspinwall, penetrating floor boards of automobiles on the road and bringing fifty machines to a halt because of flooded ignition mechanisms.

Continued warm weather was predicted for Western Pennsylvania today.

Fear For Orchards

Harrisburg, Feb. 25.—Orchardists in Central Pennsylvania were worried today over the continued stretch of warm weather. Fruit trees, encouraged by the balmy days which have extended from last Friday, are beginning to bud, and fruit growers expressed fear that freezing weather predicted as in the offing will ruin their crop.

A few more days of warm weather, says the fruit men, will cause buds

Mayor Kline To Confer Today In Taxi-Cab Strike

Mayor Kline Will Hold Round-Table Discussion With Taxi Officials And Strikers

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 25.—In a new move to end the strike of 1,400 taxi-cab drivers, which has resulted in Pittsburghers and visitors consuming considerable shoe leather, members of the strikers' executive committee and their counsel and officials and attorneys of the Parmelee Transportation company controlling green, yellow and checker cabs, meet in informal, round table discussion with Mayor Charles H. Kline here today.

The mayor, while refusing to indicate on what basis the discussion would be promulgated, evinced considerable optimism as to the outcome of the meeting.

"I hope you will be riding in taxi-cabs tomorrow night," Mayor Kline told newspapermen. In itself, this hope is the most optimistic statement to emanate from official quarters since the drivers left the wheels of their cabs nearly seven weeks ago.

Despite official optimism, however, no indication was apparent, in statements made by spokesmen for both sides in the controversy, that either party was in a mood for compromise.

Plane In Landing In Meadow Strikes Cow, Cripples It, Kills Two In Plane

(International News Service)
GREAT FALLS, Mont., Feb. 25.—Henry B. Lorentz, radio buyer and airplane pilot, and E. C. Smith, his assistant, were dead today as the result of the most peculiar aviation tragedy on record.

Missing one of his cows at milking time, George McKenna, a rancher near Stanford, started to look for her. The cow, crippled but alive, was found near the wreckage of an airplane. Pinned beneath the plane were the bodies of the two men.

The plane had struck the cow while landing in a meadow, bounced crazily about the field and had overturned, killing both men probably instantly.

Lorentz and Smith were returning to Great Falls after a buying trip in the East. Lorentz was granted a pilot's license a year ago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—The quiet sanctuary of German Deaconess hospital was transformed into a frenzy of terrified patients in a furious gun battle today when three gangsters tried to murder Frank McElrath, notorious underworld character, as he lay in his sick bed.

Night-time quiet prevailed throughout the large hospital as the three gunmen crept unnoticed through a fire escape window into McElrath's private room to carry out the gangland pact to put the gangster "on the spot."

Terrified patients cried out in alarm as the blazing gun broke the quiet.

Dense Fog Delays Atlantic Shipping

Many Big Liners Carefully Pick Way Through Fog To New York Harbor

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The Cunard Carmania was anchored off Ambrose lightship at the entrance to New York's lower harbor shortly after eight o'clock today, according to Radio Marine corporation, which received a message from the ship telling of dense fog holding her up.

No mention was made of any accident and it was believed at the radio station that a report from London which had the Carmania in collision with the U. S. Shipping Board Vessel Baldbutte was erroneous.

The Royal Mail Line Arcadian was anchored near the Carmania, she reported.

Dense fog which has intermittently enveloped the harbor and sea entrance for two days was delaying all shipping, both seagoing and riverwise. The liners probably will not proceed to quarantine and their pier unloading later morning brings better visibility.

May Try Two Murder Cases At Same Time

March Court May See Murder Trials In Both Court Rooms Simultaneously

TWO ASSISTANTS TO POWERS ARE NAMED

Not Decided Whether Irene Or Dague Will Be Tried First

Not in many years, perhaps in the entire history of Lawrence county, has a term of court been as important or as large as the March term of criminal court promises to be. With the list of indictments already well over 100, with six first degree murder cases among them, and with a number of important robbery cases on the list, District Attorney John S. Powers and his assistants will assist him in a heavy task.

Both court room number one and court room number two will be the scene of important legal battles, with the commonwealth of Pennsylvania asking for the lives of six people for murder. What the arrangement will be is not yet decided upon, but the indications are that while Irene Schroeder and W. Glenn Dague are being tried in court room number one, Charles Llewellyn, William Grimm, Jesse Martin and Jack McDevitt will be on trial in court room number two for the murder of Clark Rea.

Four Prosecuting Attorneys.

At least four attorneys will be on the side of the prosecution. District Attorney John S. Powers and Special Counsel Charles Margiotti of Punxsutawney, Pa., appointed by the governor to assist in the prosecution of Mrs. Schroeder and Dague will be in court room number one, while Attorney George S. Muse and Attorney W. Walter Braham, who will be appointed as assistant district attorneys, will be in court room number two.

The defense of Irene Schroeder and W. Glenn Dague will see five attorneys around the table, ex-Judge William P. Barnum, Attorney Kedgwin Powell and Attorney Oscar Stevens of Youngstown, O., Attorney Benjamin Jarrett of Farrell, Pa., and Attorney Thomas W. Dickey of New Castle are expected to defend them, and with the addition of officers of the court and some of the families of the defendants, the space will be crowded.

It has not yet been announced whether Irene Schroeder or W. Glenn Dague will be placed on trial first. For the term of court, five panels of jurors have been called, two panels of 60 each for the week of March 10, two panels of 60 each for the week of March 17 and one panel of 60 for the week of March 17.

Crowded Court Rooms.

With two murder trials in progress at the same time, as seems to be indicated, the court house will be crowded. Court room number one holds about 225 people seated, according to figures compiled by Clifford James and Ernest McCracken, custodians of the court house. This means little room for spectators after the jurors and witnesses are seated.

Court room number two is smaller, both as to space inside the trial hall and in the court room proper. It is probable that the panels of jurors will be assigned one to each court room. If this were true, and there were 20 witnesses called for the Schroeder and Dague cases, there would be room for something over 100 spectators in this

Rotary Observes 25th Anniversary Of International

Passing Of Quarter-Century Mark Celebrated By

WIVES ARE GUESTS AT NIGHT PROGRAM

In line with International Rotary's expressed wish that all clubs throughout the United States and in other countries observe appropriately the 25th anniversary of its formation, members of the New Castle organization, with their ladies as guests, met in the ballroom at The Castleton last night and enjoyed a special program.

Dinner was served shortly after seven o'clock, and immediately following President Frank L. Burton assumed charge for the few brief minutes during which routine business of the club was dispensed with. The meeting took the form of a regular noon-day session and was such inasmuch as there was no meeting at noon on Monday.

Tribute to the founder of Rotary, Dr. Elwood Bliss, was made by the speaker, and the evening was given over to the presentation of the 25th anniversary of the formation of the club, which was celebrated by the presentation of a plaque to the club by the International organization of yesterday and also to that of today.

George W. Mose reviewed the history of the local club and told of developments that have come about since it was formed back in 1913. Another speaker was DeLace Cole, active Rotarian here.

Mr. Cole pointed out the club's progress, but also the special stress on the work being done in behalf of underprivileged children. Mr. Cole's address was spiced here and there with interesting bits of humor and his speech was enjoyed, as were those which preceded it.

Librarian Wants Record Of Any Medieval Papers

Library Of Congress Is Undertaking Summary Catalogue Of Old, Foreign Manuscripts

Is there anyone in New Castle who has, in his possession, any classical or medieval manuscripts?

The Library of Congress, in cooperation with the American Council of Learned Societies, is undertaking a summary catalogue of the classical and medieval manuscripts in the public and private libraries and collections of the United States and Canada.

Miss Alice M. Sterling, librarian of the New Castle Free Public Library, has received a letter from Herbert Putnam, Librarian of Congress, asking her to try to locate individual manuscripts in private hands, and to report any classical or medieval manuscripts kept by the library.

Although there are no such manuscripts at the public library, it is thought that some book-collectors or persons with literary "hobbies" in this vicinity may own some.

The enterprise is confined to material in Greek, Latin and the vernacular languages of the Indo-European family as spoken in Europe. Americana are thus excluded, and the closing date is set at approximately 1500 A. D.

The great value of the proposed catalogue to historical and philological scholars in both Europe and America is manifest. Foreign manuscripts in this country are now numerous, but in the absence of any general catalogue they are in large degree lost to scholarship. To give them their full usefulness, the present undertaking should be made as inclusive as possible, and it is earnestly hoped that any one in New Castle who has any such manuscripts or volumes, or knows of any one who has, will notify Miss Sterling at the local library.

Admit Children Thursday

Local school children will be admitted to the auto show free of charge on Thursday afternoon between the hours of three and five o'clock. This will give them an opportunity of viewing the industrial exhibit, which should prove of great educational value to them, enabling them to gain a first-hand knowledge of the principal industries of the city and what they manufacture.

The fashion show will be held each evening during the three days of the exhibit. This part of the program will take place in the auditorium. Following the fashion revue Miss Alberta McCormick will give an exhibition of acrobatic dancing on Thursday evening, and on Friday evening Miss Dorothy Fletcher will put on a program of singing and Spanish and tap dancing. Both these young ladies will be seen on Saturday evening in the final evening of the show.

High School Orchestra

Another added attraction on Saturday afternoon will be the appearance of the high school orchestra, which will play throughout the afternoon.

Arrangements for the big event have been practically completed and the work of putting in the exhibits is now well under way. A special ramp has been built in the rear of the Cathedral on which the cars are being taken in under their own power.

The auto show proper will occupy the main dining room and ballroom in the downstairs section. The industrial exhibit will be placed in the lobby of the Cathedral, where ample space has been provided.

The auto show is expected to draw unprecedented crowds this year because of the large number of attractions which are being offered in addition to the complete showing of the various types of cars which are sold in New Castle.

Accessory dealers will also have an exhibition in various parts of the building, making the show more complete.

Everything is expected to be in readiness for the opening of the show by Thursday morning.

Chicago's effort to avoid insolvency by asking wealthy citizens to buy tax warrants doesn't sound like much of a scheme. It would be lots better if Chicago would merely assess its racketeers a proportion of their "rake."

Street Employees Find Queer Things In Sewer

Employees of the street department, who are now engaged in cleaning out local storm and sanitary sewers, are making some queer finds in the underground pipes.

This morning, a force of men was at work cleaning out the sewer at the foot of Cochran Way, and hauled out articles of all kinds and descriptions. There were several pairs of socks, an assortment of buttons that would have done credit to any dressmaker in the city, and strange to say, almost two dollars in currency.

How the money and other things got into the sewer in the first place is a mystery. They might have been washed in from an adjoining laundry, as the buttons would indicate this.

On one other occasion, the men sent that they had fished out eighty cents in change from another sewer.

Then, too, huge quantities of raisin mash is often found, along with sundry articles, all of which have a tendency to clog up the sewer system.

Their work this morning was lucrative, however, as it is not often that they find such a large amount of loose change in the drain tiles.

SOVIET CLOSES MANY CHURCHES

Continues Policy Of Eliminating Places Of Worship Through-

By EDWARD L. DEUSS,
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

MOSCOW, Feb. 25.—Disregarding the protests of millions of believers in other parts of the world, the Soviet government is continuing its anti-religious policy with undiminished vigor and with the apparent wholehearted support of the majority of the Russian people.

The peasant residents of twelve villages consolidated into one collective farm in this district today voted to close three churches and destroy all roadside chapels.

In the villages of Prutkaya and Yusupovo, the peasants have gathered together all wooden ikons and other holy objects in the churches there and used them for bonfires.

Throughout the country it is the same story. Churches are closed daily and those who refuse to disregard their religious beliefs are made to suffer much annoyance by the great Mass of unbelievers.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Feb. 25.—Happiness reigns among the employees of the Lackawanna and Wyoming Valley Coal company at the Florence Colliery in Dupont for today they were paid for the first time in several months. The sum of the defaulted payrolls amounted to approximately $10,000.

At the same time more good news was made known with the announcement by Pasquale Adonizio, a Pittsford contractor, that the Rose Coal company, of which he is head will resume operation.

Maintenance men have been called to work and expect to have the mine ready by the first of next week.

Chicago's effort to avoid insolvency by asking wealthy citizens to buy tax warrants doesn't sound like much of a scheme. It would be lots better if Chicago would merely assess its racketeers a proportion of their "rake."

—The New London Day.

Employees of the street department, who are now engaged in cleaning out local storm and sanitary sewers, are making some queer finds in the underground pipes.

This morning, a force of men was at work cleaning out the sewer at the foot of Cochran Way, and hauled out articles of all kinds and descriptions. There were several pairs of socks, an assortment of buttons that would have done credit to any dressmaker in the city, and strange to say, almost two dollars in currency.

How the money and other things got into the sewer in the first place is a mystery. They might have been washed in from an adjoining laundry, as the buttons would indicate this.

On one other occasion, the men sent that they had fished out eighty cents in change from another sewer.

Then, too, huge quantities of raisin mash is often found, along with sundry articles, all of which have a tendency to clog up the sewer system.

Their work this morning was lucrative, however, as it is not often that they find such a large amount of loose change in the drain tiles.

Hoover Urges Rigid Economy

DEFICIT FOR TREASURY LOOMS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—President Hoover followed up his plea for governmental economy today with an appeal to "the people back home" to support their congressmen in the endeavor to hold down expenses at this session of congress.

Unless the budget is adhered to within $50,000,000, Mr. Hoover warned yesterday, a treasury deficit and increased taxation is inevitable.

This is no time, the president said, for expansion of federal activities—on the contrary, it is a time to pull the purse strings tight. Members of congress themselves generally realize the situation, the president said, but are constantly being subjected to pressure from sectional groups for legislation entailing enormous federal outlays. It was these groups that Mr. Hoover addressed in an appeal for cooperation and support today.

Towing Of Autos Violating Parking Rules Combated

Effort Being Made To Have Regulation Called Illegal
In Philadelphia

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—Director of Public Safety L. B. Schofield came out today with the flat declaration that he "will stand behind every man on his liquor-raiding squad" until charges that "ruthless and illegal raids are creating a reign of terror here have been proved."

He indicated, however, that he would "fire" any men who conducted raids without warrants and were found guilty of smashing private property.

A proprietress of a cigar store charged yesterday that her store had been raided 61 times in the past few months by the liquor squad and each time they failed to find anything. Once she said her son caught one of the policemen trying "to plant a pin of alleged liquor" in her store.

Schofield has been given a court summons in the fight against the towing tactics of his squad conducting a crusade against illegal parking. All machines found parked illegally are towed to a garage and the owner must pay a $5 towing charge and $1 a day storage charges in order to get his car back. An effort is being made to have the law declared invalid.

In the meantime Schofield is conducting an investigation of the tactics of his raiders which 12 members of the squad are due to be placed on trial on Friday before the civil service commission.

State Committee Candidate Files

HARRISBURG, Feb. 25.—Charles M. Shortt, Sugar Grove, today filed Republican nomination petitions with the state bureau of elections as a candidate for state committee from the forty-eighth district.

FROM HIS SICKBED CHICAGO GANGSTER BATTLER "KILLERS"

pillow and gave the invaders a furious battle although he himself was ridiculed with three bullets which may have caused death. Fropped up on his sick bed McErlane blazed away with such telling effect that the gunmen fled.

Doctors rushing into McErlane's room after the duel found the gangster still waving his pistol, his right leg encased in a cast and suspended grotesquely by weights and pulleys.

Still firing and brandishing revolvers and shotguns, the three assassins raced through the main corridor, terrorizing nurses, doctors and internes who watched helplessly.

Kept Loaded Gun.
The crash of the shots, fast as automatics could fire, aroused screams of panic among nurses and patients. It was hours before the mystified patients could be reassured and quieted.

The purpose of the invaders was to "finish a job" which they started a month ago when McErlane was shot in the leg. That he expected such an attempt is indicated by the loaded pistol he kept close at hand, which nurses never discovered and with which he repelled the entire group.

Until arrival of detectives it was not known that the wounded man was a gangster at all. He appeared on the record as "Charles Miller." He had explained the gunshot wound in his leg was an accident suffered while cleaning his revolver.

"I always sleep with a gun under my pillow," he had said then—but McErlane, known as "one of the toughest," did not let them he had the gun under his pillow.

Has Reputation.
McErlane has long enjoyed the reputation of being the most dangerous and cruelest of Chicago's gangsters. Even at the point of death he would have nothing to say to detectives.

Questions only brought sneers. "Didn't you know this was a private affair?" he challenged. "I'll handle it myself if I don't die—and if I do die there won't be any need of handling it."

McErlane has been connected with a number of gang killings. He has also been suspected of a number of wanton killings of inoffensive citizens, according to police.

No Decision Yet On Snook Appeal

Reached Snook Case On Docket

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The supreme court failed to announce its decision in the petition of Dr. James H. Snook, Ohio State University professor, for review of his sentence of death for murder, when court convened today.

The court apparently had not had time to fully consider the Snook petition since it was filed yesterday.

A prompt decision was expected because he is sentenced to be electrocuted Friday for the murder of Theora Hix, university co-ed.

Chief Justice Hughes disposed of the usual formalities and opened argument in cases before the court without mentioning the Snook case.

The warm weather brings gladness in other quarters for it lessens the danger of an ice jam in the Susquehanna river. Ice has started to move near here, the west channel is clear and the narrow eastern channel is being aided by free flowing water.

The remainder of the ice is expected to move today with the river stage at a few feet.

Pittsburgh, Feb. 25.—With two lives claimed by the severe electrical storm that swept over this city last night, workmen today began to repair the havoc and destruction left in the path of the tropical downpour.

Thomas Sadyanich, 24, of this city, was killed instantly when a live electric wire fell against his automobile in Wilkins township while an unidentified man was drowned when a bridge over Thompson Run Creek was swept.

Considerable property damage was done in the form of flooded cellars, broken collapses, dwelling foundations weakened and damaging of automobiles.

Mr. Norris, one of the most earnest, honest men in the Senate, thinks President Hoover could, if he would, make prohibition an immediate success.

Nobody wants that more than Mr. Hoover wants it. He wants it so earnestly that he almost thinks prohibition is a success now.

Senator Norris says: "One sentence from the White House would end corruption."

It would have to be a powerful sentence, far surpassing in efficacy the magic word "abracadabra."

What sentence would persuade bootleggers, hijackers and the army of public officials on their payroll to give up their profits?

In Nebraska, Mr. Norris' own state, last Saturday, young men, determined to have alcohol, drank an anti-freeze mixture. Five died, several are dangerously ill.

What sentence from the White House would have prevented that? It is not fair to the President to say that he is not, with all his heart, for prohibition.

But no word of his, backed by the entire Army and Navy which he commands, plus all the resources of the National Treasury, could keep men from drinking if they were determined to drink.

That has been proved in history a hundred times.

Men who think women should fight, if they want to vote, would approve a lady called "the widow Chang," in China.

She leads a most dangerous desperate gang of bandits, steals everything that can be carried, cuts the throats of all that resist, and persuades her followers that she is bullet proof. Many leaders have advanced that theory, until some bullet spoiled it.

The fighting widow, only 30, called "Marshal," has been offered high command in the regular army if she would reform and cut throats according to law. She likes her job and has been imitated by other Chinese women.

Do not think there is anything that women cannot do, if they put their minds on it, of course excepting the production of the very highest works of genius.

Nature will not let them do those things. They may concentrate on the production of first class children.

Doubtless, when the world is fully populated and each woman limited to two children, women will do all that men do, and better.

Norman Angell, British member of Parliament prophesies the end of Britain's Empire. But his reasons are not convincing.

He says that of Parliament have no force in Britain's dominions, and the British government has no real authority in them.

What of it? Among civilized men, the word of one has no authority in the family of another. That does not keep men from sticking together in emergencies.

Ask a Canadian, Australian or South African at what price he would abdicate selling his dominion to the United States. This will tell you how British he is.

If Britain's empire did collapse, it would be a sad day for hundreds of millions among so-called inferior races, thus called because they ARE inferior.

Under British rule, India's population has risen from 200,000,000 to 300,000,000. Let Britain withdraw from India, by compulsion or otherwise, and you would see the British-created 100,000,000 melt away.

Famine and disease would do their old work. The bonfires of "suttee" would be blazing, young widows burning alive beside their old husbands' corpses, in the good old way.

And savage Afghans would start the work that Britain prevents and carry out their promise to "kill one half the Hindus and make the rest slaves."

Dr. Counts, of Teachers' College, Columbia University, warns religious heads, protesting against Russian suppression of churches, that their protests make matters worse.

He reminds protesting church dignitaries that the Russian church was worse than the Czars' government and the noble landowners in keeping peasants in ignorance and poverty.

"The church," says Dr. Counts, "was one of the most effective means by which the ruling classes maintained themselves in power."

Russia's peasants are religious and intensely superstitious. But they know that their church would give back to nobles and monasteries lands that Lenin gave them.

They do not want that.

The Prince of Wales, hunting in Africa, killed an elephant, among other animals. The elephant, most intelligent of animals, fast becoming extinct in a wild state, is gentle, harmless, and a creature, which is like shooting a barn, must be unpleasant.

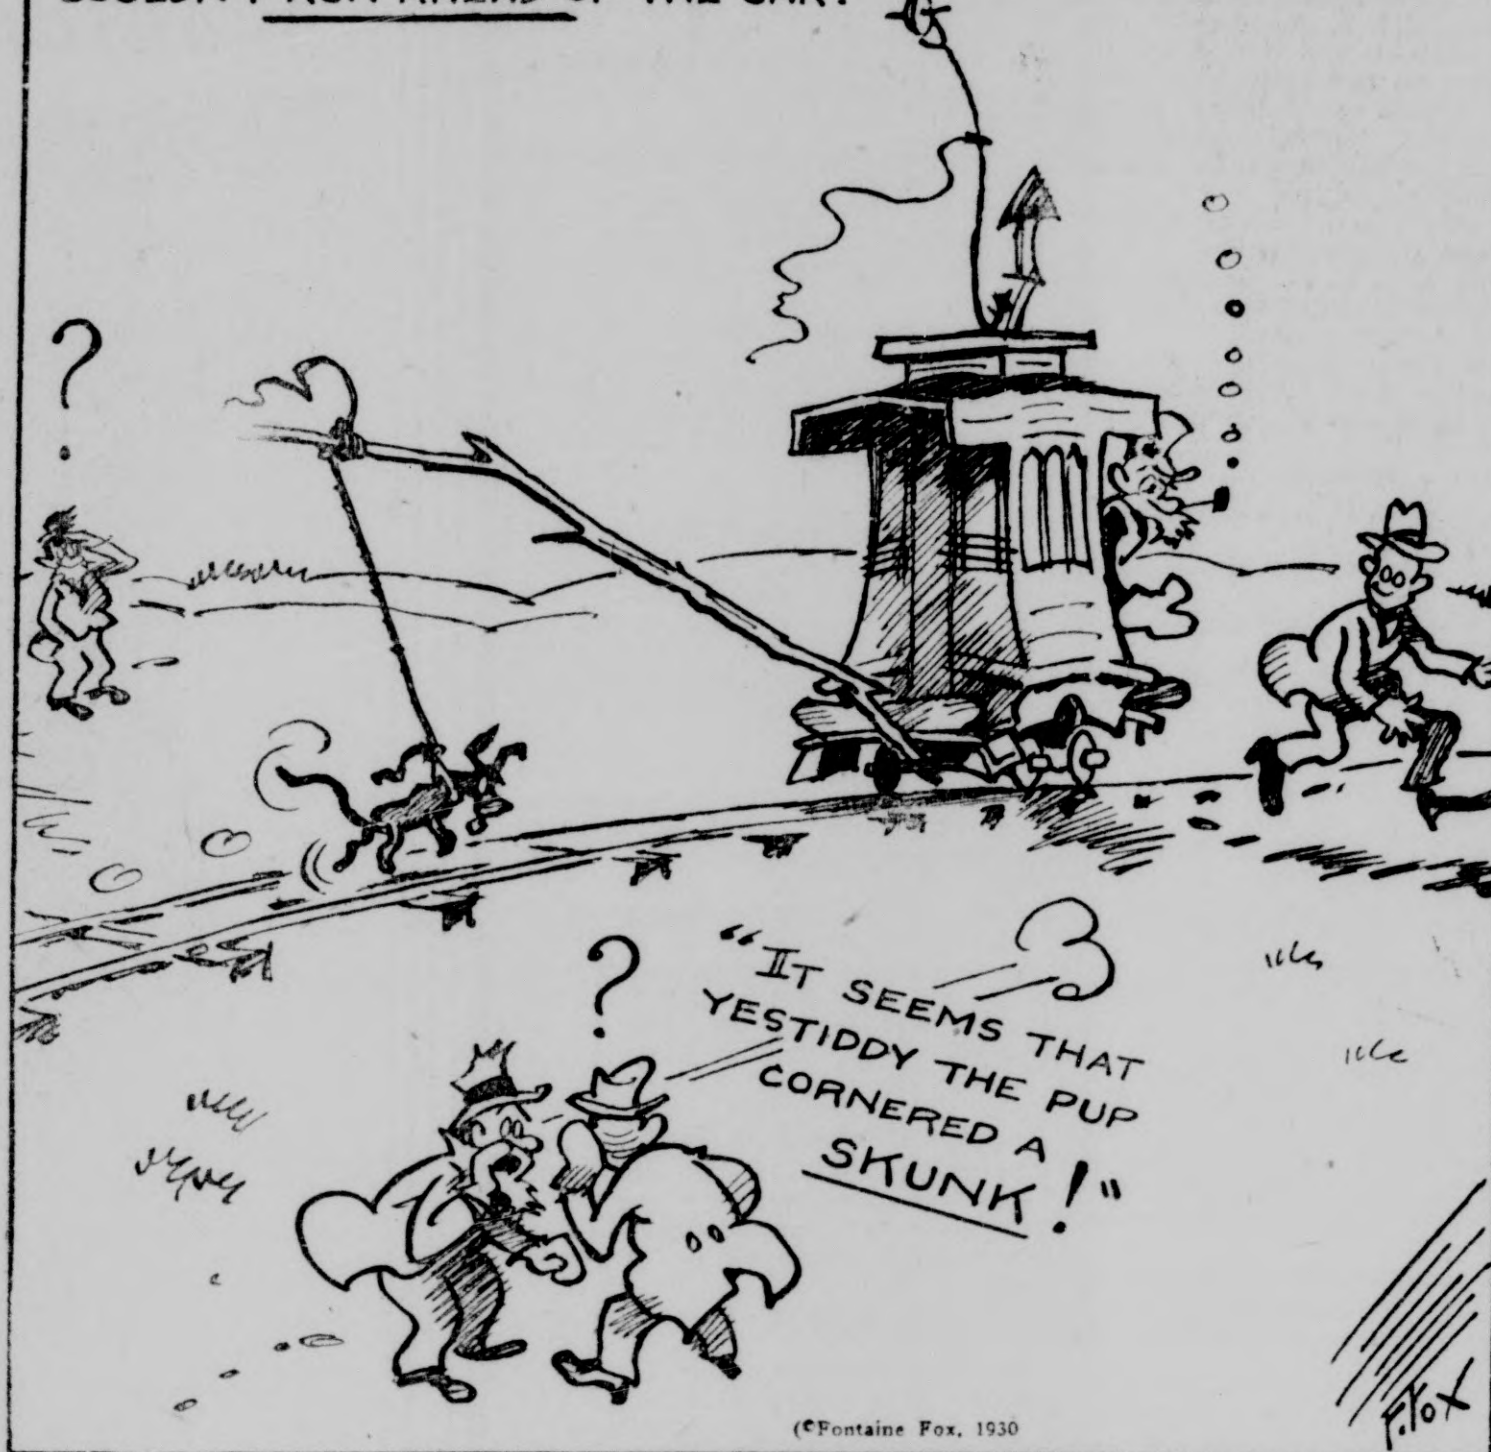

However, it is necessary for a "true sportsman" royalty especially, to include the killing of elephants, lions and tigers in life's record, and the elephant could not have lived above 50 or 100 more years anyhow.

With all their grief and terror, it must be admitted that our little Filipino friends are having a swell time being persecuted—especially those safe in Manila who can organize "humiliation days" and the like—with no complications in the way of brickbats.

Senator Johnson has joined those who dilate with horror because some little blonded tramps "consort" with the little brown brothers. Just what it is he sees in these little Filipino boys that make them especially unworthy of feminine society?

The present Filipino crisis is suggestive of the old story about the parson in the mining camp. All the boys chipped in to build him a church. The first Sunday he poured down fire and brimstone upon the saloon keepers. After church his horrified head deacon came to him: "Lay off the saloons, parson," he said. "That's where most of the money came from."

The parson apologized and next Sunday he lit into the gamblers.

"Well," said the deacon, "now you have spilled the beans for sure; the gamblers built your church."

"Whom can I preach about?" asked the bewildered parson.

The deacon thought it over. "If I was you," he said, "I'd light into the heathen; they ain't got no friends."

Move To Launch New Party Is Studied With Open Minds

General Opinion Is Unfavorable, Because Of Firmly Established Two-Party System And Handicap Of Emphasis On Single Issue

Efforts to establish a third national political party are studied by the public with an open mind, but the idea has failed to make much progress. As the strongest support for the proposed organization comes from members of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, it is held by critics that its plan of campaign would be too restricted. There is also a belief that it will be hard to overthrow the two-party system.

However perturbed the politicians in Washington may be at the prospect of a third party, advises the BALTIMORE EVENING SUN, "we are certain that the astute gentlemen conducting the affairs of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment have no such half-baked idea in mind. These gentlemen have had the advantage of a close study of the odds by which Volsteadism was brought into being in this country and they know it was not done by the Prohibition party. On the contrary, Volsteadism was brought into being by a group of hard-headed practical politicians whose chief accomplishment was ability to make the representatives of both the existing parties for the mark. The Anti-Saloon league never asked what were the political affiliations of an aspiring candidate. It asked only if he would vote dry. As it was by opposing the wet candidates and supporting the dry candidates that it finally achieved its victory. The best chance of beating the Anti-Saloon league is by adopting Anti-Saloon league methods, and the men behind the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment know it. They will not be led astray by idealistic talk about a third party."

Considering the question whether the new organization "will take the field as a political party," says the CHATTANOOGA TIMES comments: "Should it adopt the latter course, that of making its influence felt in congressional primaries and elections, and in the halls of congress, it will no doubt give many a congressional candidate and many a member of the national legislature troubled hours, and it may influence the course of legislation. Should it undertake the role of a political party, putting its own candidates in the field, there is no telling what the result might be, although the general view seems to be that the movement would have little chance of succeeding. * * * The situation is one which becomes increasingly interesting, and it is also one which will bear watching. The obvious way for the Democratic and Republican parties to avoid the threat of a real third party is for both of them to return to their fundamental principles. But party lines have become so cross-crossed, and in some instances so nearly identical, that it is perhaps too much to expect any such happy developments."

"Every year in excess of prohibition or any phase of it," according to the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE, "emphasizes the fact that party lines on this fundamental national issue have long since gone by the boards. If there is a proposal to transfer enforcement from one department to another, or to apply the same penalties, or to make the buyer's guilt equal to that of the seller, there are no Republicans or Democrats, but only wets and dries." The Post-Gazette continues: "Col. Samuel Harden Church, in his suggestion of a new party, takes advanced ground to the effect that the present party lines are likely to follow. Tradition holds strong, and organizations that have been built up over a long period of years and reach down to every voting district of the nation will not be abandoned nor allowed to collapse over night. But there are many who believe that the importance of prohibition is such that it will force important re-alignments in national politics in the next ten years."

Pointing out that Mr. Church's plan is to draw the liberal element from the old parties, the PASADENA STAR-NEWS contends: "There may be or there may not be a new political party, but most assuredly any party hoping to succeed would have to be a broad-gauge organization with truly national objectives and with principles and proposals which would appeal favorably to the masses of the people." The Star-News also remarks: "Formation of proposed new political parties is nothing new. From the very beginnings of the government new parties have sprung up, from time to time, and like Jonah's gourd, they have flourished for a little while and then withered away."

Political leaders in both parties are quoted by the SAGINAW DAILY NEWS as "attaching no importance to the new-party idea," but that paper points out certain points in which the proposed organization would differ from the old Prohibition party which was ineffective. It says: "Nevertheless, these political leaders and men of experience and of political perception that the proposed third party, though never coming near to accomplishing its main purpose, could and no doubt would make all sorts of trouble for the old parties. For instance, by placing third party candidates in the field when congressional elections roll around, and while the history of third parties does not disclose them as brilliantly successful, they have on occasion entirely disrupted the programs of the old lines. Consequently, there is a whole lot of anxiety behind that attitude of ridicule the political leaders have taken in regard to Mr. Church's proposal."

In addition to mention of the Prohibition party, which failed, the TERRE HAUTE STAR comments: "We have had other parties advocating other reforms that have been adopted, but the adoption was not brought about by these minor political organizations. Whatever has been accomplished has been by working through the Republican and Democratic parties. Those two may be relied on to give consideration to any proposal that has sufficient backing, and if it has not support enough to enlist the endorsement of either of them it will get nowhere through the efforts of an independent political organization."

The KALAMAZOO GAZETTE suspects that "it is not certain that the sponsors of the new party will find themselves overburdened with the entanglements of reform, and advises that 'if the leaders of the new movement really feel that they have a cause or causes, which need advancing, they could probably accomplish their purpose better by working with both parties than by trying to play a lone hand.'"

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

CHILD'S PLAY

The Russian government is considering the adoption of standardized clothes, shoes, houses, furniture, beds, and even food for the masses of the people. It is figured that with such a system all would be reduced to a common level. Man could have no cause for complaint because his neighbor lived in a better house or wore better clothes than himself. It sounds like the reasoning of a defective mind—a mind without understanding of the pull and power and inspiration of ambition and individual effort. Competition is one of the most stimulating of all forces that have contributed to the rise of mankind. Reduce men to a level, or even raise them to a level, so long as it is merely a level, and you destroy the mind and soul. If Russia expects ever to be a power among the nations she will destroy whatever opportunity she may have by such child's play.

A BRAVE MAYOR

The mayor of an Ohio town—Washington Court House—decries that people shall not stop in the middle of the sidewalk and gossip. He would keep gossipers from halting in the path of business-bent pedestrians. Says the Ohio State Journal: "Every once in a while an exceptionally brave man is discovered in this world. Gaudy risks his life, announcing that the sun does not revolve around the earth; the Revolutionary fathers risked ignominy and death by rebelling against England; Lindbergh risked everything on two sandwiches and an airplane. . . . We will follow with interest this man's campaign. Nobody will take the mayor very seriously, but no effort of great evil is aimed in vain. The gossip is frequently an assassin. He poisons reputation and character. The mayor deserves credit for his decree."

BRAINS NEEDED

One of the people of the income of the people of the United States totaled $26,600,000. Today it is estimated at $95,000,000, between three and four times as great. Says a New York bank report: "Such a rise in individual and aggregate income is without parallel in economic history. Yet most authorities agree that the general upward trend will continue. This is because the gains are felt to be soundly based upon natural resources of the country and the energy and industry of the people."

With the amazing wealth and resources, the tremendous productive power of the United States, can it be possible that we shall not develop the brain power to meet the needs of our people? Shall there be honest, willing men near the starvation line because they do not have work? We are called upon for brains—for brains to make an economic adjustment which shall do away with unemployment.

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O God, the source of our eternal hopes, which beat evermore in our breasts and cling to where the angels keep their ancient places, hear our prayer. O withdraw not from us that which is our shield and our defense. We praise Thee that while the clouds drift and dissolve, the stars abide and shine on. Each day impress us with the great commission entrusted to us. We thank Thee for the wealth of meaning in those immortal words, "I am the light of the world." They are unequalled in their comfort as our journey across the continent of our years. Thou art our Father, and the silver cord that binds us to Thy heart will never be broken. Amen.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

A lady who was, momentarily, fed up with a fat husband whose waist line was altogether too extended, and whose English wasn't always what she would have liked it to be, wrote me a humorous account of her home life and of husbands in general. I mentioned her town, so the local paper copied the story, she told me that while I smote in a good cause, I had "the grace of a blunderbuss." After all, there couldn't be many towns with a name like that, and certainly no town could boast many women like her, so, the story found its way back. The letter I got today is enough to make me entirely UN-SORRY. If I hadn't mentioned the town, I wouldn't have received this:

"Dear Leola Allard:
We are glad to note that all is quiet matrimonially on the Western Front, where men are men and women are different. The only reason that I am not sawing wood this minute is because there is no wood to saw, and I must be content to wrestle with the coal bucket. And having decided to become a writer, in desperation I devour and head of lettuce hoping that the verdure will have a salutary effect upon the verbiage. The first letter I wrote you, when copied by the local sheet from the Chicago paper raised a Wild stir. Mercer County Will Send Big Delegation Here

Visitation Committee Of National Commander's Banquet Gets Fine Reception

Mercer county legionnaires and citizens generally are showing their interest in the coming visit of the national commander of the American Legion to this district on March 4 and indicated last night to the visitation committee of Perry S. Gaston post that considerably over a hundred people would attend from Sharon, Sharpsville and other points.

The reception accorded the local members last night was fine and greatly appreciated by those who made the trip.

General Chairman Harry M. Long announced this morning that the program for next Tuesday evening, when National Commander O. L. Bodenhamer of Arkansas will be the guest of honor at the banquet held in the Cathedral, will be announced in a day or two. He promises that it will be interesting, not too long and will have a strong appeal to all those attending.

Glenn Berry, chairman of the ticket committee, stated this morning that the sale of tickets locally is showing a decided spurt at the present time and that there is every indication that there will be standing room only available on the night of the big affair.

Daughter Not In Auto Accident

R. G. Tichborne And Mrs. Carrie Penner Victims In Auto
Crash

Word received today from Chicago concerning the death of R. G. Tichborne, former resident of this city, and his companion, Mrs. Carrie Penner, also a former resident of this city, indicates that Mr. Tichborne, Mrs. Penner, a next door neighbor and Mr. Tichborne's daughter, Ruth, had planned to go automobile riding Sunday. The daughter was detained at the last moment and Mr. Tichborne and Mrs. Penner went for a ride.

The accident occurred just as stated in the I. N. S. special in Monday's paper, namely that Mr. Tichborne appeared to have failed to see the approaching Monon train at Crown Point, Indiana and drove his machine directly in front of the locomotive of the train.

Mr. Tichborne was a resident of this city for many years, being employed here as a blower at the New Castle Works of the Carnegie Steel Company, until he went a number of years ago to South Chicago, where he was employed as a blower in a Steel plant in that city until the time of his death.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Robert Robinson, 9350 Mansiee avenue, South Chicago and Ruth at home, 9114 Burley avenue, South Chicago, also his mother, Mrs. Anna Tichborne of Glenmore boulevard, this city, and three sisters, Miss C. Belle Tichborne, Mrs. M. K. Gilliland and Mrs. William M. Nunn, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held from his late residence 9114 Burley avenue South Chicago on Thursday and his sister Miss C. Belle Tichborne leaves Wednesday to attend the services. Interment will be made in South Chicago.

"SHAPE AND FASHION— such things will remain"

[Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 1807-1882]

"Coming events

shadows before"

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—men who would keep that trim, proper form, eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful, modern figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette a man ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*Be Moderate! ... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensitive! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Foreman Collects From Men Who Want To Hold Their Jobs

BEAVER, Pa., Feb. 25.—Andrew Smith, 32, Aliquippa, entered a plea in court before Judges Frank E. Reader and William A. McConnell to a charge of solicitation or demand of money for obtaining or continuing employment and was sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $300 and serve six months in the Allegheny county workhouse.

The charges against Smith were made by officials of the Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation, where Smith has been employed as a foreman in the tin mill. The officials stated they were not sure how much money Smith had received from the men working under him, but it was estimated at $1,000.

Smith claimed he never actually demanded money from the men working under his supervision, and he stated that any money he received was voluntarily offered to him.

Unimproved Pastures Are Not Profitable

Easier To Keep Pasture Productive Than To Rejuvenate It, Says County Agent

Many of the million acres devoted to pastures in Pennsylvania, furnish livestock with little besides fresh air and exercise. Is the indictment pronounced by J. B. R. Dickey, farm crops extension specialist of the Pennsylvania State College. Mr. Dickey has been heard speak on farm topics several times, in Lawrence county.

Greater efficiency is being demanded all along the line if farming is to show a fair margin of profit. County Agent Harold R. McCulloch pointed out. If there is a good prospect of making pastures more productive, it should receive serious attention.

It is much easier and cheaper to keep a pasture productive than to rejuvenate it after it has almost passed out. It is also possible and often profitable to make a good pasture better, he says.

"Most of our poor pastures were formerly tilled under a system which rapidly depleted the natural fertility and lime," Mr. McCulloch explains. "When too poor to pay for cultivation, they were converted into pasture and the depletion continued by the yearly removal of crops of grass. Each thousand pounds of live weight and every 10,000 pounds of milk produced on grass represent the removal of the equivalent of one sack of superphosphate, besides nitrogen, potash and lime."

Essentials of pasture improvement are the fundamentals of soil improvement for other crops, the county agent declares. These include the application of lime and phosphorus and the growing of clover. The best pasture soils everywhere are the soils naturally well supplied with lime and phosphorus.

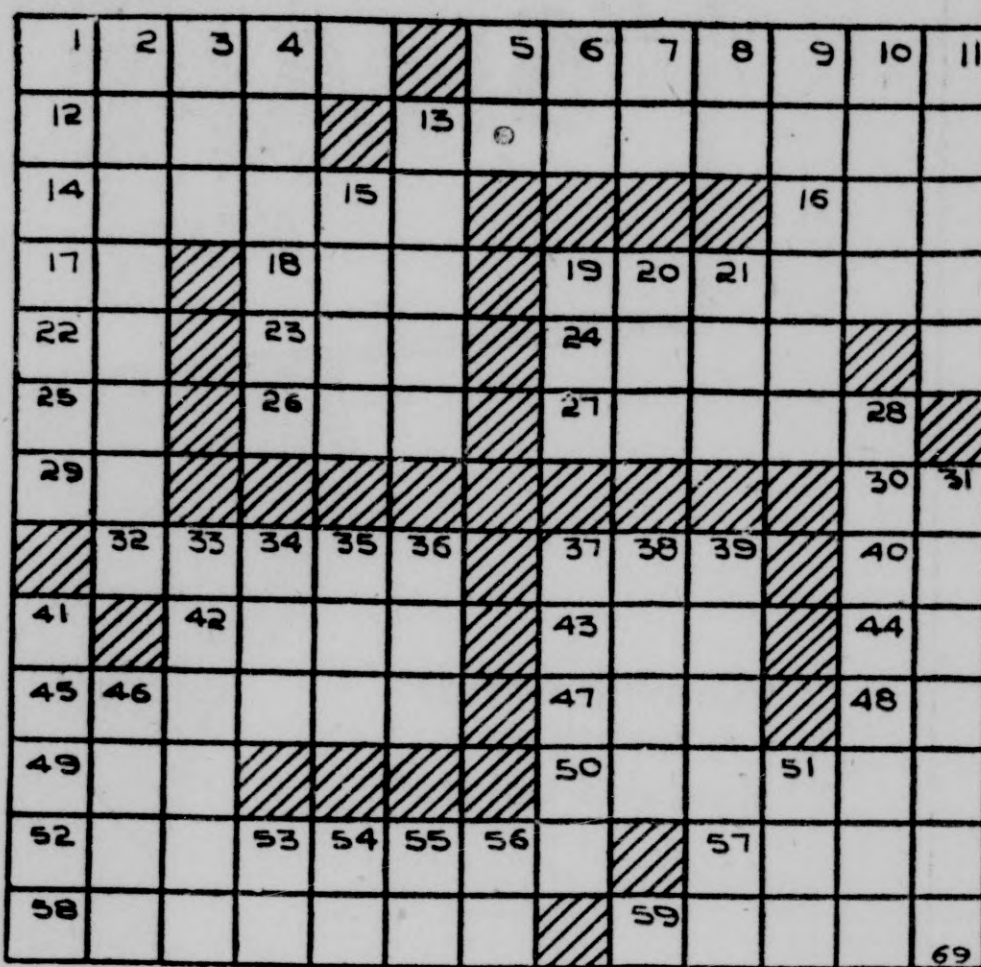

Cuts Arteries Twice But Lives

MALTA, Mont., Feb. 25.—Ora Boyd, a salesman, has a charmed life. Severing his arteries twice in one week in automobile accidents, Boyd had narrow escapes from death. Promptness in applying first aid measures saved his life.

While driving from Malta to Havre, Boyd's car skidded, his arm plunged through the windshield, cutting an artery in his wrist. He was able to stop the flow of blood until he reached Havre, where he received medical treatment.

A few days later, while driving on the same road, his machine overturned. An artery in his thigh was severed. A passing motorist applied first aid and brought him to town.

This Clothes Dryer cuts wash-day routine in half

EVEN though you lived in a land of eternal sunshine you would find this gas-heated Clothes Dryer, highly useful. For this remarkable appliance is more than a rainy-day substitute for sunshine. It is actually an improvement over outdoor drying.

A gas-heated Clothes Dryer cuts wash-day in half . . . saves countless steps and hours of effort. It eliminates tiresome trips to and from the yard; the straining and stretching of hanging the pieces on the line; the bother of taking them down when dry.

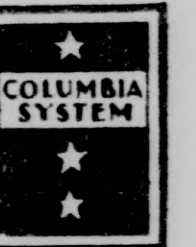

It protects the clothes from soot, dust, germs, and fading caused by direct sunlight. And it bleaches and sterilizes as it dries. Rapid absorption of moisture (the secret of bleaching) leaves the linens as fresh and white as they were the day you bought them. By allowing the pieces to remain within the drying chamber a short time after they are dry, all germs are exterminated.

Come in and let us demonstrate. Find out how little this new convenience costs.

Find Traces Of Race Older Than Eskimo

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—Relics of a people who lived in Alaska thousands of years ago, who differed greatly from the present day Eskimo, have been received by the University of Pennsylvania Museum from its expedition near Point Barrow.

The collection includes objects of wood, ivory and whalebone and a quantity of skeleton material. This material, according to Dr. J. Alden Mason, curator of the American section of the museum, is typical of an early population known to archaeologists as the Thule culture. These people may have been an offshoot from Mongolian tribes who once wandered over the Siberian wastes and crossed the Behring Sea into Alaska.

In a report to the museum here Alfred H. Hopson, director of the Alaskan expedition, said that discovery of several human bones protruding from a mound led to the finding of the burial place of more than thirty bodies.

Peter's Adventures

BUMBLE BEE, HIMSELF!
However, as Biffer had remarked, "Things were not always what they seemed," nor, he might have added, "Like they sounded."

Above the heads of the crowd a form sailed lazily along—wings, body, hum—everything—Bumble Bee's double.

And in a moment the blue sky was dotted with members of the Hum Bug troupe, all acrobats and imitators. And the mimics made as much noise as two tribes of bees and humming birds put together. They flew and flew, and they spun and they turned summersaults mid-air, yet never once did one bump into another.

After they had performed long enough, and were growing tired, one after another ceased their capers and dropped down to earth, settling quietly on fern leaves that grew on the bank.

Again wings fluttered and claws clapped. But above all the applause a deep voice boomed:

"Well done, friend moths! Imitation is the sincerest flattery, and I feel all puffed up because you have done me the honor to mimic me. Through you I can see myself as others see me, and it's a rare treat, I tell you. No doubt Humming Bird feels exactly the same way that I do."

Who should the speaker be but Mr. Bumble Bee, himself! Hopping up on the stone on which Biffer and Peter stood, the jolly chap led the cheering for the Hum Bug troupe.

Old Californians Were Hearty Eaters

(International News Service)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 25.—History, so far as California is concerned, seems to have no precedent for the modern dieting fad.

Back in 1846 meals were heavy and frequent, but the Californians by strenuous outdoor life, developed an ostrich appetite and somehow managed to keep a trim figure.

The diary of Rev. Colton, California's first Yankee magistrate at Monterey, in the State Library records that "the Californians breakfast at 8, dine at 12, take tea at 4, supper at 8 then go to bed—unless there is a fandango. Supper is the most substantial meal of the three and would visit anybody but a Californian with the nightmare."

Beef was the gourmet's delight in early California.

"It is beef for breakfast, beef for dinner and beef for supper," Rev. Colton recorded. "A pig is quite a rarity, and as for chickens, they are received for the sick."

Referee Magnolia To Determine Whether Or Not Bout Should Be Stopped If Necessary

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25.—Chairman Louis K. MacReynolds of the Miami boxing commission announced today that Lou Magnolia, referee of the Sharkey-Scott bout next Thursday night, will be the sole judge of whether the fight should be stopped in the event either contestant is beaten into a helpless condition.
MacReynolds made this statement to clear up a controversy which developed over the interpretation put on the rules governing the fight by Jimmy Johnston, manager of Scott, who claims he was assured by MacReynolds at the commission meeting yesterday afternoon that Magnolia would not stop the fight without first consulting him and being told Scott could not continue. Johnston insists he does not want the fight ended on a technicality and declares Magnolia must count his fighter out if he gets into distress.

New Impetus For Samuel E. Shull's Nomination Springs Forth Today

(International News Service)
READING, Pa., Feb. 25.—The gubernatorial aspirations of Samuel E. Shull, Monroe county Democrat, were given new impetus here today with the appearance of numerous nominating petitions for the Stroudsburg jurist throughout Berks county.
The petitions were put into circulation by Councilman Edward Hunter, well-known county leader.
Circulation of the petitions just as the Democratic chieftains of the state assembled in conference at Harrisburg to select a complete slate for the various state offices at stake in the spring primary was looked upon as an ultimatum that Shull's candidacy must be considered in making up the slate. The central county leaders have been reported as favoring the selection of Sedgwick Kistler, of Lock Haven, for the gubernatorial nomination.

Population Shifts Greatly In Short Time

According to employees of the Burch Directory company, who are completing the work of getting names and addresses of citizens of New Castle, for the new 1930 directory, which will be issued during the next few months, it is surprising the great number of changes which have taken place in New Castle in the last two years.
The last directory to be issued here was put out in 1928 and since that time, they estimate, the population has changed around 50 per cent. In other words, fifty per cent of the people of New Castle have either moved to another location in New Castle, or have left the city and newcomers have taken their places.
Few people seem to realize just how greatly the population shifts about. Officials of the Bell Telephone company state that they are compelled to issue a new telephone directory twice a year for that purpose, and they find a great many people have moved during a year's time.
Employees of the Burch Company expect to complete their work of gathering statistics for the New Castle directory within the next two weeks, after which it will be sent to the printers to be published and bound.

Capital Hill Playing Brand New "Spy Game"

Rumors Say Prohibition Department Is Shadowing Certain Senators And Congressmen

Nerves Frazzled By Long Drawn Out Session About At Cracking Point

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—A tense little serio-comedy which might be entitled "spying on the spies, or espionage a la gin" is being enacted daily around the hallowed halls of the United States capitol.

Rubber heels glide noiselessly up and down the corridors, bearing flat-footed and serious-looking gentlemen who peer intently at casual saunterers and those who appear to be loitering around the premises. To those who loiter over-long and who are unable to give a ready explanation of their presence there may be a quiet tap on the shoulder and a "come with me!"

Spies Are At Work
The explanation is that the Senate, or a part of it at least, has a case of nerves and believes that it is being spied upon. The prohibition bureau is suspected, despite its denials.

Since the spectacular assault began on prohibition enforcement some weeks ago, with the present enforcement chiefs coming in for severe denunciation, dry agents have arrested two bootleggers with their wares around the Senate office building. And strange tales are told on Capitol Hill of senatorial offices being rifled during the night. Two senators, one Republican and the other a Democrat, both critics of the present enforcement situation, have informed their colleagues that their offices had been entered and the contents ransacked recently.

Nerves Frazzled
Senatorial nerves, frazzled by the long session and the bitterness of the fighting since Christmas, have become jumpy. Persistent rumors that the prohibition bureau, smarting under the incessant criticism from the lawmakers, has put a squad of undercover agents to work around "The Hill" in order to retaliate, have only served to intensify senatorial sensitiveness.

The prohibition bureau, of course, indignantly denies that any such thing has been done, but the denials have not allayed senatorial fears nor quieted senatorial nerves. And, being possessed of its own police force, independent of the blue-coated metropolitan force, the Senate has seen to it that a squad of half a dozen of its own force have been sent off in plain clothes to keep an eye on loitering

Senator Glass Attacks Policy Set By Hoover

Senator Carter Glass, Virginia, Severely Attacks President For Economy Stand

ASSERTS POLICY JUST "HOT AIR"

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—President Hoover's warning to the country against excessive appropriations by Congress was denounced on the floor of the Senate this afternoon by Senator Carter Glass (D) of Virginia, a former secretary of the treasury, as a "cheap and tawdry exhibition of partisan politics."

Glass scored the President in a manner seldom heard in the Senate. The Virginian said the President had put up a "straw man merely to knock him down."

He termed the President's statement yesterday a "shameless exhibition" and got so angry over it that he finally sat down, declaring he could not "trust himself to characterize it further."

Instead of squandering the public money, Glass protested, Congress actually slashed $28,528,845.28 from budget bureau recommendations, which had the personal approval of President Hoover.

Dr. Gamble Contends 25 Right Marrying Age For Men And 22 For Women

Dr. S. C. Gamble, former pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church of New Castle, but now pastor of the United Presbyterian church of Butler, takes exception to a statement of the late Dr. Crane, former well known writer, that 21 is the ideal marrying age. Dr. Gamble's idea is that a man should be at least 25 and a woman 22, before they think of matrimony.

"At 21 men haven't the sense required in marriage," declared Dr. Gamble in a sermon. "Marry at that age: Tut, tut. The divorce courts are jammed with couples who married when they were too young. They mistook silly puppy love for the most sacred relationship of life."

"To young people with plans for early marriage, I would say, 'go slow.' It is a mistake to believe two can live as cheaply as one. Instead of 21 I would suggest 25 as the marrying age for men. Women should not marry until they are 22 or 23."

"At 21 young men should know in what vocation their endeavors will be centered. Everybody is adapted for something. Inclination toward a phase of life's activity constitutes God's call to you."

"Despite efforts to choose life work misfits may occur. Walt Mason, the homespun philosopher, a misfit himself until he was 45, said, 'I'll never say a man's all in until he's put on ice.' If you feel you are not adapted

Police Manual Not Yet Ready

City Solicitor Robert White has not yet completed the task of preparing a police manual for members of the city department of police but as soon as they are written, approved by the mayor and council they will be printed in booklet form and given police.

The manual will be filled with interesting information to police, and will be written along the line as to when a policeman should act. Information which is not now available to the police will be contained in the book.

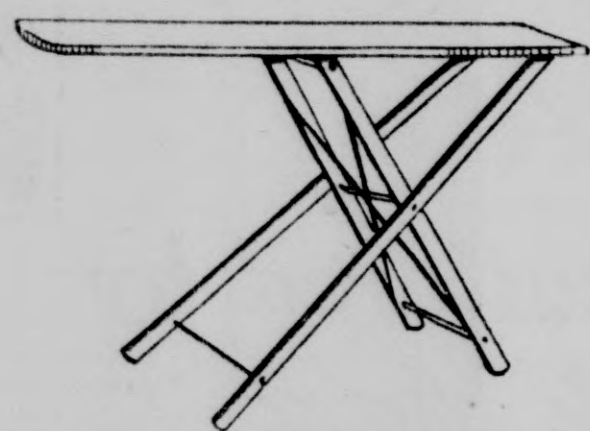

Solicitor White suggested that the manual be prepared during a councilmanic discussion with the mayor concerning an ordinance, known as the "Disorderly House" ordinance which is still in effect. It is not known if this ordinance will be repealed.

Propose Adoption Of Banking Policy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Adoption of a regional branch banking policy under which national banks could establish branches throughout their trade territory was proposed by comptroller of the currency J. W. Pole before the house banking committee today as the committee launched an investigation of chain, group and branch banking.

Although saying emergency legislation is not necessary, Pole declared that the whole national banking policy must be changed to preserve rural banking facilities.

Rentz At Reception For Calvin Coolidge At Los Angeles, Cal.

Giving his impressions of one of the big receptions for former President Calvin Coolidge, at Los Angeles, California, at which he was also a guest, the following interesting letter has been received from Fred L. Rentz, President of The News Company. The letter also gives numerous facts about former Lawrence county people out in California. It follows:

ADD Rentz
Los Angeles, Cal.
Feb. 20, 1930.

George W. Conway,
Editor, The News,
New Castle, Pa.
Dear George:—

It seems we just cannot keep away from notables out here. About a week ago we got an invitation to attend the breakfast club on last Wednesday morning. What was our surprise to learn later that Ex-President and Mrs. Coolidge were coming to Los Angeles and had also been invited to the breakfast. We had been invited first so it wasn't up to us to decline when ten thousand people wanted to attend when there was room for only two thousand. There were many thousands who stood on the outside and could not get in. It was quite a thrill to sit down to ham and eggs with two thousand, more or less, prominent persons. I do not know why we had an invitation, but the card bore our names and that of Mr. and Mrs. Percy P. MacNab and was marked "Reserved". It was within a few feet of the table occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge and other notables.

The breakfast club program proved to be a success. Mr. Coolidge was not called upon to endure the initiation exercises that distinguished visitors are often put through. He did not have to ride the horse or take the oath with his hand on a pan of ham and eggs. There was plenty of fun and without that. The pavilion was crowded, as was the patio. There must have been 2000 men and women there.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge appeared to get considerable enjoyment out of the community singing of "Ham and Eggs" with its clatter and bang and of "See Saw." During the latter song each breakfaster puts his arm around the shoulder of his neighbor and the whole line of them down the long table sway back and forth. Calvin put his hand around Grace's shoulder, but he was on the end of the line and there was none to embrace his neck. Down and back they swayed to the rhythm of the song.

Notables from all over the country were introduced, being guests of various members or of the club. Everyone got a hand. And there was a word from the chaplain for some of the departed friends.

Gov. Young, who with Mrs. Young was a guest, gave a brief word of welcome, and Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were invited to be back in Los Angeles for the Olympic games in 1932 by William May Garland and Harry Chandler. Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were then made honorary members of the breakfast club and presented with gold membership cards. Mr. Coolidge responded with a word of appreciation and felicitations for what he termed "a remarkable organization." Mrs. Coolidge fooled the speaker and the great audience when, after the announcement that "Mrs. Coolidge does not choose to speak," she stepped to the microphone and with hearty laughter shouted the club greeting, "Hello, Ham!" Back came a roar, "Hello, Egg!"

Some of the highlights of the entertainment included the Dodge Sisters, who were something in the line of a revelation; Olsen's orchestra and the Duncan sisters, who outdid themselves. And then came Mme. Sabatmann-Henik. She sang "The Sweetest Flower That Grows"—and she sang it to Mrs. Coolidge. As she came down from the platform Mrs. Coolidge got up from the table, took her hands and kissed her. The great singer responded to the tremendous applause and appeals from over the house with "The Roseary." She shook hands with Mr. Coolidge and proudly introduced her son, Ferdinand.

The Duncan sisters sang a special song to Mr. Coolidge, ending with the lines: "And remember, Mr. Coolidge, the long, long years through; we'd get up any morning to eat ham and eggs with you."

Whereupon the noted visitor smiled broadly, nodded modestly and puffed on his cigar, while the crowd roared with laughter and cheers.

The visitors were taken immediately from breakfast to Warner Brothers' studio, accompanied by Mary Pickford, Will Hays.

All the proceedings were broadcast and already today four people called me up and told me they had heard me introduced over the radio. Well, I couldn't help it.

I did not see Will Rogers at the breakfast.

I saw Mary Pickford for the first time in my life at this feed.

This breakfast club is a unique institution. It has a membership of 1,000, made up of prominent citizens and when any notable gets into Los Angeles he is invited. Our invitation was "By The Club" so we do not know why. The grounds around the club house comprise quite a few acres and one of the principal features is a riding department and some fine horses are there. The club house is full of pictures of notables and they are not all movie people, either.

Visitors are photographed and movietoned.

We noticed many mottoes on the walls and copied some, as follows:—
Golden Rule of the Club:
"What We Give We Get Back."
We Love to Live and Live to Love.

We Stand for the Democracy of Ham and Eggs.

If You Have An Enemy, Bring Him Here To Breakfast and We Will Make Him Your Friend.

The Four Parts of Our Platform: Friendship, Hospitality, Humanity, Horses.

The Man Who is Too Busy to Serve God and Humanity is TOO BUSY.

Go Ye Now Your Way to the Shrines of the World But Remember the Greatest of All Shrines Among Men is "The Shrine of Friendship."

And we saw sitting at that breakfast table the Rt. Rev. F. L. Deane, Lord Bishop of Aberdeen, Scotland, smoking his wee cute little pipe.

We got away from the Breakfast club about eleven o'clock and went to Pasadena where Percy MacNab and I attended the Rotary club meeting. It was a fine meeting and I met several western Pennsylvania men and also Ohio men who are on the board of directors with me of the Ben Franklin Highway Association. We had heard about each other but had never met before.

George, they sure treat editors nice out here. The editor of the Times-Star here is a Rotarian, and the president of the club made a fine speech congratulating him for having received the Noble Award Prize for 1929 for the man giving the best service to the community in Pasadena. I thought that editor should feel proud as editors as a rule get a kick in the slats rather than a prize for being the best and most useful citizen in the community—no matter how much an editor may try to be good and useful. Oh, hum.

We also attended the Rotary club meeting at Santa Anna on Tuesday noon. A member of that club came from Beaver Falls. We called on Mr. and Mrs. James C. Fleming, formerly of New Castle, who lives there and have a fine home. We picked some real oranges from "Jim's" fine orange trees.

After we left Pasadena on Wednesday we attended the Mission Play at San Gabriel. This play has been given over 3,000 times and on last Monday Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were present at the three thousandth anniversary. Tickets for that evening were $100 each. We had intended going that evening but they had to get along without us and we went on Wednesday afternoon when the tickets were back to $2 a copy. It is a great play and we have seen it twice now and if we ever get back here again we will try and see it again.

At every school house here traffic police take the children across the streets and any boy who does not stop his car at such times gets a vacation in jail, which is very correct.

One seldom if ever hears an automobile horn blow here. I think they shoot birds who try to get the right of way by blowing their horns out here. This is also good practice if not good law.

I saw a field of oats about ready to cut yesterday.

A former New Castleite told us yesterday that one night he was in a lodge room in Los Angeles and one of the candidates was named Tom O'Toole. He found out for sure it was not our Tom who left the jail house some years ago when the sheriff wasn't looking.

We attended a meeting of a Pennsylvania society on Tuesday evening. This was the original organization and also has several hundred members. When we were out here five years ago I was asked to make a speech by about thirty-five New Castleites who were present and after I kidded along about Pennsylvania and incidentally mentioned Florida the president ordered me to quit talking. This old bird was named Haskins and formerly lived at Meadville, Pa. He is still dictating the policy of the society and as he has been out here 49 years he has forgotten that there is such a place as Pennsylvania. A few New Castleites were there. R. A. Patterson and wife and two little daughters, Donne and Edys, were there. Mrs. Patterson was before her marriage Leona Speer and lived on the Karlsburg road. Mr. and Mrs. Elsie Orr formerly of New Castle were also there. Miss Harriet Sterling for many years a school teacher in New Castle came up from Pasadena to see us and went with us to the meeting. There seems to be quite a bit of strife between the two Pennsylvania societies and it is our opinion if they get rid of old Haskins, the dictator, all will be well.

We heard a Russian singer say yesterday that he had never heard of the "Volga Boatman" in Russia and had to learn to sing it after coming to this country. That's like the story that there is no chop suey in China. However, you can bet there is sauer kraut in Germany.

A former New Castleite tried to scare me yesterday by telling me that the railroads in New Castle were going to move their passenger stations out of New Castle and leave only the freight stations. We told him that would not surprise us. And who would miss the stations unless it would be when showing strangers about the city and they were no longer there.

One thing can truly be said about Coolidge and Lindbergh and that is they only talk when they have something to say. It would be terrible if all of us did that. Horrors!

I have it on Mr. Coolidge. I know he is right here in this hotel and he does not know I am here.

As we were waiting for a crossing light in Pasadena on Wednesday who should we see but Miss Marion Wallace of New Castle, walking across the street. She greeted us in her usual sweet way. Later on Mrs. Rentz and Mrs. MacNab saw Mrs. Lillian Westlake on the street.

I heard a woman razzing her husband and another chap who was near me said she was so jealous that if she found a horse hair on her husband's coat she would go out and kill the horse.

Automobile law violators get soaked no less than $5 and from that up. And you don't park anywhere you want to and stay as long as you want to. They build streets and put in street lights from the fines they collect from motorists. Some birds who try to drive cars in New Castle should come out here—and get into jail for life.

George, if I hear or see anything more, I will write you.

Yours until all the knockers in New Castle get killed or die.

Your friend,
FRED L. RENTZ.

Tilden's Reign As No. 1 May Be Ended This Year

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Sport Editor
NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—There is a growing likelihood that Big Bill Tilden's tenth year as No. 1 in American tennis may be his last. Will has been having his troubles on European courts recently. He has been hard pressed and on several occasions nearly defeated by nobodies who would have been a slice of coconut custard for him a season or two ago.

Tilden has already retired from international championship competition. America will have to get along without him in the next Davis Cup battle unless Big Bill suffers a change of heart. In this corner it looks as though he made a smart move when he announced himself out of future Davis Cup play. Since 1925 Tilden has been unable to win more than one single match in the Davis Cup finals of each year.

The most logical successor to Tilden for the top of the Yankee tennis heap is George Lott. The young Chicagoan has been making steady progress and today, with John Doe, is doubles champion.

In last year's Davis Cup finals against France, Lott lost both his singles matches but only after waging terrific battles. He came within a hair-line of trouncing Borotra and made Cochet sweat in the second and final sets of their match.

Lott has been coming along slowly for years, last year being the first season in which his game can be said to have ripened into maturity. That Lott has not reached his full tennis stature is quite likely though he will hardly ever be the brilliant, dynamic play Tilden was in the early '20s.

Lott will give Tilden a great argument for national honors this summer. And Lott should not be the only one. Young Doe gives continued fine promise of developing into a real star.

In the fairer side of the game Mrs. Moody faces no such disasters as threatens Tilden. The former Helen Wills with six singles titles in seven years to her record has more honors still ahead. The Berkeley beauty should continue to boss the tennis field unless she retires from the game which is hardly likely since its appeal is greater to feminine players than to the men.

Grove City Plant Plans Addition

Improvements Costing $150,000
Are Planned By Cooper-Bessemer Company

GROVE CITY, Feb. 25.—Work will start at once on improvements and additions costing $150,000 at the Grove City Plant of the Cooper-Bessemer Corporation according to an announcement made today. This sum was appropriated by the board of directors to put the plant in first class shape to handle the increased business expected in the near future.

Additional power facilities constitute the major part of the improvement program. A considerable enlargement of the power house is planned. The new building will house two Diesel engines and another Diesel will drive a moderate new model air compressor.

Officials expect to modernize the Grove City unit to the most minute detail and are preparing for a program of unqualified efficiency.

Recently five Cooper-type engines of 750 h. p. were sent to Grove City for construction. Patterns were transferred and the engines will now be built exclusively at the Mercer County shop.

SO WRETCHED SHE PITIED HERSELF

World's Tonic

"I got to pitying myself. I was so wretched six months ago," declared Mrs. Edith Rebert, who lives at Rochester, Pa. My troubles started with a cold I caught about a year ago. It hung on for several weeks, and I coughed and spit a great deal. This all seemed to heal up, but it was followed by stomach trouble. Food did not do me any good. I got thin, and my skin took on a yellow color instead of the rosy tint that I had been so proud of. My eyes seemed so tired I did not enjoy reading, and at times I was dizzy, while my nerves got on edge so that I slept poorly. Nothing I tried seemed to relieve me. A repulsive rash broke out on my forehead, and I became so unattractive that I sincerely began to pity myself. One day in a drug store I heard a man tell the druggist how he had been relieved of stomach trouble by the use of World's Tonic. This conversation stuck in my mind, and a few days later I got this medicine for myself.

"You would hardly believe how quickly it benefited me. It was not two weeks until my appearance changed. The rash dried up, and my eyes grew better at once. In a few days my appetite returned. A week later my skin began to clear up and the sallowness disappeared. One night I slept clear through without awakening. I felt so much better the next morning that I did a big day's work—the first in many months. Now I have very little trouble of any kind. I look now as I used to, and I know I have found the way to perfect health through this wonderful World's Tonic. Since I have been so much helped several of my friends have overcome their prejudices and are taking this great medicine. So far every one of them says it has helped them. I am for World's Tonic all the time."

Suffering men and women can get World's Tonic at Eckerd's, McKee's, Paley's, Smith's or any other first class drug store. (A-21)

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal Written for Central Press

Agriculture is watching with interest and some anxiety the latest developments in important divisions of the business.

The first of these is the decline in the price of milk and dairy products in general—or it would be better to say, the decline in milk products and butter, resulting in the cheapening of fluid milk.

This new cloud in the sky has been forecast for some time, as more and more farmers, dissatisfied with profits in other lines, have turned to the relatively prosperous dairy business.

Increases in stocks of butter, evaporated and condensed milk and cheese, have shown that production has been running ahead of consumption. And the fluid milk market, held up with some success by the efforts of the powerful milk co-operative in important consuming territory, finally had to submit, and bring its milk prices into a more normal relation with the price of butter.

The dairy interests are now engaged in trying to build up the consumption of butter, a small increase in which would have magical effects in using up stored surpluses.

And at the other end of the problem, dairymen are urged to send their least productive cows to the butcher, thereby decreasing the production of milk and increasing the income of the cow owner, at a single stroke.

While the dairy world thus grapples with a problem, the grain and cotton divisions are watching the course of prices in these great markets. Both cotton and wheat are selling below the prices supposed to be "pegged" by the federal farm board through its loans to the co-operatives.

The question is, therefore, were the farm board experts wrong in their judgment of the real value of these commodities, or will prices climb back later to or above the levels that prevailed a couple of months ago?

Whichever happens, the result is bound to be somewhat embarrassing to the board. If prices fail to come back, the board will be criticized for lack of information of supply and demand conditions, and bad judgment. If prices do rise again, many people would credit the board with an infallibility that it does not by any means claim to possess.

However, it is unwise to get excited over these affairs, no matter how exciting they are in themselves. Such situations become unavoidable as soon as the marketing act was passed and the farm board went into action.

As long as the farm board functions—and that may be a long time—we may confidently expect just such economic wars and rumors of wars as we are now seeing.

All business is like that, and a semi-governmental body mixing into business need not, and does not, expect to be an exception.

Britons Told To Cut Down Expenditures

Orgy Of Spending Brings Warning From Chancellor Of Exchequer

COSTLY REFORMS ARE ORDERED CURBED

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service Special Correspondent
LONDON, Feb. 25.—"Stop spending" is the keynote of an order sent by Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to every British Department of State—the sternest order that has ever reached any of these Departments.

This injunction follows swiftly upon several months of a veritable orgy of spending in Whitehall. A new Government, imbued with great ideals, fired with the idea of immediate service, has been trying to put in effect at once all kinds of necessary, but costly, reforms. Ministers have vied with one another in their efforts to remedy social injustices—despite the fact that each effort has meant vast expenditure.

New burdens have been imposed on the National Exchequer at the rate of over $5,000,000 weekly. But the Budget Day is drawing near and Snowden has discovered that, with all his economies, with all the actual and proposed reduction in armament expenditure, that he is likely to be $100,000,000 short on his annual balance sheet.

Nobody denies that the expenditure has been justified. It has mainly gone on Unemployment Insurance and Widows Pensions and other absolutely necessary social reforms. But Snowden has to foot the bill. At present it seems as though further increase taxation on an already overburdened community may be inevitable, but Snowden wishes to avoid this at all costs. Hence his ironical warning—"Stop Spending."

He has rejected ideas of increasing both the income tax and the super-tax because he knows this would bring forth nation-wide resentment. But whatever economies he may effect in the spending services he is certain to be faced with a deficit. This he is likely to try to meet by a tax of about one per cent. on increased value of real estate. In other words, where property has appreciated in value by the efforts of the community, and not of the owner the latter will be taxed on the unearned appreciation. In such a tax Snowden will be supported by the Liberal Party and he expects to clear enough in the first year to meet his deficit.

It was charged that the three were under the influence of liquor when arrested early this morning at the railroad camp.

Taking Testimony On Age Of Bride In Omer Marriage

In the cases of the commonwealth against Albert Haddad, Mustaf Haddad and Albert Omer, in which they were convicted of taking a child under the age of 16 years for the purpose of marriage, testimony is being taken before Judge James Chambers today, in an effort to establish the age of Mary Bshero. The case was one in which Omer married the girl, it being claimed that the Haddads had assisted in getting her away. An application for a new trial has been made in which it is claimed that Mary was over 16 years of age at the time of the marriage. Records from St. Ann's church at Pittsburgh were produced by priests this morning, who testified as to their knowledge of the case. Testimony is still being taken.

WANTS $10,000 FOR INJURIES IN AUTO CASE

George Prybulsky Files Suit Against Orville W. Fisher At Court House

George Prybulsky has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Orville W. Fisher, in which he asks $10,000 damages for injuries sustained when he was struck by an automobile of defendant, being driven by Carl R. Heath on Mahoning avenue. It is claimed that Fisher was with Heath at the time of the accident.

According to the statement of claim Heath was driving west on Mahoning avenue, and according to plaintiff, going in excess of 40 miles per hour. Prybulsky says that he was crossing Mahoning avenue, when he was struck. He claims that he had looked both ways before starting across, and did not see the Fisher machine. He was knocked down, had four ribs broken, shoulder strained, suffered concussion of the brain and was otherwise injured about the head, face, and legs. Plans have been completed to take care of a crowd of around four hundred people at the big benefit party and style show, which will be held in the New Castle Dry Goods Company store this evening.

The committee has made arrangements for all kinds of games, which will include bridge, 500, flinch, old maid, 42, dominos, in addition to picture puzzles, etc.

The New Castle Dry Goods Company has donated the use of the entire second floor to the members of the Woman's Club, under whose auspices the affair is being staged.

The fund derived therefrom will be used to landscape the Memorial Park, which will be laid out across from the main entrance to the Jameson Memorial hospital, and will be a memorial to the veterans of the World War from Lawrence County, who made the supreme sacrifice. There will be 38 trees planted in the park in their memory.

The Crown avenue entrance to the New Castle Dry Goods store will be used and only those with tickets will be admitted. Elevator and check room service will be provided for the comfort and convenience of those attending.

Scientists Find Ghastly Trophy Of Head Hunters

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 25.—Scientists are seeking to "reconstruct" the man who formerly possessed the head which has arrived in San Francisco as a specimen of the work of the head-hunting tribes of Ecuador.

The head, which is shrunk to the size of an average sized human fist, was believed to have been that of a Caucasian, possibly a European. It was brought here by a university professor, who obtained it in Ecuador for $1,000.

Part of a beard and moustache appear on the tiny head, which is perfectly preserved by the secret methods of the headhunters.

According to E. Klehn, San Francisco importer, who as the head in his possession, it resembles a half-caste type, probably partly European. It was estimated to have been the head of a man about 35 years old. "It is known," Klehn said, "that these head-hunters capture and kill only males, although they are not very particular whether their victims belong to their own race."

"After they have killed by shooting through the forehead with a poisoned arrow, they sever the head and take it home as a trophy."

"The Jivaro Indians, the most notorious head-hunters, are now divided into small groups, but they are just as enthusiastic as their ancestors in their thirst for blood and their desire to make large collections of human heads. The standing of a man in his tribe depends on his courage and ability as a warrior and the number of shrunken heads which he is able to display."

Mrs. Lewis Wins In Suit Over Brothers' Will

VERDICT FAVORED BLOOD RELATIVES

In the case of Clyde V. Alley, executor, James Witherspoon and Daisy Kirker Lewis against Eva Wallace, Nellie Brothers and others, Judge R. L. Hildebrand handed down an opinion this morning in which the application for a new trial by the plaintiff is refused, and judgment in favor of the plaintiff, notwithstanding the verdict, is awarded. This means that the will of the late John W. Brothers, in which Daisy Kirker Lewis was the chief beneficiary stands.

John W. Brothers died on July 1, 1929, at the age of 79 years, after making a will in which he bequeathed to James Witherspoon a gold watch and the balance of his estate to Daisy Kirker Lewis, who had been taking care of him previous to his death. Eva Wallace, Nellie Brothers, daughters of decedent, and other relatives attempted to break the will, and considerable testimony was taken, chiefly as to the mental condition of Mr. Brothers at the time of making the will.

The verdict of the jury was in favor of the heirs, Eva Wallace, Nellie Brothers and others, including Bernice Brown and Catherine Dufford. The plaintiffs, Clyde V. Alley, executor, James Witherspoon and Daisy Kirker Lewis, then made an application for a new trial and for judgment notwithstanding the verdict. The chief points before Judge Hildebrand on this application was first, whether or not Mr. Brothers was of sound mind at the time of the making of the will, and second, whether or not undue influence had been used. It was alleged at the trial that the undue influence had been on the part of Daisy Kirker Lewis, this was denied by Mrs. Lewis.

At the trial it developed that Mr. Brothers' second wife had deserted him. Later he had considerable correspondence with other women. His children had objected to this and thus incurred his enmity. In the making of the will the court found from the evidence that Brothers had specifically stated that he did not wish his wife or his children, from whom he had become estranged, to share in his estate.

The court finds that there was insufficient evidence to show that Mr. Brothers was of unsound mind or that there had been undue influence. The estate which was left to Mrs. Lewis amounts to about $3,000.

It has not yet been announced whether or not the heirs will take an appeal to the superior court.

The reward turned out to be a nickel.

says JAMES CRUZE, famous Hollywood Director

9 out of 10 Screen Stars use Lux Toilet Soap

"FEW PEOPLE can resist the spell of smooth lovely skin," says James Cruze, prominent Hollywood director—and sums up the experience of 45 leading directors.

"The close-up is the final test of a star's popularity," he goes on to say, "since practically no make-up is possible."

"Only a perfect skin, exquisitely smooth and fine, can stand the blazing lights."

Never was this more true than since the talkies, with their hundreds of close-ups, "arrived." Unless a girl has the smoothest, the most exquisite skin, she can scarcely hope to go far.

It is because lovely smooth skin is so vital to the screen stars that 511 of the 521 important Hollywood actresses, including all stars, use Lux Toilet Soap. It was at their request that all the great film studios have made it the official soap for their dressing rooms.

The stage stars, famous in Broadway successes, have also been using Lux Toilet Soap for a long time—and never were they so grateful to its gentle care of their skin as since so many of them have been playing in the talking and singing pictures. In the European capitals, too, the screen stars have adopted this soap—so velvet-smooth does it keep the skin!

And you can keep your skin lovely, too, by using this delicately fragrant white soap! Get several cakes today.

Democrats Meet Today To Talk Over Election

State Democrats Hold Committee Meeting Today
On Coming Spring Primary

LEADERS EXPECT ROUGH SAILING

Peace Within Democratic Ranks Is Further Endangered By Resentment

By FRED K. McILVAINE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Feb. 25.—With the Republican party men standing by, waiting until William S. Vare, Philadelphia leader, makes known just what he expects in the coming primary, and casting at the same time a wondering eye in the direction of former Governor Gifford Pinchot, the Democratic party today occupies the center of the stage in Pennsylvania politics.

The Democratic state committee meets here today for the announced effort to pick a slate with which to oppose whatever candidates finally come from the at present muddled Republican situation.

No Smooth Sailing
The Democratic leaders, too, are not expected to have entirely smooth sailing in their work.

It is generally believed here that John R. Collins, state chairman, and his closest associates are backing Sedgewick Kistler for governor and Judge William S. McLean for senator. From Wilkes-Barre comes the report that Luzerne and Lackawanna Democrats have the reverse view of that, with Judge McLean their choice for gubernatorial honors and Kistler of Lock Haven, for the senatorial toga. Judge Samuel E. Shull of Monroe county, for governor, and Lowry Humes of Pittsburgh, for the senate is another possibility, with State Senator Harvey Huffman, a Stroudsburg attorney, reported quite active in their behalf.

Rumblings Heard
Peace within the Democratic ranks is reported further endangered by resentment expressed at Stroudsburg that the picking of a slate for the primary "is undemocratic."

Other candidates who may find themselves on the ticket before the session ends are: Judge Henry C. Niles of York, for state supreme court, Aaron E. Reiber of Butler, and George F. Douglas of Allentown. For superior court and county clerk, Carroll Miller of Pittsburgh, or Mrs. Catherine Flohr of Allentown, for Secretary of Internal Affairs.

There are 106 libraries and 43 reading rooms in the city, and their catalogues list 600,000 different books. Of the reading population, 35.4 per cent are workers while students and scholars comprise 26.3 per cent of the total.

Fiction stands high in Berlin's literary taste, more than one million volumes of the books loaned out being of this class. History and geology come next while volumes on art and pure science are poor also runs.

MAKE TABLE INVITING FOR THE MIDNIGHT SUPPER

The midnight supper is the best possible time to use the beautiful new luncheon set in ivory, peach or maize. A colored set with matching napkins is correct for this informal meal. A low centerpiece of flowers and small dishes for candies which carry out the color scheme, are all that are needed for decorations, although bright colored candles are appropriate and contribute a note of brilliancy. A tempting hot supper should be served—a newburg, welsh rarebit, creamed oysters, with salad, olives, sandwiches, bonbons and delicious hot coffee. This design was selected for Central Press by Elizabeth H. Russell, home editor for The American Home Magazine.

M'DONALD EXPRESSES HOPE FOR AGREEMENT

Official British Communique Issued To Quiet Worldly Rumors

Question Of Three-Power Pact
Has Never Been Raised
As Settlement Hope

By HARRY R. FLORY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Feb. 25.—In an effort to "clear the air of rumors and exaggerated reports" spread around the world since the Five-Power Naval Disarmament Conference was adjourned last Wednesday because of France's cabinet difficulties, an official British government communique was issued today expressing the conviction that a satisfactory agreement would crown the work of the parley.

The communique, presumably dictated personally by Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, was given out to the press by a government official at St. James' Palace.

The communique vigorously repudiates the suggestion that a three-power pact between the United States, Great Britain and Japan is all that the conference can hope to achieve, and denies that political questions are impeding the progress of the conference.

Scope Not Widened
It was definitely stated that the scope of the parley will not be widened to include discussion of freedom of the seas and the question of neutral rights.

Regarding the three-power pact suggestion the communique declares: "This question has never been considered as a way out of the difficulties of the conference. It must be remembered that the suggestion of a three-power pact is not in its conception helpful to the idea of the main disarmament work of the League of Nations.

"Up to the present moment the delegations have been so confident that a five-power pact will be arranged that there has been little more than casual conversation regarding any other arrangements."

TYRANT FASHION

Dame Fashion rules them one and all and pays no heed to scorn. The dress which she decides shall be, will be the dress that's worn. And short or long, or high or low, with furbelows or plain. They'll wear them as she says they must, and argument is vain. Hers is the tyranny of taste; to her the world must bow. The skirts which once they laughed about the girl are wearing now.

They looked at mother's photograph and chuckled in their glee. Such curious sleeves, such funny skirts, such awful waists to see. That mother was a stylish maid they couldn't quite believe. For who would wear a dress like that with such a bulging sleeve? But old Dame Fashion bides her time and heeds not what they say. Those trailing skirts they laughed about they proudly wear today.

Dame Fashion never answers back her work to justify. She knows whatever she displays the world will rush to buy. And should they sneer at fashions old, as youth is quick to do. She's apt to start those fads again and make them like them, too. But little time for ridicule to mortals she'll allow. The trailing skirts they laughed about the girls are wearing now. Holds Largest Membership Meeting In Its History At Club Rooms

PLANS SOCIAL EVENING MARCH 1

Tiger Club, which for years has been one of the most active Italian-American organizations in the city, and which organization has put on a number of successful plays, social events and dances, is now engaged in increasing its membership. Quite a number of eligible young men have been taken in during recent weeks.

On Sunday, the club took in a large group of young men with appropriate ceremonies at the club rooms on South Mill street. This proved a most enjoyable occasion for all participating. It is anticipated that there will be a still greater increase in membership of this organization, due to the number of applications being received at the present time.

Plans have been completed for the dance to be held for the members, their wives, sweethearts and sisters at The Castleton, on Saturday night, March 1. It gives promise of being another big social success such as the banquet and dance held at The Castleton several weeks ago.

The committee in charge of the dance consists of J. V. Bullano, chairman, H. E. Ross, F. Colo, T. C. Richards, Vito Conti, P. Augustine, Joseph Bordonaro, Jr., E. Casacchia and S. Griffith.

New members taken into the organization on Sunday were as follows: Felix Conti, Charles George, Thomas Cubellis, Frank Guido, Jacob DeFonso, Anthony Sacco, Ernest Gillett, Samuel Loscola, Thomas Maiella, Samuel Tomasello, Jr., Charles Frangel, Francis DeSantis, Ralph Monico, Nick Fiello, Sol Dehullo, Albert Thomas, Patsy Santangelo, Vito George, Robert Richards, James Scarazzo, Rocco Vitalli, Louis Ross, Mike Ross, Leo Strizzi, and Peter "Tex" Richards.

Village Is Punished For Stealing Forest

BELGRADE, Feb. 25.—The entire village of Zude, near Belgrade, has been charged with stealing a whole wood, surely a record in criminal history.

The women of the village, though they shared in the theft, were not haled to court, but the 68 male inhabitants appeared. Evidence showed that they had cut down and consumed as fuel the entire municipal forest near the village. Their defense was that otherwise they would have frozen since great economic distress prevailed in the village.

The whole village was found guilty and the men were sentenced to brief terms of imprisonment and fines. Their offense is unlikely to be repeated, since, as one villager replied when the judge admonished him not to do so, "Your honor, that is impossible. I myself took home the last tree within miles and burned it."

PARIS TRADE DROPS WITH WARM WEATHER

(International News Service)
PARIS, Feb. 25.—Unreasonably warm weather is the cause of unusually slow business in France this year, says Pierre Veber in "Candide". So after all, the Americans are really not to blame. A vigorous winter always means good business conditions. Everyone has more vim and energy and is obliged to buy more coal, food and wearing apparel. Up to the present date, very little snow has fallen even in the mountains and Parisians have good cause to believe that it is still Indian Summer.

Says Mexico Has Faith In Ortiz Rubio

Country Is Battling Against Superstitions Which Orig-

NEED OF GOOD ROADS IS SHOWN

By TOD BATES
International News Service Special
Correspondent.

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 25.—Mexico, land of the greatest antiquities on the American continent, is battling for modern development against the restraints of superstitions that originated with the Aztecs.

That was the summing up of the Mexican problem by Pat F. Healy, Mexico City newspaperman. Healy was here to accompany his friend, Governor Jose Maria Tapia to lower California for a conference with Governor C. C. Young of California.

What Mexico needs most and what it is working hardest to obtain, Healy said, is a highway system somewhere comparable with that which networks California.

Gasoline in Mexico costs 45 cents a gallon, despite the fact that one of the world's largest sources of gasoline is in the Tampico Gulf coast oil field.

Ten cents out of the price of each gallon of gasoline used in Mexico is going into a national highway fund, Healy said.

All highways within 100 miles of Mexico City are paved with concrete.

but in the extensive back country inhabited by half-civilized Indians no roads worthy of the name have been completed, except for some sketchy routes connecting the capital with the United States.

Healy, a blonde Irishman who speaks Spanish perfectly and English brokenly, was one of the founders of El Excelsior, one of Mexico City's leading daily newspapers. He has been the friend of many Mexican presidents.

The American colony in Mexico City now numbers 10,000 families, according to Healy.

American syndicates are investing more than 200 million pesos, or about $100,000,000, in Mexican power companies, mines, street railways and other utilities and businesses.

Most of the Mexican people are well pleased with the election of Pascual Ortiz Rubio as president," Healy said.

"That act of the would-be assassin in wounding the newly inaugurated president and members of his party, was not condoned by any appreciable part of the public.

"There will be no revolutions in Mexico for many years to come."

PARIS, Feb. 25.—France has just produced its first 100 per cent talkie and France has simultaneously gone "100 per cent talkie."

That is to say that the Elysee Palace has been equipped with talkie projection apparatus for the pleasure of President Gaston Doumergue.

Chautemps May Not Accompany Delegates To Naval Conference

Premier-Designate Of France
May Be Able To Accom-

FREDERICK R. ABBOTT
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

PARIS, Feb. 25.—With President Gaston Doumergue presiding, the provisional cabinet of M. Chautemps met today and gave its approval to the statement of ministerial policy which the premier-designate will read to the chamber of deputies at three o'clock this afternoon.

It was officially decided that M. Chautemps, Foreign Minister Briand, Minister of Marine Albert Sarraut and Minister of Colonies Lucien Lamoureux, should go to London to represent France at the naval arms conference there if the chamber accepts the cabinet. It is doubtful, however, that the premier-designate will be able to accompany his colleagues if they leave for London tomorrow.

Philadelphia Fire Causes Heavy Damage Along Water Front

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25.—Starting in a rag shop early today fire for a time threatened to sweep the entire Delaware river front. Four alarms were turned in before the blaze was brought under control.

The blaze was the most spectacular in a year along the river front. Clouds of dense black smoke drifted around the burning buildings blinding all within a radius of 500 feet. Huge tongues of flames that could be seen for miles shot through the upper strata of the black curtain. A slight breeze carried clouds of smoke over the Delaware causing ferry boats to reduce their speed. The flames started in the rag and burlap manufacturing shop of H. Feldman and Co. between Spruce and Pine streets on Delaware avenue.

The damage will amount to several thousand dollars.

Says Lord's Prayer Is Misinterpreted

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 25.—Rev. Dr. Robert B. H. Beyl, missionary, says that the Lord's Prayer has been misinterpreted for 2,000 years.

An improper Greek translation into the old English has given the world a synthetic meaning of the Lord's prayer, according to Doctor Beyl. "Lead us not into temptation," is not a part of the prayer," he said. "God does not lead us into temptation any more than parents would lead their children into temptation. "There is no such phrase as 'Lead us not into temptation,' in the original Lord's Prayer in Greek. Translated from that language it is 'Do not let us enter into worldliness.'"

Sabbath School Workers Plan For Attendance Drive

The Sabbath School association of the Highland United Presbyterian church met in regular monthly session Monday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. J. McFate, Park avenue, with a good attendance of the officers and teachers of the church school present.

Rev. Frank Black of the Oak Grove United Presbyterian church was the speaker of the evening and used as his theme "Seeing Things Through." Plans were made for an attendance drive, and to also bring out the members already enrolled, who do not attend. The campaign will continue until Pentecost, at which time an award of eight beautiful religious pictures will be made to the departments having the highest attendance.

The next meeting, which will be March 31, will be held in the church and will be marked by the annual election of officers. At the close of the business session, the committee, Mrs. McFate, Mrs. Edith Dille and Ray Rhodes, took charge and a delicious lunch was served.

WOMEN AT HOME ENJOY PROGRAM

The women who make their home at the Almira home on East Washington street were delightfully entertained Monday evening when members of the Margaret Copeland Circle of the Third United Presbyterian church presented an amusing program for their benefit.

There are forty three women at the home but some of them are confined to their rooms by illness so they could not be present in the parlors.

Mrs. Edith Wiles conducted the devotional period and vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Garth Kennedy and Miss Anne Hitchen; Mrs. King pleased with a number of readings. The chorus of the circle sang several times and Jean Kennedy gave some piano selections. The women greatly enjoyed the humorous little skit.

Co-operation Is Given For Big Hospital Benefit

Services For Show At Cathedral

Cooperation seems to be the keynote in the big Jameson Memorial Hospital benefit show to be staged at the Cathedral on the nights of March 13 and 14. Everyone seems willing to lend a hand to the project, and its success is practically assured.

Under the direction of Miss Mary Louise Galvin, the Smith-Williams Institute looks like the hit of the show. They are going through daily practice and will present several lovely numbers.

The New Castle Dry Goods company is furnishing at cost the material for the costumes to be worn by the actors. This is quite an item and was made possible through George Elwell. The McCoy Motor company is furnishing a place to paint the curtains for the show, and one of their workmen, William Agnew is doing the painting of the curtain free of charge.

Owen Penfield, Fox is donating his services to paint the scenery for the show. The Capitol Theatre is furnishing the scenery drops to be painted. This was made possible through Charles Freeman, manager of the Capitol.

Abe Levine and his orchestra will furnish the music as their contribution.

Tickets for the show will be sold at the Women's Club bridge to be held at the New Castle Dry Goods store tonight. The ticket sale is moving quite rapidly.

Trouble; New Medicine Brought Relief.

MR. WILLIAM DEPIRE

"Several years ago I became afflicted with stomach trouble," said Mr. William Depire, 2545 Easton avenue, Bethlehem. "The lightest foods caused me intense suffering and distress. Pains from indigestion and bloating were frightful at times, and I became faint and nauseated. Constipation added to my miseries and I was forced to use cathartics constantly."

"I was discouraged and disgusted with medicines, and scoffed at Konjola. By this great medicine had a surprise for me. A few bottles and my stomach trouble passed away. I now have a splendid appetite, eat three hearty meals daily and suffer no pain or bloating what ever. I have not had to take cathartics since the first bottle of this medicine, and my general health is excellent. I am gaining in weight and strength."

Oil Refinery Stood Years Ago Where New Epworth M. E. Church Is Being Built

BY JANET KISSINGER

"No, I don't remember that there was ever an oil refinery at the corner of East Washington street and Butler avenue. Perhaps there was, but I can't seem to remember."

That was the usual answer to a question popped by the writer to some of our old timers. Many of them could talk freely on any other old time subject, but when the old oil refinery was mentioned—they knew nothing of it. The reason was simple. The old refinery discontinued production over a half century ago.

Mrs. Thomas McGurk, of Butler avenue, suggested that the writer ask Mrs. Sara Hannon of W. Washington street.

Mrs. Hannon remembered. The old refinery stood where the new Epworth church is being built. Lubricating and carbon oils, making a specialty of the former, were refined there. From 12 to 15 hands were employed and the refinery had a capacity for producing about 800 barrels of refined oils per week.

Mrs. Hannon remembers well, that no children were allowed to play on the refinery grounds, because of the acids on the ground and around the machinery.

The raw material came, it is thought, directly from the oil regions and brought over the New Castle and Franklin railway. A portion of the raw oil came from the Slippery Rock region that being considered the best grade of lubricating oil in the state.

Mrs. Hannon has lived in New Castle all her life, and can vividly remember teams of oxen, plowing their ways through the muddy main street of New Castle. She can recall the first schools of the city, and had for her teachers, several of the first who taught here.

The location of the old oil refinery was considered quite a distance from town.

A GOOD REASON
"Why don't you marry the doctor?"
"Because then I could not decide for myself when I was ill enough to go to the seaside."—Passing Show.

Throng Pack First Baptist Church In Spite Of Weather

Next Thursday Night Is To Be Family Night And Friday Night Is Dedicated To Young People

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 25.—In spite of the inclement weather last evening a full house invaded the Baptist church for the musical program announced for Monday night. There was no preaching service but the whole evening was devoted to music.

Before Mr. Dibble would sing anything special himself he had the congregation sing for him. Opening the service with the hymn, "It Is Glory Just to Walk With Him." He injected a little of the Billy Sunday atmosphere into the meeting at this point and had the choir sing the song that Rodeheaver uses with the Sunday choir, "Sail On, Rev. King." The Christian Missionary Alliance was present last night and was called to the platform to lead in the evening prayer. The topic for the message tomorrow night by Mrs. Dibble will be "Sure Things," a message which will be especially interesting to skeptics and agnostics and to those who are inclined to sneer at Christian tenets.

On Thursday night, family night will be on the program and Mrs. Dibble has a special message on the home, dealing with the problems of home discipline and management these days. Mr. Dibble is to give a handsome Bible to the largest family present. Friday night is young people's night. A section of the church will be reserved for all the young people of the teen age of the city.

Games and contests caused the hours to pass quickly and prizes were won by Charlotte Rogers, Virginia Sibole, Fanny Hancher and Gertrude Jones. With the advent of the customary lunch, came two glittering birthday cakes. Mrs. Charles Flinner assisted the hostess. The little honor guest received a number of lovely gifts in honor of the occasion.

America In The 20th Century
Theodore Roosevelt—His Boyhood And Early Career

THE DEATH OF WILLIAM MCKINLEY ON SEPTEMBER 14, 1901, FROM WOUNDS INFLICTED BY AN ASSASSIN (SEPT. 6) BROUGHT THEODORE ROOSEVELT FROM THE VICE PRESIDENCY OF THE UNITED STATES TO THE PRESIDENT'S CHAIR. THIS FAMOUS AMERICAN WAS BORN IN NEW YORK CITY IN 1858, OF A PROMINENT FAMILY WHOSE ANCESTORS WERE AMONG THE EARLY DUTCH SETTLERS OF NEW AMSTERDAM.

YOUNG THEODORE WAS A FRAIL BOY, BUT HE WAS FOND OF SPORTS AND OUTDOOR LIFE. LONG HIKES, CAMPING AND HORSEBACK RIDING IN TIME MADE HIM MORE ROBUST AND VIGOROUS. HE HAD OPPORTUNITIES TO TRAVEL IN AMERICA AND ABROAD, AND ON THESE TRIPS KEPT A DIARY IN WHICH HE WROTE OF THE INTERESTING THINGS HE HAD SEEN.

WHEN THEODORE WAS EIGHTEEN HE ENTERED HARVARD UNIVERSITY, GRADUATING IN 1880. THE NEXT YEAR HE BEGAN TO STUDY LAW, AND MARRIED MISS EDITH CAROW. ABOUT THIS TIME HE WENT INTO POLITICS, JOINED THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, AND SOON WAS ELECTED A MEMBER OF THE NEW YORK STATE ASSEMBLY.

THOUGH HE FOUND SPEECH-MAKING RATHER DIFFICULT AT FIRST, HE BECAME A FORCEFUL AND CONVINCING SPEAKER. HIS FORMULA FOR PUBLIC SPEAKING WAS, "FIRST BE SURE YOU HAVE SOMETHING TO SAY, THEN SAY IT, AND T DOWN."

TOMORROW—THEODORE ROOSEVELT, RANCHER, HUNTER, POLICE COMMISSIONER.

Central Christians Beaten By Temples, Boosters Win Title

Central Christians Drop First Church League Game In Three Years Of Play

Great Little Temple Israel Team Turns Trick 9-8; New Castle Boosters Win Title

After mopping up on the Church League teams for the past three years and winning a flock of basketball games, the Central Christians were finally beaten. The Temple Israel team, turned the trick last night at the "Y" with a score of 9 to 8. It was a great game, and kept a big crowd of fans interested throughout. The New Castle Boosters on the other hand won from the Pennsylvanian railroad team 56 to 20, and thereby captured the title in the City League, being undefeated in the first and second parts of the season.

In the first game the Highland U. P. boys fell to the Third U. P. team 25 to 14 in a well played game. The score at the half favored the Third U. P. 8 to 7. It was the fine work of McClymonds and R. McNickle that gave the Third U. P. team their victory.

Temples Victorious

The feature game on the bill found the Temples and Christians in a terrific struggle. The game was perhaps the closest guarding affair seen at the "Y" this year. Only four field goals were tallied, two by each team. It was on the foul line that the Temples had the better of the argument and caused the Christians to join the defeated class.

The first quarter found the Germans ahead 4 to 0. The Christians could not get started. The second quarter found the Christians picking up steam and scoring four points to one for the Temples, to end the first half 5 to 4. The end of the third quarter saw the Germans ahead 7 to 6. It was a fast and closely guarded game in the final eight minutes, with the Germans able to hold their one-point lead. It was a field goal by Plant that kept the Temples in the game in the final half and fouls by E. Solomon and Rogovin that won the game.

By their victory last night the Temple Israel team went into first place undisputed in the New Castle Church League.

Boosters Win Flag

There will be no playoff for the title in the City League this year, because last night the New Castle Boosters ran up a score of 56 to 20 on the Pennsylvanian team to go undefeated in the first and second parts of the season, and to win the coveted flag.

At the end of the first half after Franklin had run wild to score three field goals the Boosters led 19 to 4. The second half of the game found Franklin and Kulich in a race to see which could score the most field goals, with Franklin coming in ahead with eight baskets and Kulich drawing up in second place with six, which gave them a grand total of eighteen for the game, eleven for Franklin and seven for Kulich. These boys alone could have licked the Pennsylvanian. Old "Pop" Fraser started at center for the Boosters and played a whale of a game despite his declining years. He managed to get three baskets when nobody was looking. Sargent, Wallace and Solomon played the best ball for the Pennsylvanian team.

The summaries:

Highland U. P. 14. Third U. P. 25. Jenkins F. McClymonds. Rodgers F. Wallace. Robson G. McNickle. Offutt G. R. McNickle. Plant G. Ziegler.

Walker And De Vos Are Still Unsigned

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Delay was reported today in signing contracts for the proposed title battle between Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion and Rene De Vos, Belgium. It is planned to stage the bout here next month. Walker's manager, Jack Kearns, was said to have demanded $20 a top seat price, while the boxing commission declined to sanction anything above a $10 top.

Another conference in an attempt to sign the match was scheduled later this week.

Duquesne To Invade New Wilmington For Tri-State Struggle

Tri-State District Leadership In Balance As Collegiate Teams Prepare For Contest; O'Donovan Crippled May Not Start For Titans; Coach Lawther Gives Westminster Boys Final Word; Dukes Will Wage Stiff Fight For Honors.

By "BUGS" WALTHER

All eyes of the Tri-State Conference will be focused on New Wilmington tonight, when Coach John Lawther sends his Westminster Titan band against the Dukes of Duquesne University of Pittsburgh. The Tri-State leadership hangs in the balance, these two formidable quintets prepare to test field goals and fouls in the biggest test of the year. The game will start at 8:15 o'clock.

Much has been written concerning the prowess of both teams, but the actual test comes tonight. The Westminster boys are playing on their home court and thereby are given the favorite position. The Duquesne team will be a hot battle for the top rung in the class B college league. Both coaches are highly confident of victory.

Prepare for Crowd

Graduate Manager Andy McDonald is preparing to take care of the largest gathering of the year when the doors are opened tonight. The new bleachers installed this year by His Majesty will be taxed to the limit, and it is a safe bet that the S. R. O. sign will go out before eight o'clock, so just a word to the wise, if you like to sit down to enjoy your basketball get there early. McDonald is preparing the setting, and John Lawther and Chick Davies will provide the entertainment with two highly and trained-to-the-minute ball clubs.

The Titans will do well to remember that they are stacking up against one of the greatest floor teams in Western Pennsylvania tonight. The Dukes have played good ball all year, and this evening they will go to New Wilmington keyed up to the high pitch. Coach John Lawther's fast-stepping Westminster club have traveled the highroad to district honors on a par only to face each other at the end of the road in two contests to decide which of the two is champion.

Each club has lost but one game, and each lost to the same outfit, have pointed to the two remaining games which have, because of the situation in the tri-state conference, become championship contests.

Duquesne travels to Westminster tonight for the first game and for what promises to be the most fiercely contested court game in the whole district all season. Westminster had a let-down Saturday night when the Titans fooled around through 40 minutes of slow-motion basketball to defeat Washington and Jefferson. The Dukes were idle Saturday, preparing mentally and physically for tonight's game.

Can Clinch Title

Should Duquesne win tonight, the tri-state conference championship will be practically clinched, provided, of course, that the Dukes take over Ken Loeffler's Geneva club at Pittsburgh next week. If, on the other hand, Westminster wins tonight, then the Titans will have the top roost and will rule the favorite to win the title.

Duquesne has possibly a stronger team this year than the great outfit which represented the Bluff school three years ago when they won the title. The return to the squad of Captain Benedict has improved the Bluffites about 50 per cent, and the Davies crew was plenty good even with the red and black leader on the sidelines. In Lubic, forward; Stephens, guard; Parry, guard; and McGeever and Vernon, centers, the Dukes present the greatest test the Titans have had face all season.

Dukes Are Strong

The way in which the last-half

Everything appears to be set for Thursday night when the New Castle high school basketball team winner of Section Three of the W. P. I. A. travels to Pittsburgh to play North Union high, Section 13 winner in the first game of the elimination series at Pitt Stadium, according to Ralph H. Gardner, faculty manager of athletics at the high school.

A special train carrying six coaches will leave the P. and L. E. railroad station on West Washington street on Thursday afternoon at 5:45 to transport the delegation of fans expected to make the trip to Pittsburgh.

Plan to Charter Street Cars

Coming back the special will probably leave at 10:30 from Pittsburgh owing to the taxi cab strike in Pittsburgh, arrangements are being made to have special street cars ready to take the fans to Pitt Stadium upon arriving at Pittsburgh. Definite announcement concerning the street cars will be made Wednesday.

Tickets for the game are being sold at the office of the Senior High school and The Sporting Goods store on East Washington street. The price of the tickets are fifty cents. Fans who expect to make the trip to Pittsburgh are urged to buy their tickets here as they will cost $1.00 at Pitt Stadium.

Oil City Girls Play Preliminary

In a preliminary game to the New Castle-Butler game tonight at senior high school gymnasium, the fast Oil City high girls' team will meet Coach "Sal" McGown's New Castle high school lassies. The game will start at 7:15. The boys' game will start immediately following the preliminary engagement.

The game gets under way at 8:15 with "Beggs" Snyder on the whistle and Max Hannum as umpire. Graduate Manager A. A. McDonald announced yesterday that all seats are reserved for the game and that there will be little or no standing room. All but a few tickets were sold last night.

The lineups:

Westminster. Duquesne.

The Grove City gym will be emptied between games on each of the first three nights, to permit followers of each team to see their favorites in action. Seat reservations have been divided between the competing schools, and may be secured through the College. The price of 50c admits to only one game.

Each school is limited to 10 players, and eligibility lists must be sent to Grove City College by March 4th. The winner of the tourney is to compete in the North-Western meet held here on March 14-15, the next step in the eliminations for the state title.

Sharon and Farrell are the favorite in the county meet, each club having won seven games and lost one in the county pre-tourney season. The Mercer County winner will enter the Northwestern meet as a strong contender, on the basis of the season's records.

Westminster Grads Make Good As Court Coaches In District

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 25.—With Titan basketball teams under Coach John Lawther occupying the district spotlight for four years, a large number of Westminster College graduates have made good in coaching the cage sport, a survey shows.

Among the graduates of recent years who have led their teams to successful seasons on the court are: Howard Kelly, 28, Mercer high school; Wayne Phillips, 29, Oil City high school assistant coach; Charles Ayers, 29, Elizabeth high school; Harold Coles, 26, Homestead high school; Jeff Byler, 26, Punxsutawney high school; Tudor Lewis, Sharon high school; and Kenneth Collins, 29, West Middlesex.

"Red" Kelly, New Castle boy, has developed a good quintet at Mercer high school in his second season as coach. Wayne Phillips is assistant coach at Oil City high school and has been instrumental in helping the Oilers win 12 games this season.

"Chuck" Ayers, last year's court captain at Westminster, and Joseph Firno, last year's grid captain, are handling the court team at Elizabeth. With very little material to work with, the two Titan grads have been able to win a number of important district games. "Rusty" Coles, another

Mahoney Loses To Sam Weiss

Heavy Rainstorm Has Big Tendency To Keep Fans From Bowl

THREE THRILLING SIX ROUND BOUTS

By ED FRITZ

It is quite evident that Bill Jolly, fistie impressario, hasn't any "stand-in" with J. Pluv, a well known member of the firm of Ice, Rain, Fog and company. This was established beyond all shadow of doubt as only a small crowd seen Sam Weiss, Philadelphia and Jimmy Mahoney, Chicago, battle 10 rounds at Jolly bowl. Weiss received the decision. Weiss and Mahoney are light-heavyweights.

The battle which was apparently even up to the fifth took on a gory aspect in the fifth when one right that Mahoney did leave go nailed Weiss' right eye and the claret raced down his face. Weiss couldn't get close to retaliate but in the sixth round he slugged Mahoney and at close range had the best of the milling.

They stepped around fast for big fellows in the seventh and when Weiss slipped to a knee Mahoney chivalrously stepped back until Sam was on his toes and ready to battle again, and before the round was over Mahoney was on the ropes. In the eighth the Philadelphia forced the fighting again and sent a terrific right to Mahoney's head.

Weiss crowded Mahoney in the ninth and tenth and took the rounds. The decision was given to Weiss for his aggressiveness. He landed the hardest and most punches. After the fight Mahoney maintained that he injured his right hand with the first punch he attempted to land with it—a right uppercut to Weiss' jaw as he came in.

Ward Gets Decision

The semifinal between Jackie Ward and Bud Dempsey was a six round thriller. The decision was given to Ward. They slugged each other around the ring and the fans were in a frenzy which goes far to explain why the Weiss-Mahoney battle didn't appear quite so hot. A draw would have satisfied both sides. They are bantams.

Frankie Frey came draw with a draw against Steve Marks in six thrilling rounds. In fact Frankie has

New Castle Hi Opposes Butler In Final Game

Game Here Tonight Is Final Home Basketball Tilt Of 1930 Season

Locals Play North Union On Thursday At Pitt In Elimination

By CHARLES LANDOLF
With the section three title under their belt as a result of the victory over the Ellwood City high five on Friday night the New Castle high school basketball artists will make a bid for the 15th victory of the season when they play the strong Butler high quintet tonight at the senior high gym. The game starts at 8 o'clock. In the preliminary game the New Castle girls take on the Oil City maidens at 7:15. New Castle plays North Union in the first game of the elimination series of the W. P. I. A. L. at Pitt stadium Thursday night and this game will help to round the boys in shape for that tilt.

The game will have no influence on the league standing but will give the fans a chance to see the locals either register their 15th win of the season or go down to defeat the first time this season. It will also give the fans who have not yet seen the local steam roller in action this season a chance to do so before they go to Pittsburgh.

Butler Has Good Team.

Butler is coming here with a well balanced team that has lost but two contests this season on the hardwood. New Castle and Evans City were the two quintets to turn the tables on the Butler county cagers. Upon meeting the Evans City five a second time, Butler reversed the defeat. They hope to do the same with the red and black passers.

Since the defeat administered at the hands of the New Castle passers, Butler has not lost a contest and has defeated Evans City, Ellwood City, Zelienople, Shady Side and on Friday night took the measure of the strong Mars team. The locals defeated the Butler quintets by six points. To be exact the final count was 21-15. The game was one of the best ever seen in Butler with New Castle making a Frank Merriwell finish to top the second place gold and white passers.

Butler has been preparing for this game for several weeks and is coming here to add one game on the local column of the local quintet, statistics state. If any team is liable to turn the trick it will be Butler. This will be found out after 32 minutes of what is believed to be the best basketball played here this season.

Coach Bridenbaugh stated that his boys are in the peak for this game. Butler also reported to be all toned up for this game. The largest crowd of the season will probably jam senior high gym to watch the sectional champs take on a fast team regarded as worthy opponents for the Bridenbaugh coached passers. Coach Bridenbaugh following this game will probably send his cohorts through drills at the George Washington high gymnasium on Wednesday afternoon in preparation for Thursday night when New Castle plays North Union in the first elimination game of the W. P. I. A. L.

The game will be played at the Pitt stadium.

The probable lineup for tonight's game is:

New Castle	Butler
Wainio	Miller
Rowe	Abbott
Alexander	Downing
Uram	Lobonzo
McAuley	Reilly
Ralph H. Gardner	Reilly

Ralph H. Gardner, the ever ready faculty manager of athletics at the high school, is making plans to take care of a record breaking crowd tonight.

Washington Girls Defeat Franklin

The George Washington High girls varsity team defeated the Ben Franklin High girls in a game played at the Franklin floor on last Friday afternoon. The score was 26 to 23.

The Washington officials were notified of a change in the ruling regarding eligibility of player and it was necessary to pick up practically a new team to take to Franklin High for the game, but the girls regardless of the fact that they, new at the game, did good work and upset the dope by beating Franklin. Miss Stickle of the Washington team led the field in goals with nine, while Miss Frank of the Franklin team had seven baskets. Miss Boys had three baskets. The Washington girls proved the best four tossers caging 8 out of 10, while Franklin made but one out of eight.

The Franklin girls led at the first half, but a few switches were made in the Washington lineup and the second half was different. The playing of Miss Lovejoy, Miss Bodendorfer and Miss Stickle featured.

The summary:

Washington 26	Franklin 23
Stickle	Frank
Baader	Boya
Lovejoy	Ruha
Robinson	Johns
Bodendorfer	Katita
Pugh	Pilsch
Subs—Washington: Loudon, Roman, Franklin: Karus, Balancie.
Field goals: Stickle 9, Frank 7, Boya 3, Ruha, Fouls—Washington, 8 out of 10, Franklin, 1 out of 8. Referee—Miss Gilkey.

Bethany Defeats Jackets 33 To 31

(International News Service)
WAYNESBURG, Pa., Feb. 25.—With a frenzied finish that had more than one fan verging on apoplexy, Bethany College defeated Waynesburg in a tri-state conference basketball game here last night.

The score was Bethany 33, Waynesburg 31.

No more than six points separated the two teams at any stage of the contest and in the closing minutes only three points were the margin held by the leaders.

In the closing minutes Bethany rolled up three more with a field goal by Bruhm and a foul by Rush. Waynesburg's dying effort—a long field goal by Avery and a foul by Captain White—sent the Yellow Jackets to within two points of Bethany's lead as the game ended.

Shikat Captures Another Wrestle

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Richard Shikat, who would rather wrestle than stoop to pick up Russia's crown jewels, still held the disputed world's heavyweight wrestling championship today but only a section of ring and piece of mat kept another claimant from the championship from making quite a noise.

The almost new champion is Matros Mirlenko of Russia, who gave Shikat 56 minutes of very interesting entertainment here last night and then as he was just about to dash the champion's entire body against the platform, slipped and bumped himself into unconsciousness.

Shikat was barely able to crawl from the ring after he was declared the winner.

In the prelims Gino Caribali tossed Jack Washburn; George Calza and J. McMillan drew; Perence Holbert downed Jack Taylor and Lim Londres pinned Vanka Zolnsnik.

Maxie Strub Wins Bout By Knockout

(International News Service)
OIL CITY, Pa., Feb. 25.—Maxie Strub, fast-stepping Erie lightweight, today had added another scalp to his already bristling belt.

Maxie's latest victim was Ben Nabors of Jamestown, N. Y., who gave up the ghost in the second round of the feature event here last night.

Strub's darting, venomous left jab had Nabors stopped and in the second round Strub unleashed a withering right and left hand attack to body and chin that had Nabors staggering.

The bout was stopped and Strub was awarded a technical knockout.

Ens Satisfied With Workouts

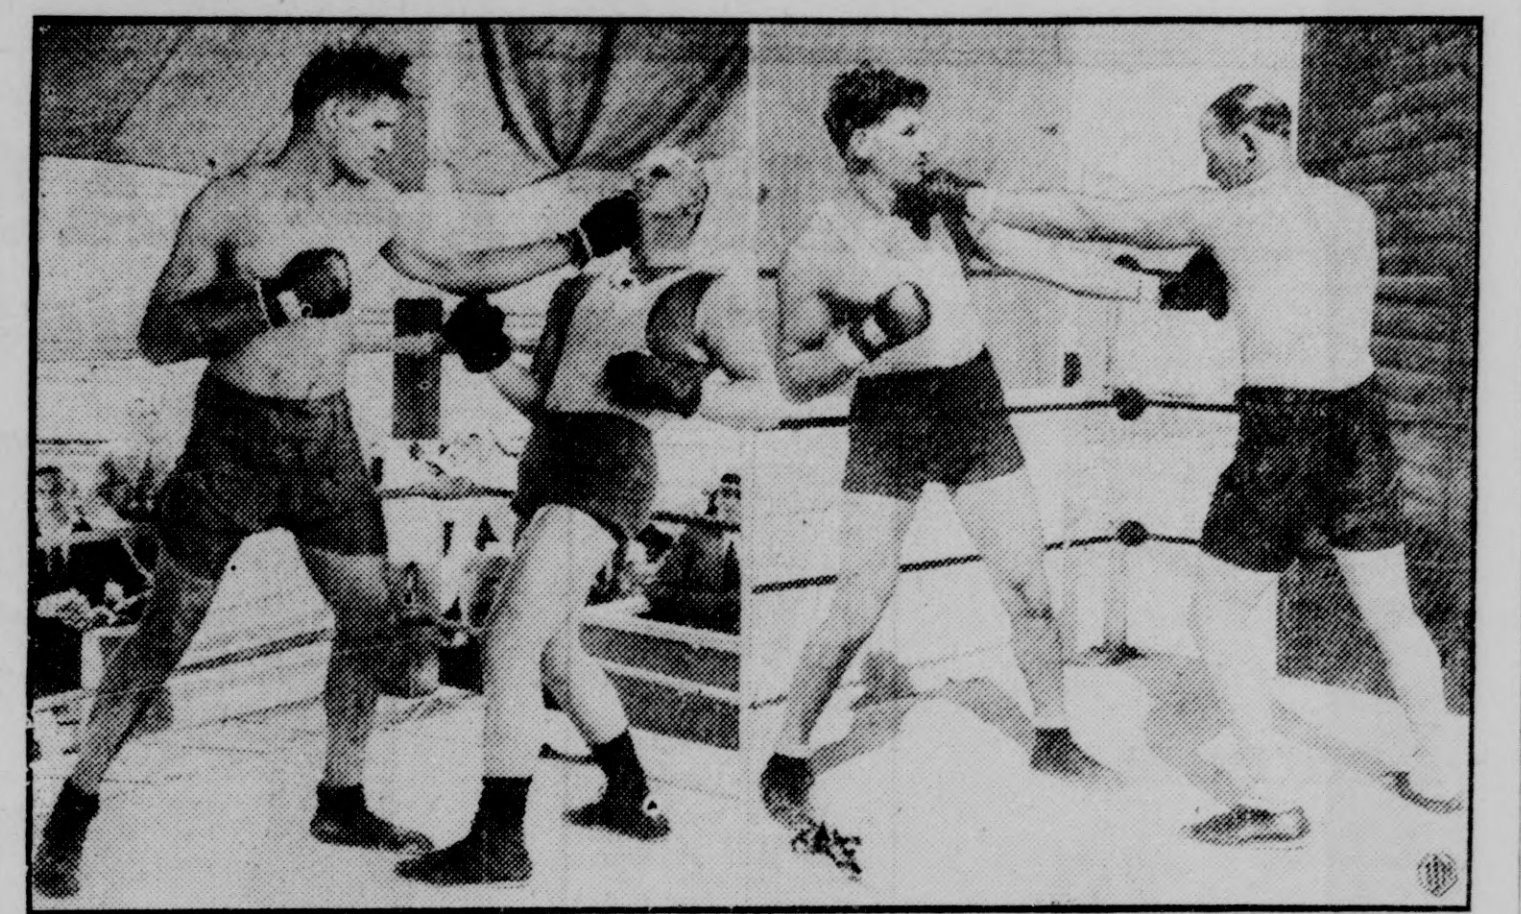

(International News Service)
PASO ROBLES, Cal., Feb. 25.—With resilience and suppleness again making themselves felt in the collective anatomies of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Manager Jewel Ens assembled his charges again today for their latest training stunt—headball.

The advance squad of the Corsairs is rounding into shape in record time but Ens is holding practice sessions to an hour-time limit in order not to overtax the recruits.

Headball was the latest wrinkle introduced. A large inflated rubber ball used in aquatic sports, was booted about the field in hurling fashion by the players who quickly worked up a healthy perspiration.

Ens expressed himself as highly pleased at the way the recruits are rounding into shape.

That Spectre Of The K. O.

When Tommy Loughran squares ring. His strong mind probably can off against the heavy-hitting Pierre Charles at Miami, Thursday night. Others have done it admirably, Jack Dempsey, Benny Leonard and Jack Sharkey all experienced that tenacious second toll of defeat early in their careers. Stanley Ketchel, Johnny Dundee and Al Singer ran into such setbacks when fairly seasoned. Yet none of those genuine giants were cowed by kayos. Loughran seems to belong to their class. He naturally merits membership in that brave brotherhood.

Occasionally fear of a knockout is overcome when one is punched cold. Of Mike McGuire was simply a matter of cautious boxing for years until he took a sleep punch. He found that experience not so cruel. From that time on, Mike grew bold, became a knocker-out himself, and only the fact he started so late curtailed McGuire's K. O. record.

Yes, all great fighters must—and do—conquer the haunting effects of knockouts.

New Loughran is one of the brainiest battlers who ever boxed for a liv-

Faculty Teams To Clash Wednesday

The George Washington Junior High faculty team goes to the mat again Wednesday night of this week, with the New Wilmington High faculty team as the opponents. The game will be played at the Washington floor, this having been agreed upon by the New Wilmington men.

Both teams have a game to their credit. The New Wilmington team won on their own floor, and the Washington men won on the game played here. The game will start at 7:30 o'clock and is bound to be good, according to Mr. Holt of Washington today, who seemed quite enthusiastic over the chances of the Washington team taking the third and final game of the series.

Hoover's First Year About Over, Leaders Start Taking Stock

Political Leaders Start Summing Up Administration Accomplishments

All Three Parties Study First Year Record For Use In Primary Campaigns

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—With President Hoover nearing the end of his first year in the White House, political leaders on Capitol Hill today began taking stock of the administration's accomplishments during the twelve-month period.

The President's political adversaries were credited with winning the first round in the pending battle of "political hits, runs and errors." That the administration's record will be an issue in the coming congressional campaigns was a foregone conclusion. As a result, Republicans, Democrats and Insurgents were studying the record so it may be used to their respective advantage in the primaries this summer and at the elections next fall.

Hoover Defended

First blood was drawn by Senator McKellar (D) of Tenn., who assailed Mr. Hoover's first year record as one replete with "errors" and "failures." This brought a prompt defense of the administration from Senator Watson (R) of Ind., majority floor leader. McKellar charged the president's record was "absolutely void of any accomplishment for the benefit of the common people." He said Mr. Hoover "failed" to secure American entry into the World Court, "failed" to sponsor a farm bill that might help agriculture, pointing to decreased prices on farm commodities, and "failed" thus to achieve any naval reduction.

He likewise blamed the Hoover administration for a "financial panic," "depression in industry" and "widespread unemployment."

This broad indictment angered administration leaders. Watson condemned the charges as "silly," "devoid of fact" and "contrary to general knowledge."

Several Accidents Reported To Police

Several Machines Are Damaged To A Greater Or Less Extent, According To Reports

H. R. Pray, Ellwood City, R. D. No. 1, was enroute west on Grant street at Glass street today, behind a machine bearing Pennsylvania license 689DE. A. P. and O. bus stopped at Glass street on West Grant to discharge some passengers and Pennsylvania license 689DE drove around the bus and started into Glass street on a right hand turn. There was a truck of the McClelland Grocery company driven by Kenneth Moser, failed to observe the main thoroughfare stop sign at this point and the machines came together. Some damage was done.

Pipes Cause Damage
Norman F. Reno, R. D. No. 1, reported Monday that he was enroute east on Court street in front of the Sheriff's home, as a truck of the Whittia Plumbing company driven by J. T. Beall turned into the driveway at the side of the sheriff's residence. Some pipe was jutting out behind the Whittia truck without a red or warning flag on it. The Reno car ran into this pipe, damaging his car and breaking his windshield.

Personality Shows In Spring Frocks

By ALICE LANGLEIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
PARIS, Feb. 25.—The pretty period will put personality into Paris frocks for spring and summer, turning women definitely into the sweet, young thing they were in pre-war days, judging from the first rare things to appear at the smart dressmakers.

There will be pretty soft colors in pastel tones and flattering materials such as the new satin which is very, very heavy but not at all stiff. One house is using it in white and another in a lovely pastel blue, while still another chooses it in pale pink and heart-of-lettuce green. It comes in softest yellow for a trailing evening gown with wings of satin at the back of the decollete and a left side train.

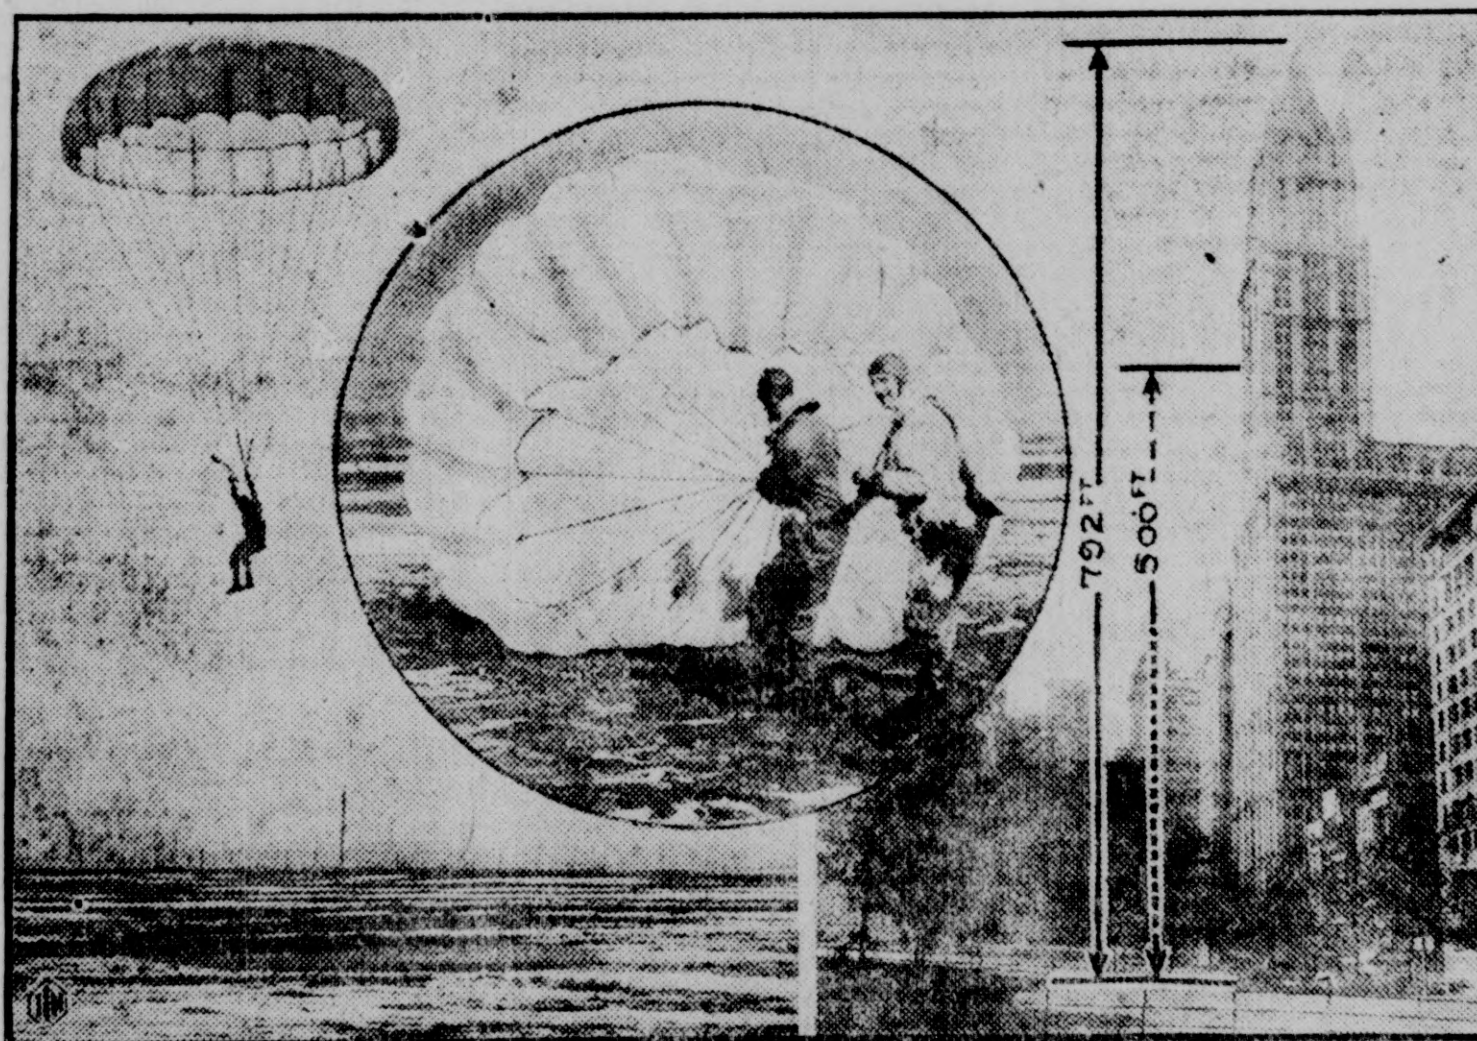

For the woman who must be practical as well as pretty, one dealer is making an evening coat of sapphire-blue satin, with a big bow on the left shoulder and no collar.

A pretty dance-frock comes in blue taffeta with a bloused waist and flared peplum from the normal line, buttoning with crystal buttons. There is a full circular skirt with tulle hem in the same color.

Lace trimmings will be abundant this spring and flowers in every buttonhole as well as in every fold.

Capes will be on the top of the world of fashion and mostly short ones because they are generally the most becoming.

Daring Airman Chutes 500 Feet

To climb more than two-thirds of the height of the Woolworth Building, one of Gotham's skyscrapers, and jump to the ground is a feat beyond imagination. This is what Tommy Gibbons did at Roosevelt Field, L. I., when he leaped with his parachute from a height of 500 feet. The above picture graphically

1930 To See Less Tubercular Deaths

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The year 1930 will have the lowest tubercular death rate recorded in the United States. That this statement can be made with certainty is indicated by the cumulative mortality rate for all forms of tubercular disease up to the end of November, among approximately 19,000,000 industrial policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. This rate, to the end of November, was only 65.9 per 100,000, which shows a decrease of 5.7 per cent, as compared with that for the corresponding period of 1928.

The course of the death rate among this large cross-section of the population, about one-sixth of the total, has always been an accurate index of what is happening among the general population.

The increased prosperity of the country, together with the work of various organizations, as held to be responsible for the decline in the tubercular death rate from 224.6 per 100,000 lives in 1911 to the 1929 mortality rate, which will be only a little more than one-third the figure for 1911.

238,367 Cars Sold In Illinois In 1929

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 25.—Illinois buyers purchased 238,367 new cars during 1929, according to figures issued by the research department of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce.

This figure surpassed the 1928 total of 185,965 cars by 52,402 sales. A slight slump due to the stock and commodity declines in October and November kept the 1929 total from the quarter of a million shares.

AWAITING WORD FROM YOHE CONCERNING NEW STATION

G. M. Yohe, vice president of the P. & L. E. railroad, has not yet communicated with the city of New Castle officials relative to the desire of the city that a new station be erected here.

However, no news is generally considered good news and as the railroad executive said when here he had a warm spot for New Castle and he would communicate with Erie Railroad Company officials.

According to statements made at that time, the Erie owns leases and naturally Yohe would have to negotiate with the officials of that railroad before any definite move can be made.

There has been a yearning for a new railroad station here for years and recently Mr. Yohe conferred with city officials. He was brought here by P. J. Flaherty, local industrial leader.

During the conference maps which had been prepared years ago were studied and the city officials informed Yohe that the city is ready and anxious to co-operate.

Vice President Yohe was heartily pleased with the expressions of city officials and said he would be glad to do anything in his power to help toward securing a new station here.

He said he would have to present the request to the Erie, which holds the leases, and no doubt the proposal has already been taken up, and not being concluded yet, there has been no information sent here.

Boy Lost Hair In Sudden Fright

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—A strange case of a boy losing all his hair within a day because of fright when a dog clashed its teeth within two inches of his nose, was revealed here by Dr. Henry Friedenberg.

The physician consented to discuss the case after the boy's scalp showed indications of again growing hair after being bald and as smooth as a billiard ball for a year.

Henry Mates, two, is the patient. He has been sensitive over the loss of his hair and to escape fears from playmates his mother withdrew him from his kindergarten class. Christmas one of his wishes was "a suit of nice hair."

It appears old Santa Claus heard his wish for today Henry is constantly feeling and his parents are proudly pointing out to friends a stubble of hair, about the size of a dime, that is now growing in the center of the scalp.

Henry is taking treatments for his head and Dr. Friedenberg expects another suit of hair will be forthcoming.

Mrs. Mates said her boy was playing with a small puppy belonging to a neighbor when it suddenly lunged toward his face and snapped at his nose. The dog's mouth was two inches from Henry's face but he was terribly frightened. She said he ran some and told her about his escape and the following day his thick hair started to fall out. Before the day was over his head was completely bald.

Chicago Prosecutor Claims Gain In Crime Convictions

By WILLIAM J. KOSTKA
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Although more criminals were sent to prison and a great percentage of verdicts of guilty were secured by State's Attorney John A. Swanson, according to his annual report to the Citizens Association of Chicago, no mention was made of the prosecution and apprehension of murderers and gangsters.

Chicago citizens are primarily interested in stopping the gang feuds and murders which have been thrown into the notorious limelight, but in only one sentence of the wordy report was the word "homicide" used. Swanson's report, however, did point out that 2,774 persons were found guilty in 1929 and only 735 found no guilty in the cases presented to the courts as compared to 2,154 and 560 not guilty in 1928.

Swanson, in his report, said that his office disposed of 5,820 indictments of a total of 7,067 during the year, while during January 87 per cent of the cases tried in criminal court resulted in verdicts of guilty.

"This is from 10 to 17 per cent higher than the average rating for any of the years prior to my incumbency on which I have discovered records," Swanson said. "I confidently anticipate greater efficiency throughout the remaining months of 1930."

The prosecution of "blue sky" frauds and bucketshop operators yielded $3,000,000 in restitution to victims and prevented the marketing of $20,000,000 worth of spurious securities, the report said.

A determined drive against professional bondsmen, who by securing bail for desperate and dangerous criminals often aid them in "jumping bail" and escaping trial, was made during his first year as state's attorney, Swanson said.

"In the year ending Nov. 30, 1928, 372 bail bonds were forfeited; in the following year, 334, a decrease of 38," Swanson stated as evidence of the success of the drive. "Defaulters apprehended in 1928 numbered 229; in 1929, 246, an increase of 17. In the prior year 143 defaulters were not apprehended in the latter year there were only 88, a decrease of 55."

Fines collected as a result of prosecutions by the state's attorney's office during 1929 amounted to $168,188.88 compared to $83,373.71 the previous year, the report stated.

The only mention of homicides in the report was the effect that the state's attorney had developed a system of which assistants are immediately assigned to work with courts and grand juries to gather evidence in important cases before such evidence is destroyed.

New Developments

In New Dodge 8

A glance at the new Dodge Eight-in-Line discloses that it incorporates most of the newest accepted engineering developments.

"Down-draft carburetion, manifold heat control, monopiece steel bodies, fram with six cross-members, high-compression engine, positive fuel pump, sound insulated clutch, thoroughly balanced crankshaft, dynamically balanced clutch, rubber engine mountings, rubber mounted springs—and so on through a most impressive list."

"Some of the most interesting road tests in the history of the business were performed before the new models were released for production. Many thousands of miles at high and low speeds over the levels and over the most difficult mountain roads were put on these cars. No owner, no matter what kind of a driver he is or where his business takes him, is likely to put his car through half the tests that the new Dodges were compelled to successfully withstand before final approval of the designs was gained."

Boy "Murder Farm" Slayer Is Allowed To See Mother

(International News Service)
SAN QUENTIN, Feb. 25.—"I want to see my baby."

This cry came from Mrs. Louise Northcott, reputed mother of Gordon Stewart Northcott, Riverside "murder farm" slayer, in her cell in the state penitentiary here.

Mother and son are in prison for complicity in killing several small boys. She is serving a life sentence and he is in a condemned cell with his case on appeal.

The 62-year-old woman is permitted by prison authorities to visit her son whose parentage is a matter of dispute, on the first Monday of each month.

It is the only pleasure that I have left in the world," Mrs. Northcott sobbed as she toiled in the women's laundry. "I want to see my son."

Neither the mother nor Northcott himself believe that he will be hanged. "They can't hang Gordon. He is my baby. They must not hang him."

Prison guards call Northcott the "meanest prisoner in San Quentin." He has always been confined to a single cell in the condemned row since he entered the prison a year ago.

Guards keep a close watch on him during the daily hour and a half exercise period, as he is reported to be inclined to start arguments with other inmates under death sentences.

The contest attracted interest, and crowds from every section of the state attended, according to word received by Mrs. Peebles, Melle Dunham, the man whom Henry Ford made famous, was one of the contestants.

Athlete Is Stabbed With Pocket Knife

WASHINGTON, Pa., Feb. 25.—With knife wounds in his chest and back and his general condition described as fair, Joseph Jestat, aged 23, prominent athlete of Marianna, is in the Washington hospital here. Mack Rauer, aged 26, of the same place, is held to await the outcome of his injuries.

The quarrel started when Jestat, who had been drinking, took offense to the manner in which Rauer replied when he asked him for a match to light a cigarette. Rauer alleges that Jestat stepped to the side of the road and picked up a rock. He drew a pocketknife and attacked Jestat.

Make Peerless In Modern Plant

Production of the 1930 Peerless straight eights is being made in a thoroughly modernized factory, according to a statement from James A. Bohannon, president.

"The method of production," Mr. Bohannon said, "starts when manufactured parts are carefully built into a nucleus which is conveyed along a power-driven production line."

"From the machine shops come engine parts, front and rear axle units. An adequate chrome and nickel-plating department supplies interior and exterior fittings. Body parts are lacquered and enameled in modern spray booths and bake ovens."

"The motor production unit constitutes an improvement tributary to the main stream. On a separate conveyor system, straight-eight engines and four-speed transmissions are built."

In this manner, each unit of the car is ultimately placed at specific points in store rooms.

"One of the most outstanding features of the production line is an automatic 'turnover' device. This picks up the chassis, turns it over, and sets it on its wheels on a slowly moving endless-chain type conveyor. "More than a half million dollars have been expended to revamp the plant."

Whippet Four Pleases Public

Rounding out its complete line of motor cars with the popular Whippet Four, the Willys-Overland's presentation for 1930 provides complete coverage in every price class. This line of low priced models includes a wide variety of body types which include sedan, coupe, roadster and touring car.

Because of the highly satisfactory performance of the Whippet Four in the past, its universal acceptance, its power and speed development, lines of beauty, roomy interiors, ease of handling and economical operation, no important change in design has been considered necessary.

Willys-Overland executives declare that there is a broad field for the Whippet Four since it is a product of proven ability in the hands of thousands of drivers over a period of more than three years. Present plans call for a steady production of this model to keep pace with the demand of the buying public.

The Whippet Four represents a distinct development in automobile design. Narrow radiators, sweeping lines and artistic body construction give it a beauty unexcelled by cars selling for much higher prices. Colors are rich and appear in pleasing harmony with interior decorations and upholstery.

Because of the speed of the Whippet Four and its possibilities for fast maneuvering in traffic, the manufacturers have paid particular attention to the powerful four-wheel brakes with which it is equipped. Long flexible springs, shock eliminators and oversized tires provide extra riding comfort and security that is further enhanced by the sturdiness of the frame and body construction.

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

WORLD'S LOWEST-PRICED EIGHT

The new Chrysler-built De Soto Straight Eight is repeating in this city the unparalleled sensation it created in New York. In the public's judgment it represents the greatest increase in the purchasing power of the automobile dollar that has been offered by anyone up to this time.

Until its unbelievably low price is contrasted with what the new De Soto Straight Eight actually is—an what it actually accomplishes—there is no way of appreciating the full value of this phenomenal engineering and manufacturing achievement.

The new De Soto Straight Eight beyond all doubt is destined to prove as outstanding a triumph in its field as did its predecessor and companion car—the world-famous De Soto Six—which, with a twelve-month's total of 81,065 cars, established an all-time record as the largest-selling first-year car in the history of the automobile industry.

Thaddens Stevens School Work And Activities Outlined By Hughes

Following recent articles on school work in New Castle, Principal James M. Hughes, principal of the Lincoln-Garfield, Thaddens-Stevens and Pollock schools today submits an article dealing with the work in the Thaddens Stevens school. The article follows:

The Thaddens Stevens School
At the beginning of every school year, Thaddens Stevens school is confronted by a problem of an overcrowded condition in the 1B group, and then a small beginning group in the second semester.

This year the 1B group consisted of fifty-nine beginners and by transfers was increased to sixty-one. The teachers solved the problem this year by taking some pupils whom they decided were the strongest both mentally and physically, and by giving them extra work, prepared them, by Christmas time, for the 1A group, which only numbered twenty-five at the beginning of the term.

The Thaddens Stevens school situated on East Washington street was built in 1898 and contains thirteen rooms, one occupied by the Kindergarten. The Platoon System is here also.

This school is gaining rapidly in numbers, there being 512 enrolled, 254 boys and 258 girls, of which 91 per cent were promoted and 9 per cent retained.

We will outline briefly some of the activities of this school.

Visual Education
We're made so that we love First when we see them painted, Things we have passed Perhaps a hundred times, nor cared to see.

Visual education may be used in every subject effectively. A child's mind is broadened by his observations and interests. From his experiences he creates his world. Early in life he is busily storing up memories of sights and feelings. He may obtain knowledge through reading. Too often his idea of the thing is haphazardly formed. Visual education presents accurate and definite knowledge.

We humans like to enjoy experiences with others. The child is human. An ideal situation is the child, comfortably seated, surrounded by congenial companions and under ideal hygienic conditions, adventuring on new trails. The picture takes him into the presence of the thing itself. He sees the actual object or happening. Perhaps it is to peep into cold depths of a crevasse or he views the majesty of the floating icebergs. With deep interest he sees the melting glacier, the source of a mighty river. It may be the first time he really sees skilled workmanship and delicate beauty in a spider's web.

An advertising firm boasts—"All you have to do is expose the child to the picture. It takes."

A picture, to be educational, must do more than this. It should throw light on the subject under discussion. There is a great value in presenting it, where and when to place emphasis. If the picture has been of value to the child, he should be able to pass on to others, oral or written, the impressions he has received.

Our advertising firms recognize the value of pictures. Their goods are placed before the public in most attractive forms. Our comic artists have hosts of little friends.

Visual education gives knowledge to the child the way he likes it. Through well selected pictures his life is made richer and his visions lovelier.

Our Auditorium Work
The fundamental art of work in the auditorium is not to make great actors and actresses, but to teach a love of good literature and an appreciation of it. Another aim of no little importance is the value of correctly spoken English.

The daily class program consists of stories for free dramatization, formal plays, where the character parts are learned and given from memory, the reading of poems from memory, book reports, reference work for special programs and club work in the sixth grade. A feature of special interest during the year has been the writing, presenting and publishing of an original play by the present 6B class.

The work is quite closely correlated with the English, geography, history, music, art, health, and physical training.

Library Work in the Primary Grades
It is never too soon to begin interesting children in reading good books. The use of the library table plays an important part in our primary grades. Each reading room has an assortment of books suitable for supplementary reading in that grade. The material in the books ranges from very easy reading to more difficult selections, so that each child may be suited.

As a reward for good work, a pupil is permitted to read at the library table. It is an unusual child who does not strive for this privilege. Each one in the more advanced group in the reading classes, after he has completed the regular lesson, may choose some story from the library books and prepare to read or tell it to the rest of the class at a special period. It is astonishing what a child can do without help. One these cold days the children are eager to spend the time before school takes up at the library table, and they are permitted to do so.

We aim to provide a love for reading that will help solve the leisure problem when the child is older.

Music
In the graded school we endeavor to encourage the children towards a

Spelling
Spelling is one of the most important subjects taught in our public schools. Not only one to be used constantly during the child's entire process of gaining an education but a subject that will be needed his whole life, no matter what his profession or calling in life may be.

Spelling is begun in the second grade and the aims and objectives introduced here are added to in each grade following. Of course, each grade has a definite assignment of words and material to be used in that particular grade.

In the second grade the child is taught to recognize the letters in both print and script. But this is not enough, the child must be able to spell the words aloud or to write them correctly on paper or blackboard. The words must be given their correct and accurate pronunciation.

The third grade continues this work of developing a firm phonetic basis for future work in spelling.

Dictation lessons are given to the pupils at frequent intervals, these exercises using only the words studied before in their spelling lesson.

The aims of the fourth grade are similar to the grades already given, but here we have added the spelling rules I and II and the ability to apply these rules to the spelling words. More attention is also given to the use of the spelling words in every day conversation and composition.

Here the pupils are often required to make their own sentences using the words of that particular day's lesson.

The children are given a short period for study from their spelling books, then the words are spelled aloud by different pupils indicated by the teacher with the books open.

The books are now closed and returned to their places in the desks. Paper is then distributed to the pupils for the spelling lesson. The paper is numbered for the words and the pupils place his own name on the paper.

The teacher then pronounces the word distinctly while the pupils listen. Then the pupils pronounce the word aloud, the teacher again says the word.

It is now time for the pupils to write the words on their own paper. This process is repeated until the entire lesson has been given to the pupils.

The papers are now passed forward to the front of the room and collected. These are corrected by the teacher and returned to the pupils the next day. Each pupil keeps a list of the words he has misspelled and uses this list for review.

In some of the classrooms you will find the papers that have been correctly and neatly written displayed upon the wall. Sometimes seals in keeping with the season of the year are placed upon the best papers.

The grades are now interested in seeing which grade can obtain the greatest number of perfect papers. The score is placed upon the blackboard beside the grade.

Letter Writing

Letter writing constitutes about all the writing most of the pupils do after leaving school. Instruction in letter writing is begun early and continued until the pupils can write correctly each of the different kinds of letters used in correspondence.

The first step is to teach the parts of a letter. A model letter is placed upon the blackboard. Attention is called to the different parts. These are the heading, the salutation, the body, the complimentary close, and the signature. The pupils practice the different parts, watching capital letters and punctuation closely.

The body of the letter is usually the most difficult part for the children. If a topic is suggested, it will help. The first letters should be about one thing only.

The children should be taught how to fold the paper correctly. The folded paper should fit the envelope.

The address on the envelope should be written very plainly. A model of the correct form is placed upon the blackboard. Unruled paper is cut the size and shape of envelopes. The children practice on these until they can write the address plainly and neatly. The best ones have a seal placed in the corner for a stamp and are exhibited on the bulletin board.

The children enjoy writing letters of invitation to other members of the class and receiving the replies.

The letters thanking some one for a gift are favorites also.

Light travels about a million times faster than sound, and therefore we see lightning before we hear thunder. Both are, of course, actually simultaneous.

De Soto Production Shows Big Increase

The demand for the new De Soto Straight Eight, following the exhibition of the car at automobile shows throughout the country, has brought a heavy volume of orders to the factory in Detroit and established a fresh production record for the first month of the year, it is announced by L. G. Peed, general sales manager of the De Soto Motor Corporation. Beginning with the first presentation of the car at New York, orders running to trainloads quantities have been sent in by both the eastern and western sections of the country.

These new orders for the straight eight, which is the lowest-priced eight in the world, are responsible for carrying the total production of eights and sixes for the month well beyond the corresponding month of 1929, when the six alone was produced. The early demand for the new eight, which is a Chrysler creation possessing all of the fine performance characteristics of the six, plus the added power and improvements of the new motor, unstinted body and other features, is also ample proof that public favor is turning to eight-cylinder automobiles. "De Soto production for January this year was twenty per cent higher than it was for January, 1929," Mr. Peed says. "This means that De Soto got off to a flying start for 1930. Of the total production for the month just closed, approximately two-thirds was to meet demands for the new eight."

When, three weeks ago, the new Cadillacs, La Salles and Fleetwoods were introduced, the Cadillac Motor Car Company promised—in these new creations—the greatest chassis value, the greatest body value, and the greatest price value in the motor-car industry today.

That this promise is fulfilled is perfectly apparent to everyone who has become personally familiar with these new Cadillacs and La Salles and had an opportunity to contrast them with those cars which might even remotely be considered competitive.

The present newness of the new Cadillacs and La Salles affects every phase of motor car appearance, performance and appointment.

New designs; lower, longer, racier lines; greater seating capacity; larger, smoother, more flexible V-type, 8-cylinder engines; more speed and power; non-shatterable Security-Plate Glass in all windows, doors and windshields.

A new harmonized steering system, designed by Cadillac engineers, makes these cars amazingly easy to handle. So perfectly does this new harmonized steering system solve the problems arising from low-pressure balloon tires and higher speeds that it eliminates all steering effort and steering strain.

Two special Cadillac-La Salle features

—the quick, quiet, clashless Synchromesh Silent-Shift Transmission and the Safety-Mechanical Four-Wheel Brakes —have been raised to new heights of efficiency, ease of operation and protection.

The new Fisher and Fleetwood bodies are so rich and regal that the average automobile body appears disturbingly inadequate by comparison. Luxurious new special fittings and appointments are everywhere evident in these new Cadillacs and La Salles:

Nothing has been left undone in equipment, finish and appointment to achieve the very utmost in comfort, safety, dependability, driving facility and luxurious environment.

A summing-up of comparisons and contrasts can result in but one conclusion: that these new Cadillacs and La Salles are not only the most highly perfected and completely appointed motor-cars in the industry today, but —what is of even greater importance —that Cadillac, the world's quality-standard, has become also the world's price-value standard by which all other motor-car values must come to be judged. GERMAN SOCIETY STIRRED BY NEWS OF ROYAL MATCH

Impending Wedding Of Princess Ileana To German Count
Is Sensation

By BARON ALBRECHT VON WOLFF
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
BERLIN, Feb. 25.—The engagement of Princess Ileana of Rumania, beautiful daughter of Queen Marie and great-granddaughter of Queen Marie and great-granddaughter of Queen Victoria of England, to the German Count Alexander von Hochberg caused a sensation in German circles.

Count Alexander met Ileana some time ago in Paris and is now in Bucharest, fighting to remove the last obstacles to his love match, which are believed to be mainly of political nature.

The prospective bridegroom, a handsome young man of 25, is the second son of Hans Heinrich, Prince Pless, and his first wife, nee Miss Mary Theresa Cornwallis-West, of the British family, whose husband holds the title of Earl De La Warr. Her sister was the Duchess of Westminster, now Mrs. Fitzpatrick-Lewis.

Princess Pless, once famous for her beauty, was divorced from the prince in 1922. Her memoirs, published recently, met with considerable interest in Germany as well as in England.

Princess Pless' second wife, daughter of the Spanish Marquess de Arcollor, is nearly forty years younger than her husband.

March 4 Set As Pennsylvania Day

Patriotic Exercises Will Be Carried Out In Schools Commemorating Event

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Feb. 25.—Pennsylvania Day, set aside by the Legislative Act of March 9, 1927, as a day for the inspiration of citizens to higher ideals of living and to the securing of a greater knowledge of the history of the Keystone State, will be celebrated this year on March 4.

Patriotic exercises commemorating the day will be held in public schools throughout the state while various other organizations have scheduled ceremonies appropriate to the occasion.

Governor John S. Fisher's proclamation follows:

WHEREAS, the act of March 9th, 1927, provides that it shall be the duty of the Governor annually to issue a proclamation designating March 4th as Pennsylvania Day, to be observed as a patriotic day by the public schools and the citizens of the Commonwealth;

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, John S. Fisher, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby designate and appoint Tuesday, the 4th of March, 1930, as Pennsylvania Day, to be observed by the public schools and the citizens of the Commonwealth by appropriate exercises.

"I especially recommend that in the public schools the exercises shall have reference to the granting of the Charter to Pennsylvania by King Charles II of England to William Penn; to the foundations of liberty to all peoples as embodied in Penn's Charters and the Laws of his Province; and to the spirit and devotion of the early immigrants who came here at his invitation to build a great Commonwealth. The intent of the General Assembly in authorizing this special day is to inspire our people to higher ideals of living, to loftier aspirations of patriotism and to a greater knowledge of and an increased devotion to the history of Pennsylvania."

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 25

Deductions for depreciation form an important item in the returns of many taxpayers, and are the subject of frequent inquiries. "Depreciation" is defined as "a reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in the trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence."

In claiming a deduction for depreciation, several fundamental principles must be observed. The deduction must be confined to property actually used in trade, business, profession, or vocation. In general, it applies to the taxpayer's capital assets—buildings, machinery, etc.—the cost of which can not be deducted as a business expense.

Depreciation may be claimed on all business property, which includes not only buildings and machinery of a permanent character, but automobiles, farm tractors, mine and mill equipment, office furniture, and books. A lawyer, doctor, or other professional man may not charge off as a current expense the cost of a library used wholly in his profession, this being a capital expenditure and the library a capital asset. But he may deduct an allowance for depreciation based upon the useful life of the library.

FORD METHOD OF CUTTING COSTS

As a result of Ford Motor Company's twenty seven years experience in manufacture and sale of economical transportation, people throughout the world are generally familiar with Ford methods of cutting manufacturing costs. By Ford's acquisition of natural resources and manufacture of products used in the automobile, production costs have been lowered, and the public has received greater and greater value at no extra cost—frequently at lowered cost.

In an interview today, Max Ludwig, president of the Shenango Motor Company explained how Ford's policy of lowered costs has been effected in the field of distribution as well as production. In other words, Ford unwilling to see hard earned savings in the manufacture of the automobile sacrificed by excessive selling costs. Every purchaser of an automobile has the right to know how much of his money goes for the car itself and how much is taken by dealers charges. Today, according to Mr. Ludwig, the Ford dealers margin of discount is lower than any time in the history of Ford Motor Car Company. This means a savings of from $50.00 to $75.00 to every purchaser, in addition to the many economies made possible in the manufacture of the car. As a result of this economic plan, Ford prices are not increased to allow for excessive trade in allowances on used cars.

Today, the discount or commission of the Ford dealer is the lowest of any automobile dealer, and the difference comes right off the price paid for the car.

Hupmobile Has Speedy Pick-up

Occupying the spotlight among six-cylinder cars this year is the Hupmobile Model "S"—the first six-cylinder Hupmobile built to sell in the $1,000 price class.

The new Hupmobile six is built in two large, modern plants in Cleveland. It is wholly Hupmobile-built. Some outstanding features include generous seat and leg room, a power plant that is an advance even over the Century Six motor, new type controls and that modern beauty for which Hupmobiles have become noted.

The engine has been redesigned and refined to provide greater power and acceleration. Its performance is noteworthy. It easily reaches and maintains 70 miles an hour and accelerates from 5 to 25 miles an hour in seven seconds and from 5 to 50 miles an hour in 20 seconds. Throughout the entire speed range the constancy of its acceleration rate is marked. The engine is of the L-head type with certain constructional advantages which release new floods of power and make possible its outstanding acceleration. It develops 70 horsepower from its 211.6 cubic inches of displacement.

Fable: There once was a pedestrian who looked to right and left before crossing a street. He was run down by a truck backing out of an alley behind him. Moral: Janus, of mythological fame, could open a right thrifty in all these modern days.—The New London Day.

Bo-Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Paul McCullough, appearing with Bobby Clarke in "Strike Up the Band," heard recently that there ever was a jokster known as Joe Miller. Having spent years in vaudeville, on the musical comedy stage and in Hollywood, Paul knew different. He instituted a search and recently came into possession of a book published in London in 1739 entitled "Joe Miller's Jests."

He says he'll be glad to let Broadway columnists consult this precious volume, but he won't permit them to take it out of his sight. He doesn't want to give any one of them, he says, undue advantage over the rest.

Again I say: "It's a wisecrack that knows its own author."

"HISTORIAN OF THE FEMALE HEART"

You don't need me to tell you that Balzac was the historian of the female heart. That isn't original. I read it somewhere.

Once, Gautier asked him—I won't insult you by telling you Gautier was—Gautier asked him what sort of relations a literary man should have with women.

I don't know whether the occasion was a star party, a club smoker or a literary tea. But that's what Gautier asked Balzac. And here is what the master of French fiction replied:

"One should only write of women. That helps to improve one's style." Whether he meant "one's style" with women, or one's literary style has always been a moot point.

If you're interested in stuff like this—Balzac and Gautier and literary wisecracks—spend five bucks for a book called "Balzac: Man and Lover," by Francis Gribble, E. P. Dutton & Co.

Francis slices up the eminent Parisian penman's emotions as dispassionately as a boarding house keeper ladies' gray at Sunday dinner. No muss and no fuss.

WHEN BREAKS GO AGAINST YOU Speaking of gray, Dutton has another classy new book on the market, called "Wishbone," written by a man who calls himself Stirling Bowen. When Bowen isn't grinding out stuff for Dutton, Stirling earns his artichokes and Mocha as Drammer Danner for the Wall Street Journal.

His book deals with men and women who haven't had as good a break in life as they might have had—good losers, who take the show as the wishbone breaks. As he looks at it, "If the flange stays on the prong of the wishbone you're levering you win; but if the break is against you, it's no excuse for tears."

As John Joseph McGraw put it: "The team that gets the breaks will win the series."

It's a tough job to do a book of frustrations, as has Stirling Bowen, without being leaky and lachrymose.

NOT FICTION

A man stepped into a New York lawyer's office the other day, consulted him on a fake case and at the end of the negotiations handed the Blackstone Brother a phony check for $201, requested and receiving a dollar in change. Then going forth, he bilked 34 other barristers in similar fashion.

Proving that the narrative of the rabbit spitting in the bulldog's face isn't altogether fiction.

IT DOESN'T DINE TONIGHT Antoinette (Tony) Tokaytan, wife of the tenor, murmured acceptance of an invitation over the phone, on an invitation to dinner by a prominent Long Island hostess.

"And you might ask Mr. Tokaytan to bring his music with him." "Sorry, my dear woman," sighed Mrs. Tony, "but Mr. Tokaytan's music doesn't eat tonight!"

Cash Value On Wife's Love Assessed By British Court

LONDON, Feb. 25. — What is the cash value of a wife? This was the knotty problem which worried Judge Hill in high court when he heard three cases in which divorce petitioning husbands claimed damages against correspondents for the loss of their wives.

In the first case a clergyman was the petitioner. The Rev. Lancelot Reed, former minor canon in Windsor Castle and now chaplain of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company in the Persian Gulf, was awarded $1,000 damages and a decree against his wife, who committed misconduct.

In the second case $3,000 damages and a decree was given Leonard Hamilton Stokes, attached to the British embassy in Rome, for his wife's misconduct.

The judge pointed out that damages could not be awarded by way of punishment, but only to assess the value of the loss of a wife's society.

Cadillac-La Salle Display At Show

Refinement in luxury is the keynote of the Cadillac, LaSalle and Fleetwood presentation for the New Castle auto show this year. Not only is this apparent in the bodies and interiors of the cars, but it has been carried through the entire mechanism with the result that the maximum of comfort, safety, speed and relaxation in travel is obtained.

The models on display are roomier and more comfortable than ever before. They are powered by enlarged and refined V-type eight cylinder engines and, in addition to vastly improved flexibility and handling ease, they possess many advantages and exclusive safety features.

They are equipped with the silent-shift synchro-mesh transmission which renders gear-shifting quick, quiet and classless; they have non-shatterable plate glass in all windows, doors and windshields and their brakes are of the Cadillac-designed safety mechanical four wheel type which are powerful positive and instantly responsive.

These are only a few of the distinctive new features to be found in these new models.

CARNIVAL PARADE IN GERMAN TOWN

MUNSTER, Feb. 25. — For the first time since 1913 there will be a carnival parade in Munster on "Rose Monday," the Monday between Quinquagesima Sunday and Shrove Tuesday which comes this year on March 3.

Painting the body as a form of ornament is widespread among savage races.

Wild Fowl Find Refuge On Farm

PARIS, Texas, Feb. 25. — Wild geese so elusive to thousands of hunters are so tame to J. C. Gambill farmer that he could kill them with a stick if he so desired.

Each winter for the past four or five years Gambill has been feeding wild geese and ducks which have found his farm a place of refuge as well as a feeding ground. These birds on their southward or northward pilgrimage each season are acquainted with this haunt, fly high until reaching the farm and then circle downward and come to rest in the wheat fields.

In a somewhat amusing manner they await here their master's call and proceed to his yard to receive grain thrown from his hands. He explains their comparative fearlessness in saying that the wild fowl have never been frightened by gun fire and consequently have learned his farm is safe.

During the migration season he feeds corn to hundreds of birds twice each day. He tamed several geese and ducks but rarely keeps the latter because they fly so low and are killed by nearby hunters.

His 3 "Dying Babies" Prove To Be Kittens

ATLANTIC CITY, Feb. 25. — When the terrified voice of a man shouted "My three children have been poisoned" over the telephone to Captain of Detectives Emmanuel Eckstein the latter tracing the call sent a squad of four detectives a surgeon and an ambulance to 15 South Arkansas avenue, home of Benedetto in a state of collapse unable to talk.

The detectives found Benedetto pointing to the closed door of a bedroom. The detectives pushed open the door and on the bed saw in the throes of death three six weeks old kittens.

"My babies, my babies!" Benedetto sobbed. The policemen glowered at him and fled the house.

Women Are Called Aviation Hindrance

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 25. — Women are the greatest hindrances to the progress of aviation in the United States says Miss Amelia Earhart, who achieved fame by becoming the first woman to fly across the Atlantic ocean and retain her reputation by continuing exploits in the field of aviation.

Speaking here before the Huntery club at a luncheon recently Miss Earhart one of the few women who has gained a transport pilot license blamed her own sex for retarding the development of aviation through their fear. Their fear is not so much for themselves as it is for their husbands or families, the famous woman flier said.

As to women filling the positions as pilots I cannot see any reason why they would not be as capable as men. Of course with only a hundred or so who have the coveted pilot's license it is not fair to draw a comparison between their accomplishments with those of the men pilots who far outnumber them" Miss Earhart said.

When women's resistance to having their loved ones use the airplane for traveling is removed then aviation will find its proper place in these United States the trans-Atlantic flier stated.

Woman Killer Of Rival Gets Bail

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Feb. 25. — Charged with slaying a woman in a theater here Saturday night, Mrs. Lily Ratcliff, 40, was released under $10,000 bond today for the May term of court after having spent two days in jail.

The victim of the shooting, Mrs. Mabel Atwood, 28, was shot three times while sitting in a theater with Clay Ratcliff, husband of the woman charged with the slaying.

Ratcliff is under bond of $100 for a hearing Wednesday charged with assault and battery upon his 20-year-old daughter, Arlita Ratcliff.

53 Years A Soldier; Army Man Praised

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 25. — Berthold Rey, who started his service with the United States Army before most colonels and majors now in the Army were born, has received congratulations from Major General John L. Hines upon the completion of fifty-three years service.

His imagination fired by Custer's campaigns against the Sioux Indians, Rey left his home in Philadelphia at the age of 18, and enlisted as a private at Ft. Russell, Wyoming in January, 1877. He saw active service against the Cheyenne Indians two years later and came to know such famous characters as "Buffalo Bill" Cody and Frank Girard, a famous Indian guide.

After 15 years service as a soldier, Rey was transferred to the civil service branch. He has served under twenty-six generals.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Use Of Money Reward May Be Wise At Times

Yesterday we saw some cases in which a toy as a reward seemed very desirable. We saw how well it worked in leading a certain child to have no dread of the dentist. But, suppose you always have to give rewards to get results. Then you have failed. But, you don't have to keep on with rewards well used. Gradually the child gets other satisfaction in his own achievement, in his own approval, and the approval of other children and adults. Going to the dentist, for example, just becomes a mere incident, which is taken for granted. So it has worked with the child described.

What about giving money as a reward? Sometimes it is justified. A certain child of seven earned a cent for every day that he took cod liver oil without having been reminded. He was merely paid for carrying a specific responsibility which his parents had been carrying for him.

Suppose you are awarding a star to the child of five who will send himself off to bed at night at a designated hour by the clock. The stars will have more pulling power if, for a certain number of them, say five, he earns a more attractive symbol, so many of which in time bring a penny or a nickel. In a reward system there must, as a rule, be graduations upwards to make it work. Money, or its equivalent, frequently is a powerful magnet at the upper end of the series.

But a reward to be useful must work. It must make the child do the thing he is supposed to do. If it doesn't, harm has been done, since its failure makes its future application ineffectual and tends to cause punishment. To shift suddenly from rewards to punishments usually is hazardous. (Think this through in your own experiences.) And to turn from punishment to reward is just childish. Imagine yourself, for example, after failing to force a child to do something, humbly begging him to do it or offering him a bribe. Rewards generally degenerate to bribes in instances where punishments had been vainly tried, or threatened.

Rewards which are unexpected usually prove most powerful. To praise a child of four or of 14 for some specific good behavior or achievement, or to give him a dime or a quarter then as a surprise, may do more to make him want to do right and to strive than scores of penalties and admonitions.

In our home I should not think of paying our two older children for washing the dishes at the summer camp, or for washing them on Sunday, after dinner, so as to let the maid go early. They understand these jobs to be theirs to do. But there are a few irregular jobs for which they do get paid in a very definite fashion.

Whether we should ever offer money for school grades is questionable. The prevailing practice in so doing is very bad. Jealousies are stirred up. Some children are paid for the brains of their dead grandparents and not for their own efforts, and a few grow overanxious about grades, at any price. Nevertheless, a half dollar may mean to an occasional child the difference between indolence and industry, between passing his grade or repeating it.

Whenever school progress is rewarded by money the reward should be on the basis of improvement so as to stimulate the child to compete with himself. If, for instance, he earned a grade of C last term, and a grade of B this term, he might be rewarded for the improvement. Any child, then, however slow, would have the opportunity to win reward. In order not to discourage another child of the same family earning high grades there could be some reward, also, for each grade held from term to term.

Tomorrow: George Washington the man.

Studebaker Eights Demonstrate Economy

That unusual gasoline economy has been developed by Studebaker engineers in eight-cylinder automobiles has been demonstrated by road tests in 23 widely separated cities.

The tests, supervised throughout by automobile club officials, were made with strictly stock Studebaker Dictator Eights. These 23 cars averaged 16.9 miles per gallon of gasoline under normal driving conditions and demonstrated conclusively the amazing economy of the Dictator Eight.

Regular gasoline tanks were disconnected and special glass containers mounted where they were constantly under the scrutiny of observers. In the presence of checking officials, a measured gallon of gasoline was poured into the container; then with motor club officials as passengers, the cars were taken over a representative route until the gasoline was completely exhausted.

The container was then again filled and the car driven back over the same road. By observing mileage both ways, a fair average was obtained, influenced by wind velocity, down grades, etc., which might have affected the result had only the "out" trip been used as a basis for computation. The cars used were stock in every detail, and the gasoline was of the grade ordinarily used by the motoring public.

Cities in which these tests were conducted included Atlanta, Boston, Buffalo, Charlotte, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dallas, Detroit, Jacksonville, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Memphis, New York, Omaha, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Portland, St. Louis, St. Paul, San Francisco, South Bend and Washington—a representative cross section of every conceivable driving condition.

Deaths Boosted By Jaywalking

Figures For 1929 In City Show 78 Traffic Fatalities Were Of Careless Pedestrian

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 25.—Seventy-eight of the 121 pedestrians killed in traffic during 1929 were jaywalking, according to a complete analysis of traffic fatality figures for last year recently completed by Director James M. Clary and Traffic Engineer B. W. Marsh.

"Some people seem to believe," Clary commented, "that jaywalking is a safer practice for the pedestrian than crossing streets at intersections. A careful analysis of traffic fatality figures does not bear out this contention. Of the people killed in traffic in Pittsburgh last year, care upon the part of pedestrians in not jaywalking would have eliminated 78 of the fatalities."

Other figures of the department of public safety showed that there was an increase of 18 per cent in the total number of traffic deaths and of 71 per cent in the number of children fatally injured. Street cars were involved in 19 traffic fatalities and taxicabs in 10.

Canadians Snare Terror Of Deer Herd

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 25.—A large gray wolf, which for months has terrorized the large herds of deer roaming through Algonquin Park, is dead. Traps had been set in vain until it appeared he would never be caught.

Jim Shields, chief park ranger, finally outwitted the wolf by placing a cunningly laid trap fastened to a four-inch pole. Visiting this snare one day, Shields found the trap gone. The wolf had gnawed through the thick pole and taken the trap away with him. Shields and his assistants followed the trail and after twenty-seven miles of tramping came upon the body of the wolf with the trap still fast to its foreleg.

POLICE OF CUBA PLAN DRIVE ON CROOKS

HAVANA, Feb. 25.—Police headquarters are making plans to break up a band of international crooks expected to invade Cuba with the coming of the American tourist season. Last season a band of crooks came with the crowds of winter visitors and the police succeeded in recovering about $20,000 from the light-fingered gentry, who were arrested and skipped their bonds as soon as released.

Warnings from American police headquarters of the visits of members of the same gang have put the authorities here on their guard, photographs and descriptions being on file in the archives.

American Teaching Modern Farming Methods To Turks

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Feb. 25.—In a recent trip to Aintab, Turkey, from Constantinople, Harold T. Pence, agricultural missionary under the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, presented Turkish agriculturists with a Holstein heifer and a blue-blooded bull, gifts of Eastern Holstein breeders. One of the bull's ancestors sold for $35,000 and a cow in the same line for $25,000. Two cows in this same family each produced over 1000 pounds of butter fat within a year.

The principal industry of Turkey being agriculture, Pence is attempting to create a scientific method of farming, especially in the interior of the country, where it is greatly needed. The Turkish government realizing the great need of modern methods has warmly welcomed agricultural missionaries of the board. Gradually the native farmers have ceased to shake their heads over the "crazy American" and are watching him, fascinated and endeavoring to follow his example.

The raising of bees, another Turkish industry, is also being improved on by the missionary.

Use of the ancient plow, a crooked stick made to scratch the earth, long in practice by the majority of Turkish farmers, is now dying out, and a plow called "Hindoostan" a combination of the old and new is being successfully introduced. This combines the modern steel plow with the accustomed method of using oxen as a motive power.

Scientific knowledge and friendly instruction given in a sympathetic way is accomplishing much in the needs of the Turkish farmer, according to the board.

Pence is a University of California man and has been with the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions since 1927.

Should Observe Key Rules Of Healthy Life To Be Happy

"There never was a time in man's history when happiness was so persistently and energetically sought as it is today. Commercialized pleasures are doing a land office business, resorts are crowded, business has been stepped up to a sixty-mile-an-hour pace that more and yet more money can be made, average homes contain comforts that palaces lacked a few years ago, and pleasant living is now almost as common as sunshine on the desert," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, State Secretary of Health, today.

"And there is no desire to cast any aspersions upon this situation. Indeed, everyone should be thankful that life is so generously attractive as it is today. However, it is noticeable that many persons are placing these extraneous matters at the head of the list whereas health should occupy first place. It stands to reason that those who have achieved a fat bank account, a lovely home and the leisure to enjoy travel are not going to get out of these things what they should if in the attainment vigor and vitality have been lost.

"Again, the more humble of us will be as definitely handicapped in our daily lives and pleasures if we have permitted our desire to be happy to deprive us of the fundamental requirements that the body demands.

"It should not be forgotten that while happiness is a most worth while object, the place to find it is within one's self. And in this connection, it is as many people sought health with one-tenth the avidity that they seek happiness the crop of really happy people would increase prodigiously.

"Strict and daily observance of the key rules of healthy life is neither an involved nor a painful process. True, it will remove foolish practices, consistently late hours, habitually over-eaten stomachs, a persistent disregard of exercise and a painfully sustained top-speed. But after all, what good are these things compared to vigorous health and joyful life.

"Appreciate the pleasures of the day, certainly. But put health on the highest pedestal and keep it there. By so doing you can truly prophesy in the words of the popular song, 'Then I'll Be Happy.' And, it may be truthfully added, only then!"

PACKARD CARS ARE ON DISPLAY

The display of Packard cars by the J. R. Rick Motor Car Co., at the New Castle Auto Show will consist of representative types of its new cars which were introduced first in the fall. Packard has three distinct lines of cars, the Standard Eight, Custom Eight and DeLuxe Eight. In addition there are the individual Custom Eight types.

There are 11 different body types in each of the three lines with bodies made in Packard's own body factories, and four different wheelbases.

The five-passenger Standard Eight sedan is mounted on a chassis with a wheelbase of 127 1-2 inches, and the other 10 models of the Standard Eight line have a wheelbase of 134 1-2 inches. All models of the Custom Eight line have a wheelbase of 140 1-2 inches, and the DeLuxe Eight models are on a chassis with a wheelbase of 145 1-2 inches.

Close inspection of the Packards will show that a host of new details have been worked into the cars to add to beauty, convenience or comfort.

Chambers Company Sees Big Auto Year

Record-breaking crowds at the automobile shows over the country indicate retail business in the motor industry will continue on a highly satisfactory basis during 1930, according to information received by The Chambers Motor Co., Chrysler distributor here, from officials of the Chrysler Corporation, who have made surveys at the leading exhibits.

"The public doesn't pay an admission to automobile shows just to look around," said Mr. T. E. Chambers. The majority of people come because they are interested in the purchase of a motor car, and they want the unusual opportunity to compare values of competitive makes.

"The improved models offered at the shows this year establish record-breaking buying opportunities wherever shows are held. More prospects are being obtained and more sales being closed on the floor than at any previous show time. Everywhere the public is carefully weighing values and comparing unique features offered by the manufacturer.

"While it is impossible at this time to give an accurate number of sales growing out of the various shows, a preliminary check-up indicates that Chrysler sales are from 50 to 100 per cent greater than last year. New York reports the biggest sales in three years, and similar reports come from Boston, Springfield, Mass., and Newark, N. J.

"The majority of deliveries during the first quarter will be attributable to the automobile shows and in the case of Chrysler, shipments of cars from the factory to supply this demand will represent a most satisfactory volume."

Forests Creep Back Toward North Pole

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 25.—Logging in the shadow of the North pole is only a matter of time.

The growth toward the North is not limited by climatic conditions declares Robert Marshall United States Forestry service, but is simply due to the fact that such vegetation has not recovered the ground lost when swept away during the glacial period.

It will be slow, slow process, but surely tree growth is being established again on the Arctic slope, asserts the scientist. Together with Al Retzlaf, forestry expert, Marshall spent a summer in the Koyukuk and Kobuk River region of Northwest Alaska, studying the stunted tree growth.

They spent hours on their hands and knees peering at the tiny specimens of spruce, hemlock and balsam struggling to hold against the winter racketer of the Far North. Both coniferous trees are advancing northward and will some day recover the barrens as in preglacial eras.

Aroused At Loss Of Checker Game, Aged Man Routs Bandit

ORANGE, Calif., Feb. 25.—G. M. Bay, local dairyman is well past 80 years of age but recently he was not inclined to be the genial old gentleman his neighbors knew.

Bay had just lost a game of checkers to one of his old time chums and on the way home a bandit made the mistake of accosting him. Bay went into action and the highwayman fled with Bay, despite his years in hot pursuit. He failed to get his man but did get the license number of the man's car and immediately notified the police.

After tracing the number the officers went to the alleged highwayman's home and knocked at the door. The man was observed slipping out of a side window in his underclothing, climbed over a fence and disappeared. Orange police request that any one knowing the whereabouts of a man dressed only in his nether garments notify them immediately.

Girl Hobo, 14, Rides Boxcars 1,000 Miles

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 25.—A hobo, for 1,000 miles, in boxcars. A chambermaid for five weeks in a hotel at $8 a week. An abused child, victim of an unsympathetic stepfather. All of these Martine Miller, 14, of Dayton, Tenn., has been, and now is an inmate of the Juvenile Court home in Memphis.

Weariness of mistreatment by a stepfather, she left her home at Dayton. There Ben Reed, the stepfather, was a farmer in the mountains. The mother, receiving little support for four children, "worked out" as scrub-woman, washerwoman, cook and anything else that offered, Martine said.

Clad in woolen trousers and a lumberjacket, she caught a westbound freight train out of Dayton. She went to Blufford, Ill., where she worked as chambermaid and scullery maid in a hotel. She wrote her mother and last week learned that her mother and stepfather had separated and that she might return home. She was on her way home when special agents of the Illinois Central railroad took her out of a boxcar.

SHE'LL SEE TO THAT "Mummy, can all angels fly?" "Yes, darling." "But cook can't fly and daddy calls her his little angel." "No, but she will fly, dear."—Nebelspalter, Zurich.

Driller Ends Life When Health Fails

CLARION, Pa., Feb. 25.—Ernest Uttinger, 52, ended his life by blowing the top off his head with a shotgun at the home of John Mong, a brother-in-law, near Kossuth. He was an oil well driller and had been employed in the Bradford field for some time. Three weeks ago he was forced to give up work on account of ill health and had made his home with Mong since that time. Worry over ill health is given as the cause.

Great Swedish Fair Will Open Next May

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 25.—A minimum of $2,500,000 visitors is expected for the big Stockholm exhibition from May to September, 1930, according to

Dr. Borje Brillioth, head of the press and foreign relations department of the exhibition.

The preparatory work on the exhibition grounds at Djurgården—the old deer park of the Swedish dynasty—within the precincts of Stockholm—is progressing satisfactorily and it is hoped that everything will be ready in the spring. In accordance with the official designation of the exposition as an exhibition of arts, crafts and home industries every attempt will be made to give visitors as complete a survey of what Sweden produces in these fields as is possible. The exhibits are intended to demonstrate the best results of Swedish technique in industrial and decorative art.

UNIONTOWN, Feb. 25.—Because she kept her fingers crossed during her marriage ceremony, Mrs. Mary Frances Wilson of Connelville told her husband that she had a right to break her marriage vows, according to testimony given by Davis Wilson, a P. & L. E. railroad conductor, who formerly resided at Newell, but who now lives at Uniontown. The husband, who was granted a divorce, said that when he objected to his wife's conduct she gave him the "crossed-finger" alibi.

Wilson declared that his wife's goodbye each morning when he left home for work was the hope that he would be ground to pieces before the day's work ended.

You Never Can Tell Who'll Buy a Car!

I AM an automobile salesman—and continued to wear off the plush have been for some years. My job is to stand in one of those glass and marble palaces and receive the visitors who are thinking about buying a car. When a prospect comes through the door I or one of the other men greet him, show him the various models, explain their merits, arrange for a demonstration and finally make the sale.

That's the story of my job in a few words, but it's not the whole of it—not by a darned sight. Everyone seems to be interested in automobiles—it doesn't matter whether they have a cent or not, they come in all the same.

"Rainbows."

Some of these people—"rainbows," we call them—put on a swagger front and tell how they are going to get a car within the week. They are simply trying to make up their mind, they say. But we know better. We can tell that sort of bird the moment we lay eyes on him. Don't ask how it is done. It's a kind of sixth sense. You get it with experience.

About a year ago a man came in here. None paid much attention to him. He wore boots—real rubber affairs reaching to the knees; his dungarees were crying for intimate relationship with a laundry. Lots of professional hoboes look more respectable. The salesman who was "on the floor" and who had the privilege of taking that customer, yawned time. I had just arrived from another city in a Pullman sleeper and having time to burn, decided to go to the agency instead of bumming around in the station. I had scarcely arrived when I saw two rough-looking men pounding on the glass beckoning. I went to the door and asked what they wanted. "We want to buy a car," they said. I showed them around and in ten minutes had sold a car costing $2,500.

"When can we have it?" they asked.

"At once," I replied.

Some Customers Are Wise.

One of the men thereupon dug down in his pockets and pulled forth the largest roll of bills I have ever seen. It seems that they, too, had just arrived in town on a Pullman sleeper, and bought a car at the first agency they could get into. They were miners.

These days you don't have to do much talking to sell a car. The people seem to know as much about the motor vehicle you are selling as you do yourself. Our biggest job is to land a prospect who has never driven a car. His head is full of all kinds of ideas.

The Trade-In Is Difficult.

As I have already mentioned, you don't have to do much talking to sell a machine to an experienced driver. But you reserve all your extra hot air to arrange the trade-in. There is one of the bugaboos of the business. The best brains have mullied the matter over without coming to a satisfactory conclusion. In my opinion—if that counts for anything—the automobile business will never entirely eliminate the trade-in. If every dealer refuses to take in old cars there would be an immediate and decided slump. People are too thrifty to send a good car to the junk pile and the ordinary person seems to be unable to sell his car himself.

Our greatest difficulty lies in the fact that the owner has an inflated idea as to the value and worth of his old bus. Take it from me, the best salesmen we meet are men with old cars to trade in. We hear the same old story day after day. Their car is working better than when they bought it. They would not think of selling it if the wife did not want a closed model. The moment we tell them how much we can give for their old machine they go up in the air. "Why, I'd break it up with a hatchet" or "I'd drive it into the river first," are two of their choice remarks.

I have never seen or never heard of anyone who has carried out his threat. Usually they think over the matter, consult a couple of other dealers and finally turn in their cars just as meekly as you please. To shop around with the old automobile is a common thing. Since the value of a second-hand car is a great deal of a matter of opinion, every agency is likely to make a different offer.

It seems to me that people never know their own mind. Its often difficult to keep a car sold. One day you land an order and the next afternoon the purchaser calls up on the phone, saying that he is going to cancel his order. He has had business reverses or maybe he can't get his wife reconciled to the idea of riding in our kind of car.

Wages Not Unusual.

As to pay, it is nothing unusual. Your ordinary salesman makes from $3,000 to $5,000 a year and there are a couple in the city who pull down from $8,000 to $10,000, but they are the exceptional ones. These figures are regardless of sort of car. If he handles large automobiles he sells a smaller number, while if he sells small ones, the number sold is greater. Thus the business done by either class of salesman is about the same—dollar for dollar.

AS A TRADE-IN I COULD ONLY ALLOW YOU A DOLLAR SIXTY ON THIS DISSIPATED PUDDLE JUMPER!

CLOTHES DON'T COUNT—YOU CAN NEVER TELL WHO IS GOING TO BUY—

general. Then go and see any of the favored few.

Some years ago when hard dancing contests were popular, the judges were placed underneath the stage. This insured an impartial decision, as they were forced to use their ears instead of their eyes, and had no means of knowing the order in which the contestants appeared.

Back and Wing Returning.

And buck and wing, nearly always done in wooden soles, is coming back. Tom Patricola and Martha Morton are an outstanding hit in a current Broadway revue with their hard shoe specialty, and another nationally known production is glorifying the American girl.

Always remember that the present top-notchers will not rely forever, so try your hand at discovering their future successors. Many earnest, hard-working girls are on their way from the subway to the limousine circuit. Not enough of them to suit the stage directors, who are adult Oliver Twists when it comes to demanding more, but there are sufficient to show that the old copy-book maxim, "practice makes perfect," is still respected.

Scouting for Talent.

In one well-known ballet there is a lithe, dark-haired girl known simply as Rosette, who was immediately branded as a comer. Ballet training is exhaustive, and while achieving collective perfection usually succeeds in smothering individuality. Nevertheless, Rosette, still in her teens, has registered so emphatically in both solo and chorus work that it will not be long before she is well upstream.

The discovery of a new hooper leads to mad scrambling among the producers. One Broadway revue was bemoaning the loss of its principal dancer to the movies, when the manager happened to drop in at a small theater one evening. The result was that Edna Covey, an unknown, was transplanted to Forty-second street and advertised in larger type than some of the featured comedians.

ness and intricacy of Pat Rooney's buck and wing, the machine-like perfection of George White, the ease of Joseph Santley and the marvelous originality of Harland Dixon, formerly the better half of Doyle and Dixon, the smoothest dancing team that ever stepped its way into popularity. Dixon has contributed something distinctly new to the world of dancing. His steps are indisputably his own and his stiff-legged method of working, combined with a perfect sense of timing and balance, has made him the foremost eccentric dancer of his day.

If your favorite is not in the above list don't be downhearted. He, or she, may be an excellent entertainer, an accomplished singer or possess a pleasing personality, and still be unable to make the grade as an exceptional dancer.

Basis for Criticism.

The only true basis for criticism is comparison. The next time you see main supreme. None of the newer work comes anywhere near the neat-

FAKERS VS. ARTISTS IN FANCY DANCING

SUPPOSE you were a stenographer. Would you praise a girl who could manipulate the keys of a typewriter at amazing speed, and yet turn out a letter that was mere gibberish?

Would you be impressed by a man whose strokes at tennis were as fast as lightning if every shot went out of court?

Yet both of these examples would look good to the casual or uninitiated eye.

That is the trouble with stage dancing today. It looks good, but it really is pretty much of a farce. Audience have been educated to applaud mere agility and exertion, apparently believing that perspiration is an infallible sign of genius. When eyes seldom leave the ground. They are interested only in feet.

Rhythm, Harmony and Grace.

While bowing to the popular demand for the latest craze, they decry the "Charleston," with its ungainly hopping and stampings, as no more belonging in the realm of Terpsichore than does a Zulu war dance.

In like manner they ridicule "interpretive stuff" as a meretricious collection of preposterous poses, which, however, can be made into quite a spectacle by the use of mechanical effects.

These experts are unanimous in the declaration that real dancing must have rhythm, harmony and grace. Acrobatics set to music, aimless shoulder-shaking and finger-school to the wild abandon of the Russians. Miss Lea is famous for her flowing waltz and her remarkable kicking.

Watch her closely the next time you see her. From a foam of skirts a lashing sidewise kick will end behind her shoulder instead of in front of it. You rub your eyes, but she does it again and you are convinced.

Taller than the average girl, her work is all the more striking and, combined with her talent in handling ingenue parts, stamps her as something even better than "the most thoroughly schooled dancer in the business." Next time you want to learn something, ladies, pass up Olga Offolitch, from Odessa, and see Emilie Lea, of Houston, Tex.

performers found that they could get away with anything showy the deterioration began, for practice was abandoned.

Real Dancers Are Scarce.

In an age when almost everyone is jolting, wiggling, undulating and jumping about, real dancers shine forth from the mob like Miss Liberty's torch on a foggy night. For, strange as it may seem, with dance halls filled to overflowing and applicants for the chorus tumbling over one another, good dancers are scarcer than ever before, and managers will go to any extreme to corral a new discovery.

Who is your favorite dancer, and why has she captured your fancy? Are you sure your judgment hasn't been clouded by a pretty face, an attractive costume, a lilting tune and a magnificent set of scenery? What would the men who know, those weary-eyed facially expressionless stage directors, say of your chosen one? Beauty and clothes make little impression on these men, for their snapping can never come under such a heading. The unfinished kick and the slipshod shuffle are roaming wild over our stages, but once in a while an expert can rest his eyes by watching one of the select circle.

"Well, then," shout Mr. and Mrs. Public, "who are these inhabitants of the inner shrine? Trot 'em out and let's have a look." Easily and quickly answered, for Stageland hands its laurels to the following "hoofers":

Favorites.

The Dolly Twins, for harmony and daintiness. The sisters are head and shoulders above all other women teams and have held their position for a dozen years. Comparison only enhances their Unquestioned ability.

Louise Groody, for piquancy and charm. Miss Groody, though her range is a rather narrow one, is faultless in her chosen line. She excels in working in front of a chorus, almost a lost art nowadays, and is the popular model for musical comedy heroines.

Emilie Lea, whose work approximates perfection and is the despair of imitators. No one has ever approached the effortless ease and grace of her dancing, which ranges from the close, intricate style of the Italian

For sheer show-stopping ability, Mabel Elaine stands first among all women dancers. Mabel is the girl who worked opposite McIntyre and Heath for so many seasons, but blackface couldn't obscure her light.

An expert in the soft shoe work made famous by the late George Primrose, she is also that rarity, a triple-tap hard shoe dancer.

You cannot fake in hard shoe work—your steps or taps telegraph themselves to the ears of the audience—if you slip, everyone knows it. A single tap may be likened to a single beat on a kettle drum—a triple tap resembles a roll on the same drum. It is to hard-shoe dancing what trilling is to singing. There are not two dozen first-class triple tappers on the stage today, but audiences, prone to mistake mere effort for ability, have been more lavish in their applause to the contortionistic school of dance fakers.

Mabel Elaine, however, outdancing the fastest choruses, puts her work across with a bang and more than any one else has compelled recognition of wooden shoe work.

True Poetry of Motion.

Pearl Regay, whose naturally free and untrammelled style is the true nasts in the country.

Dorothy Stone, daughter of a famous father, doesn't know the meaning of faking a step. True, she has copied her father, but how many successful imitators of Fred Stone have you ever seen? Little Miss Stone, at the threshold of her career, is well enough equipped to lead her own company.

Eccentric dancers among the women are rare, Rita Owin easily leading the field. This young woman is willing to sacrifice appearance in order to get her unique style across, and as a result is famous for her unusual routine while garbed as Sis Hopkins.

Marie Callahan, the pint-sized partner of Harland Dixon, dances with the precision of the tick of a watch.

Matching step for step with the most original dancer in the country, she is perfection in miniature.

Marion Saki, light as thistledown and pliable as a whip, attracted attention from the first. She is the foremost example of a successful blending of toe dancing with modern syncopated steps.

Among the Men.

Among the men the veterans remain supreme. None of the newer work comes anywhere near the neat-

Marion Saki—Foremost example of successful blending of toe dancing with modern syncopation.

Racketeers Now Try Hand At "Bootlegging" Gasoline

By JOHN S. CLEGHORN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—A new "racket" called "bootlegging" gasoline has been reported by the American Automobile association.

No prohibition law has been passed as yet in connection with curbing this practice but it is understood that the state of California which, it is estimated, has lost from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 over a period of years would accept any plan to prevent this form of racketeering.

"Several methods are pursued," declares the A. A. A. report, "one of these is reported from Ohio, where 'gyp' concerns have shipped gasoline into the state in the name of a temporarily incorporated company, sold it out and disbanded within the 60 days allowed for making returns on the gas tax, thereby cheating the state. It is estimated that the state loses as much as $200,000 a year."

As the nation's gas tax bill is now in excess of $400,000,000 a year and the rate as high as six cents a gallon in some states the new "racket" has caused various states losses of millions of dollars each year, the A. A. A. states.

The practice should in no way be attributed to responsible oil companies which are giving state authorities maximum cooperation in the payment of the tax, and are eager to join in the prosecution of the so-called "bootlegger," the report pointed out.

"Nevertheless," the statement continues, "the lapse of time allowed in many states between the collection of the gas tax and its payment to state authorities, serves to aid this latest racket."

Another method is reported from California where it is said that railroad cars of gasoline billed to be delivered out of the state were sidetracked and the gas sold to local jobbers. As the tax is not imposed until the gas is sold at retail, there were no adequate records, due to the deception," the report asserts.

"Of course, the motorist can alleviate this condition by patronizing dealers whose standing in the community has been merited by consistent service to car owners. On the other hand, the lure of the opportunity to buy gasoline at a low price results in motorists filling their tanks from the pumps of 'gyps,' never questioning their right to do business or the quality of their products," declares the statement.

Some states which are subject to this racketeering more than others because the time limit for reporting gas tax collections are more favorable to legitimate operations. These states total 16. They are Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Montana, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia, Washington and Wisconsin, the A. A. A. statement concludes.

Rulers Of Belgium Shun Ceremony

(International News Service)

MURREN, Switzerland, Feb. 25.—After a seige of great pomp and ceremony during the marriage of their daughter, Princess Marie Jose, to the Crown King of Italy, the King and Queen of the Belgians have arrived here, where, as last year, they lead the simplest possible life. With them are only one maid and a valet. Upon their arrival, they rested for barely an hour and then went right out to try the quality of the snow.

The King is excellent on skis and makes quite a handsome figure, being very tall and erect. He usually wears blue glasses because of the sun-glare on the snow.

The Queen skis too, but is far better on skates.

Advancements Seen In New Nash Cars

Advancements in automobile engineering and body design so pronounced that they anticipate the future trend of development are spread before motor enthusiasts in the display of new twin-ignition eight, twin-ignition six and single six models arranged by the Gulton Motors Co., local Nash dealers, as its automobile show feature.

The three groups of new "400's" have both advanced motor design and high standards of coach-building. All are built on five wheelbase lengths and in three Nash price fields.

In the new twin-ignition eight, Nash presents a product which embraces advancements in eight-cylinder design and performance not obtainable in any motor car built today. It is powered by an eight-in-line, twin-ignition, valve-in-head, nine-bearing motor with an integrally counter-weighted, hollow-pin crankshaft; with aluminum alloy Invar-strut pistons and aluminum alloy connecting rods capped at the crankshaft end with case hardened steel; a motor that develops 100 horsepower in its 298.6 cubic inches of displacement and matches its amazing power and speed with surprising quietness, smoothness, ease of control and fuel economy.

Don Juans Of Old Spain Go Back To Wearing Cloak

MADRID, Feb. 25.—The "society" for the protection of the Spanish cloak," intended to preserve in general use the picturesque garment characteristic of Spain's romantic past, against the encroachment of such masculine dress modernities as overcoats and slickers, is finding many eager joiners.

The graceful cloak without which a stage Spaniard has never been complete, is coming back into popularity among the fashionable crowds in the streets of the large cities. It has never ceased to be the vogue in smaller places. But during recent years men were wearing cloaks less and less in the capitol and dressing themselves against the cold just as a New Yorker or Londoner might do.

The society for the protection of the cloak came to the rescue. "Any man in any city anywhere in the world can wear an overcoat," it said. "That is no distinction, but only a Spaniard knows properly how to wear a cloak, that is something. Be proud of your national dress, men of Spain. Spats and sweaters and other such importations are all very well, but do not abandon the gallant grab of your ancestors and ape the overcoats of aliens."

That got results.

And almost any Spaniard will assure you, as a solemn fact, that no man not born to the custom can ever acquire precisely the little tricks of the Spaniard with his cloak—the debonair toss with which he puts it on and off, its ranking swing around the shoulders, the swashbuckling way he muffs it over his chin. He can do as many interesting things with his cloak as a senorita can with her fan.

Plymouth Shows Many Improvements

"It is the watchword of the Plymouth organization that the public shall be given the immediate advantage of all new features developed and approved by our engineering staff," says A. Van Der Zee, general sales manager, Plymouth Motor corporation.

"During the last 12 months we have introduced 28 important improvements in our cars."

"Plymouth as presented at the automobile show, represents the progress made to date in a continuous program of automotive development, each particular of which was put into production as soon as perfected."

"This means that, month by month, we are offering a progressively better product, a better value in an automobile," continued Mr. Van Der Zee.

"Some of these 28 important Plymouth improvements are: A longer engine stroke, larger crankshaft bearings, steel ring gear for the flywheel, stronger and roomier bodies, smaller and sturdier wheels, a heavier and more sturdy frame, the manually operated starter, redesigned and more resilient springs and gasoline filter."

Leaders are born ..not made

BE it man, or beast, or motor car—if the stuff is not there to start with, leadership at best will be transitory.

Leaders are born—not made!

Six years ago a new word was written boldly across the automobile horizon.

It was Chrysler!

Each succeeding day, each succeeding week, each succeeding month, each succeeding year since that word flashed into prominence, it has continued to mount higher and higher in motordom's firmament.

Nothing has stayed its rise, nothing even momentarily has retarded its progress.

Chrysler sprang into leadership overnight—naturally, inevitably—because Chrysler was a potential leader—a leader at heart—a leader in ideas, ideals and visible accomplishment.

Today, as at the start, what Chrysler does—or proposes to do—becomes the basic standard of efficiency in the realm of motor cars.

To the world-at-large—to trade and public alike—a car either is or is not an approach to Chrysler in engineering, in style and in performance.

It is because Chrysler has acquired and substantiated this generous public confidence that Chrysler owners seldom give second thought to any other car.

Having a Chrysler, they know they have the best. And it is this conviction that causes them so freely to express their pride of ownership at every opportunity.

For, truly, Chrysler's unvarying leadership inspires a pride all its own.

How much power has the king of England? Can he influence legislation? What are his duties during a parliamentary session? How is he paid?

The king of England has about the same power as a flag, and his duties are much the same insofar as the actual machinery of government is concerned. His parliamentary task is limited to opening sessions with a "speech from the throne," but his ministers write it for him. Nominally he appoints his premier, but he must choose the leader of the majority parliamentary party. Nevertheless, he is in contact with all the country's "big men," and thus possesses an influence over many of them, especially if they are susceptible to social pressure, which he commands absolutely. He owns estates which yield him a handsome income and receives a variable allowance for what may be described as "expenses," but is not regularly salaried. His income is as uncertain to guess at as any other rich man's.

Who was leading lady in motion picture called "Mickie"—Mabel Normand or Violet Meserau? It was Mabel Normand.

Do business mergers lessen competition? Why are there so many? Are they desirable or otherwise?

Mergers do lessen competition. That is their object, and explains why there are so many. A single management is cheaper than several, a single plant is cheaper to run than several smaller plants. Supposedly, efficiency is enhanced. Profits are concentrated. If the combined concerns share their economies with their customers, by cutting prices, they reduce the cost of living. Some economists believe that, having ended competition, they will increase prices instead. No one knows yet. Government regulation is suggested, to compel them to be reasonable, but skeptics fear they will be too powerful to regulate. The whole question, both ways, is open to argument.

What does "theocratic trend" mean as applied to the government? A theocracy is "a government recognizing the immediate sovereignty of God," or "a government by ecclesiastics," an ecclesiastic being "one officially set apart for the service of the church."

What is the correct pronunciation of the name, Jose Mojica?—the opera star who sang with Mary Garden last year.

Jose, meaning Joseph, is pronounced approximately "Ho-say," with the accent on the last syllable. In strictly correct Spanish the "J" has a guttural sound not reproducible in English. Mojica is "Mo-hee-ka," with the accent on the second syllable, and the same guttural "J".

Oldsmobile Six Driving Is Easy

With many owners driving 600 or more miles a day, engineers of the Oldsmobile Six this year have concentrated in improving those features of car performance which increase driving ease and comfort. They have striven to make driving as effortless as a ride on the magic carpet of Arabian Nights fame.

While many factors enter into unconstrained driving comfort, the steering mechanism is of first importance. Realizing this, Oldsmobile engineers have devoted considerable study to this feature and this year are presenting an improved type of steering gear which provides exceptional handling ease.

The new steering gear is actuated by a worm working on roller bearings which operates a three-toothed sector. The design is such that it provides ample freedom and smooth operation throughout the entire range of the wheel arc, thus giving the same ease when making sharp turns as when operating in the central range. Another feature of this type gear is that road shocks caused by the wheel stringing bumps are absorbed before they reach the steering wheel. This feature is appreciated by drivers who frequently sit at the wheel all day.

The ease of operation and efficiency of brake and clutch mechanisms are vitally important, particularly when driving in congested city traffic. Both of these features have been improved in this year's Oldsmobile.

The new brakes are of the fully enclosed, two shot, pressed steel, internal expanding type. A high co-efficiency moulded brake lining is employed and is so designed as to provide quiet operation. The brake mechanism is of new design and is noteworthy for its simplicity and efficiency. Of most importance to the driver, however, is the fact that it provides a high rate of deceleration with soft pedal pressure.

The clutch action also has been softened and provides easy yet positive action without any tendency to grab.

Important Improvements in the New Oldsmobile—but NOT ONE CHANGE in FUNDAMENTALS

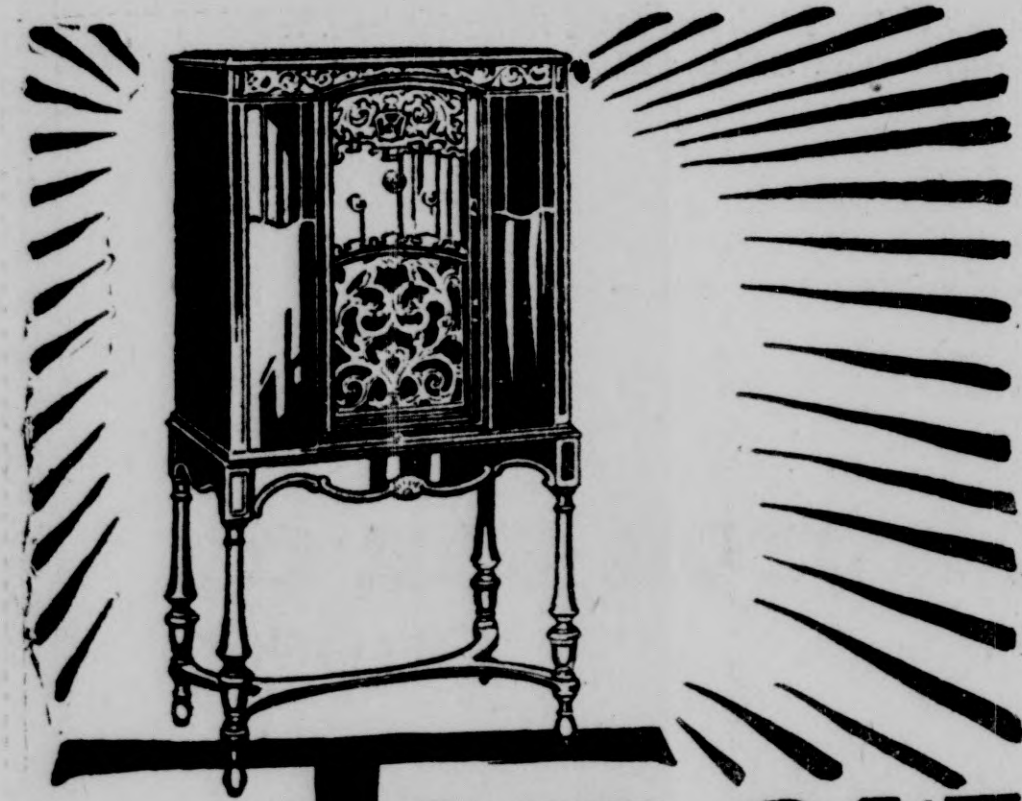

Oldsmobile now presents important improvements and refinements which add definitely to beauty, comfort and performance. Yet the characteristic lines of the car have not been changed . . . and its fundamental engine and chassis design is not radically different. In appearance, Oldsmobile is longer—lower—smarter. Increased roominess, longer-wearing upholsteries, and deeper, more comfortable seats add further comfort and luxury to the interiors. Improved carburetion, more responsive steering, and improved, fully-enclosed four-wheel brakes increase the efficiency and safety of Oldsmobile's reliable engine and sturdy chassis. The sum of these advancements is substantially increased value—an even finer car of low price. Look at all cars in Oldsmobile's field and inspect them critically. Check feature for feature and point for point. And you will find in Oldsmobile many reasons for making it the car of your choice.

Quake Cracked Old Boston Water Mains, Engineers Declare

November Temblor Caused No Visible Damage, But Actual Loss Is $600,000

BOSTON, Feb. 25.—The November earthquake, which caused no visible damage in Boston, is believed by city engineers to have weakened old water pipes of large diameter so seriously that their replacement at an estimated cost of $600,000 is regarded as unavoidable.

Three supply pipes, 30, 36 and 40 inches in diameter, which convey water from the Brookline reservoirs of the metropolitan water district to distribution mains in downtown Boston, are such potential sources of serious trouble and probably heavy financial loss that Mayor-elect Curley will be asked to approve a loan order for the financing of replacement work. Such a project will cover an entire year.

Christopher J. Carven, division engineer of the Public Works department, in charge of the water system, is certain, from his investigation of the causes of two recent breaks in pipes in Roxbury, and from conferences with metropolitan Water commission engineers that the earthquake did startling damage to pipes which were laid 80 years ago.

Study of the broken cast-iron pipes which burst at Huntington avenue and Waite street and in Brookline avenue have convinced Mr. Carven that the theory that the earthquake was responsible for the weakening of the old pipes is the only practical explanation of the breaks.

The supply pipes which he recommends should be removed stretch from the Chestnut Hill and the old Brookline reservoirs to the Common, a distance of five miles.

New Buick And Marquette Models

The Lawrence Automobile Co., local Buick and Marquette dealers, will have many new models on display at the New Castle Auto Show this week.

Marquette, new companion car to the Buick, which made its first appearance earlier in the season, is creating unusual interest. This six-cylinder car is in the spotlight because it offers many features and advantages that are new in its price field.

Built on a 114-inch wheelbase, the Marquette is offered in six models—a four-door sedan, two-door sedan, business coupe, sport coupe, roadster and a phaeton. All models in the line are powered with powerful L-head engine which develops 67.5 horsepower.

Many of the new Buick models will also be displayed at the show. One of the finest tributes that the years have brought to Buick is the continued loyalty and preference of women. For the records of fine car ownership show, year after year, that more women drive Buicks than any other car priced above $1,200.

In the new Buick for 1930, have been added a vast number of conveniences and automatically operated units which add new delights to driving.

Roosevelt Sales
Volume Growing

For a period of nearly a year, the Marmon-built Roosevelt Eight has held the unusual position of being the first and only straight-eight ever manufactured to sell below $1,000 at the factory. It has been produced and sold in volume throughout the country and, as a consequence, has convinced the industry and the motoring public alike that the advantages of the eight are as adaptable to the low-priced automobile as to motor cars selling in the medium and high-priced ranges.

In combination with other Marmon-built straight-eights, the Roosevelt has been responsible for Marmon recording a sales gain of more than 50 per cent in 1929, and an increase of approximately 100 per cent in the number of its distributors and dealers during the same period.

Mechanically, the Roosevelt represents an advanced straight-eight design that is the result of several years of development by Marmon engineers.

It is powered by a 70-horsepower engine built entirely in Marmon factories, and is produced in four body styles including a five-passenger sedan, two-passenger coupe with rumble seat, collapsible coupe with rumble seat and two-passenger Victoria coupe.

Many new and interesting features of design, both in chassis and in exterior appearance, are combined to stamp the Marmon-built Roosevelt as one of the outstanding cars in the $1,000 field.

Hudson's Great 8
Shows Advancements

The chassis of the Hudson Great Eight is not only totally new in design, but incorporates a large number of mechanical innovations and unusual features—many of them patented—that will interest the motorist no less than the engineer.

In the disposition of its various units, the chassis shows a well ordered, "clean" arrangement that makes for accessibility and proves special regard to operating safety and convenience.

Aside from the new rubber-cushioned 8-cylinder 80 horsepower engine, which is said to have the highest standard compression used by any maker, the constructional details inviting particular attention include: light 7 1/2-inch frame sills to which the strength of heavy 10-inch sills is given by an ingenious "lipping" or flanging of the lower edge; bridge and box type frame cross members, six in number; splayed rear springs, giving the car remarkable riding ease and freedom from sway; an anti-torsional ribbed front axle; a synchronized rear axle with a final drive in which the ring gear is located in the center between the differential carrier bearings; adjustable spring shackles; double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers; universal-jointed steering tie rod; a balanced power line from motor to rear axle, and many others.

According to Frank Carr, local World War veteran, who recently returned from the U. S. Naval hospital at Philadelphia, where he had been receiving treatment for an injury to his leg, Harley Shoaff, another local veteran is making quite a hit with the patients and hospital staff with his piano playing.

When Carr left the hospital, Shoaff and some of the officials of the hospital were organizing a show, which was to be given in the near future.

Co-Ed Debate Teams In Contest March 7

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 25.—Westminster College women debaters open their season March 7 at Seton Hill College, Greensburg, according to an announcement by Dr. C. A. Dawson, coach of debates. Miss Alice Bell, West Middlesex; Louise Adams, New Wilmington; and Jeanette Albracht, Erie, will compose the team to make the Seton Hill trip. They will debate on the subject, Resolved: That the adoption of the Wisconsin experimental college by the colleges of the United States would be beneficial to undergraduates. The Westminster team will uphold the affirmative of the question.

Thiel College debaters will be met March 14 by the co-ed speakers. Arguing the influence of the machine age on the morals of the country, an affirmative team composed of Dorothy J. Brown, Harrisville; Marie Harry, New Bedford; and Margaret Walker, Coraopolis, will match with the Lutheran team. A negative team on the same subject, composed of Elizabeth McKee, Salem, O.; Rebecca Wallace, New Wilmington; and Naomi Allen, Pittsburgh, will meet Waynesburg some time following the spring recess.

The annual triangular debate with Geneva and Grove City is being planned for April. A team from Geneva will be at New Wilmington and a Westminster team will be at Grove City. The question for debate has not been decided upon as yet.

Edith Round, New Castle; Katherine Boobyer, Pittsburgh; and Cora Williams, Trafford, constitute another team who will argue modern advertising and its influence for good and bad with a team representing Western Reserve University at Cleveland and with another team from Baldwin-Wallace College at Berea, O.

Arrangements are also being made to have forensic contests with Mt. Union College at Youngstown, O., and with Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa.

Plan Demonstration By Oakland Cars

In order that every local resident may enjoy the thrill of a ride in the new Oakland V-type Eight and thus learn at first hand its many points of performance superiority, a unique and convenient demonstration campaign has been arranged by The Marino Motor Co., Oakland-Pontiac dealer.

Oakland Eights on whose sides will be painted large golden rockets emblematic of their soaring acceleration and speed, will travel the streets during the entire month of March. These cars will be at the service of the public. The drivers will stop on signal. Cheerfully and without obligation, they will carry the passenger to his or her local destination. Or, if the passenger's time permits, they will offer a complete demonstration over routes where the capabilities of the new Oakland Eight may be more fully revealed.

"Even the veteran motorist who has driven expensive cars will find a new experience in riding one of these Golden Rocket demonstrators," declared Mr. Lindsay of the Marino Motor company. "He will encounter an entirely fresh conception of automotive performance. He will be amazed at the Oakland's ability to get away in traffic, at its dazzling pace on the open road, at its marvelous hill-climbing prowess and at its extremely smooth operation through the entire range of speed.

Only then can he appreciate the tremendous advantage that its 35-horsepower engine affords with its ratio of one horsepower to each 37 pounds of car weight. He will enjoy the comfort of improved spring suspension and the luxury of new Fisher bodies. This demonstration may be obtained either by signalling the driver of a passing Golden Rocket Oakland or by calling at the showroom where additional cars will be available."

The local demonstration will be held in conjunction with a national Golden Rocket demonstration during March in which nearly 5,000 Oakland-Pontiac dealers plan to participate. It was prompted by the success of similar demonstrations at Detroit and Pittsburgh. In both cities the public responded so enthusiastically that the dealer organization decided to arrange an Oakland Eight demonstration on a national basis.

LET A DEMONSTRATION TELL YOU WHAT THE SHOW CAN NOT REVEAL

When you see the New Oakland Eight and the New Series Pontiac Big Six at the Auto Show you will learn much about their refreshing new style and their advanced engineering. But the Show cannot reveal to you what these two great cars offer in performance, smoothness, safety, riding comfort and handling ease. These qualities you can appreciate only after a demonstration. Arrange to drive the New Oakland or the New Series Pontiac by requesting a demonstration while you are at the Show.

THE NEW OAKLAND 8

THE CAR WITH SUPERIOR PERFORMANCE

The New Oakland Eight develops 85 horsepower. This makes it the highest powered car produced for its size and weight, only racing cars excepted. Each horsepower has but 37 pounds of car weight to propel. That is why few, if any, cars can pass the New Oakland on the hills—why few can equal it in top speed or match its acceleration.

In designing this high-powered engine, Oakland intensified its inherent eight-cylinder smoothness by the use of several exclusive mechanical features. Among these are patented laminated spring engine mountings, a new type cylinder head and a complete down-draft fuel system.

Oakland's new mechanical features are part of an engine whose basic design is remarkably sound. A knowledge of eight-cylinder engines gained through 16 years' experience was contributed by Oakland engineers who had participated in creating General Motors' first eight, back in 1914.

When you inspect this new eight at the Show, and note carefully its smart styling, its attractive Fisher bodies and the excellence of its chassis, we believe its price will seem remarkably low. And when you have learned through a demonstration what the Show cannot reveal, we are sure the New Oakland's moderate price will be more impressive than ever.

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

NEW SERIES PONTIAC BIG 6

A FAMOUS NAME A FINER CAR

At the Auto Show this year you will see the newest car to bear the famous Pontiac name—the New Series Pontiac Big Six. Not only does it embody all the merits of the highly regarded Pontiac which preceded it, but it introduces a number of important improvements which make it a finer car from every standpoint.

Smartly styled Fisher bodies, whose stream-line length and lowness have been emphasized with a half oval belt moulding, make this a more beautiful Pontiac. Improved-type rubber mountings increase the smoothness of its powerful engine. Pontiac's large four-wheel brakes have been still further improved to provide increased safety. And Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers of improved design greatly increase the car's riding comfort.

The New Series Pontiac displays the speed, power and pick-up you naturally expect from its large, smooth 60-horsepower engine, a power plant of proved performance. Its reliability and economy are also time-tried. For the new Pontiac has the same basic goodness as that of the renowned Pontiacs before it.

See this finer car with a famous name at the Show. And arrange for a demonstration at the same time. Let your own findings at the wheel tell you how remarkable a value the New Series Pontiac Big Six offers for its low price.

The New Series Pontiac Big Six, $745 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Shock absorbers standard equipment. Bumpers and spring covers at slight extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values. . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery, and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Sun's Eclipse To Be Shot By Plane Camera

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—As a certain portion of California is darkened, darker than midnight, for one brief moment on April 28 two men will be working like mad 10,000 feet above the earth to take pictures of the sun.

Those men, scientists from the Lick Observatory near San Jose, Cal., plan to photograph the total eclipse of the sun on that day for the benefit of science.

It is a feat never before attempted by man, and if successful, is expected to provide Lick Observatory with some of the best records ever made of an eclipse of the sun.

The effort will be made in a high-powered cabin airplane, capable of attaining an altitude of 15,000 feet or more.

The interior will be equipped with the latest of telescopic photographic devices for the taking of pictures of bodies in the heavens.

Dr. H. M. Jeffers will be the photographer, and his plane will be piloted by an expert flyer. Although Dr. Jeffers is a qualified pilot he will be too busy shooting pictures of the eclipse to give any thoughts to controls of the flying ship.

The attempt will be made in the rarified atmosphere two miles or more above the Napa Valley, according to Dr. R. G. Aitkens, one of the directors of the observatory.

The total eclipse of the sun which will not last more than 60 to 80 seconds, scientists believe, will only be visible from certain points in north-central California.

Starting at a point on the California coast north of Camouflage, the eclipse will be seen by observant people as it slithers across valleys and towns, highways and byways, a huge shadow on the face of the earth.

From Camouflage the eclipse will be visible on a line northeasterly across the state to Honey Lake, where it goes into Nevada, according to Dr. Aitkens.

At two other points other observers of the Lick Observatory will be stationed to watch the phenomenon. They will be Doctors J. H. Moore and D. H. Menzel.

In commenting on the proposed flight Dr. Aitkens told the United Press: "It may not be successful but it is very much worth the effort. We hope to obtain with the aid of the plane, the best and clearest photographs ever made of an eclipse of the sun."

Churches Start Drive For Peace

Adopt Slogan "Never Again To Uphold The Cause Of War"

(International News Service) DENVER, Col., Feb. 25.—Denver churches of all denominations have combined in a "peace and good will" program for the support of world peace.

"Never again to uphold the cause of war," is the slogan of the movement. Leaders in the Roman Catholic, Protestant and Jewish congregations of the city, both ministers and laymen have joined in the "peace drive."

Dr. James T. Carylon, chairman of the committee in charge of the campaign said the organization has a two-fold purpose.

"First, it is designed to create among church people an enlarged understanding and appreciation for each other," Dr. Carylon said.

"We are endeavoring to wipe out the misunderstanding and prejudice that are known to exist among various religions."

"The second object of the movement is to put the church on record in such a way as to make it impossible for religion, as such, ever to be drafted again in the cause of war."

"During the World war the churches in each of the countries involved were persuaded to aid their governments. This condition, we hope, will never be repeated. Individuals, of course, should support their governments, but religion must never support war."

An interchange of pastors among the churches is part of the plan.

Sinclair Lewis Seeks Alimony Cut

RENO, Nev., Feb. 25.—Sinclair Lewis the author is seeking a reduction from $1,000 to $200 a month in his alimony payments to Mrs. Grace Heger Lewis his first wife whom he divorced here a year ago prior to his marriage to Dorothy Thompson writer and lecturer.

In an affidavit Lewis says he expects his income to be $10,000 or less this year because he will devote nearly all his time to a novel having to do with labor. He asks that he be allowed to pay his former wife $200 a month and later if his income justifies it to increase this so she will receive one-fourth of his gross income.

Lewis exchanged several letters with his former wife in an effort to have her accept the smaller payments but she has declined and will resist the motion when it comes up for hearing here next Saturday morning. At the time Lewis and his former wife separated he gave her outright $50,000 in securities and set aside another $50,000, as a trust fund for his son Wells.

SILENCE FEATURES IN REO MODELS

One of the outstanding mechanical developments of the year, the Reo Silent-Second transmission, that promises to revolutionize driving in heavy traffic and on hills, will be introduced as standard equipment on the Reo Flying Clouds, Models 20 and 25, to be displayed at the New Castle Auto Show, according to T. F. Phillips, local Reo dealer.

The new "Reo Silent-Second Transmission" recently invented by Reo engineers, and an exclusive feature on Reo cars and one other American car in a much higher price class, eliminates practically all noise of second gear driving and permits easy shifting from second to high and vice versa while the car is being operated up to 40 miles an hour, Mr. Phillips declares.

"This should prove exceptionally valuable in heavy traffic driving where many signals and general congestion slows down the present vehicle to a point where it is costing cities and individuals huge sums of money in lost time, inconvenience and in generally unsafe traffic conditions."

"The transmission will also increase the safety of hill driving because of the easy-shifting-at-high-speed feature which permits a motorist to shift back to second even after the speed of his car has been increased to the point where it is almost out of control on a steep down grade."

"With this new Reo Silent-Second transmission," Mr. Phillips continues, "many driving improvements are available that engineers heretofore thought impossible."

"Faster and quieter hill driving, greater agility in the getaway and increased safety are only a few of the major improvements made possible by this newest automobile achievement."

$50 Willed To Veterinary To End Life Of Pet Cat

(International News Service) WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 25.—When the last will and testament of Eva March Tappan, Ph. D., former teacher and prominent as an author of text books, was filed for probate in Worcester County Probate Court, it was revealed that the sum of $50 was left to put to death, in a humane manner, a pet cat. The provision of the will read:

"To Dr. Edward F. Dowd, veterinary of Worcester the sum of $50 on condition that he shall, within one month after my death, put to death as humanely as possible and at my house, any pet animals which I may own at my decease and dispose of the remains thereof." The cat was killed painlessly on the day of her mistress' funeral.

It also revealed that Dr. Tappan's nearest relatives was a 104-year-old uncle, Leperet Logee, who is reputed to be the oldest Mason in the United States, and is now a resident of the Masonic Home at Charlton, Mass. Although no mention was made in the will it was thought that he was not intentionally overlooked because Logee is already well provided for.

To the Worcester Free Public Library was left Dr. Tappan's Grandfather clock, and she directs her executor before delivering it to purchase a suitable silver plate, with the following inscription engraved thereon:

"The gift of Eva March Tappan to the Free Public Library at Worcester, Mass., in grateful recognition of the courteous helpfulness of Librarians."

The estate is estimated at about $200,000, the bulk of which is left to Vassar College, her alma mater, to establish the Eva March Tappan scholarship fund for Vassar college, the beneficiaries of which will be young women residents of Worcester County.

Great inventions are often the simplest. The architect took the door off a clothes closet and called it a breakfast nook.—The Bangor Daily Commercial.

Interchangeable Parts On New Airplane

(International News Service) LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 25.—Every piece of the control surface of a newly developed three place cabin plane and a new training plane demonstrated recently by officials of the Courier Monoplane company of Long Beach was interchangeable.

One inch of railrail deposits more than 100 tons of water on each acre of ground surface.

Gets Complete Relief From Terrible Gas Pains That Cut Like a Knife

Are Your Symptoms Like Hers?
HERE is the story of a woman that every sufferer of stomach troubles ought to make it a point to read. A victim of terrible agony for 10 years she tells about the simple treatment that ended all her troubles in just a short time.

Like many local women, Mrs. Mary Ogle is so grateful for her release from a life of pain she wants everyone to be helped and so tells her story: "I have always said and always will say that Tanlac saved my life. Few people have suffered as I have with stomach troubles in the last 10 years. The gas nearly kills me. I would be sick and in bed sometimes for weeks at a time. My stomach was sore all the time, the gas would form and collect right in the side and cut like a knife. I had to call in doctors. They said gall stones and gall bladder. Sour stomach and gases almost choked me to death and bothered my heart. Meat and potatoes were forbidden. I spent lots of money but my suffering increased instead of getting better. Certainly a harder task could not have been found for Tanlac, yet this medicine has succeeded and as I said, saved my life. My stomach troubles have yielded. I have a good digestion and best of all is relief from gases. I eat everything and gained so much in strength that I look like a different person. In best health in 10 years, that expresses it and tells the story of what Tanlac has done for me." Just the first dose or two of Tanlac will bring relief that will amaze you. Tanlac is a real medicine based on modern medical science. Like everything good it has its weak and ineffective imitations. So do not accept a substitute. Tanlac must help you or money back. At all druggists.

Now you can choose from the greatest selection of models ever offered by Reo. Now the Reo comes in three models and three sizes. Now Reo prices range from $1195 to $1945!

And Reo is a fine car that will stay fine. For Reo is good—really good—for 100,000 miles—with close to new-car performance, new-car smoothness, new-car thrill, of ownership all the way.

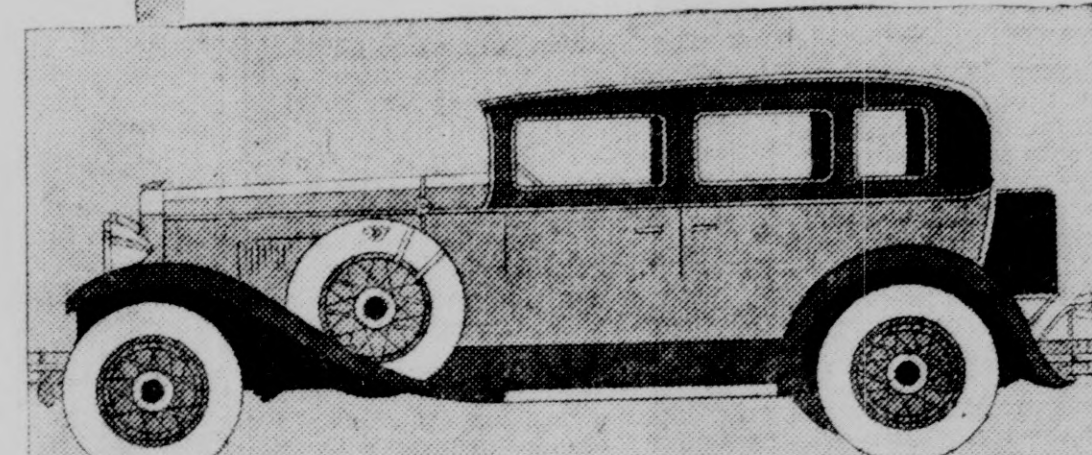

In fact, an independent investigation made a few years ago showed that Reo outlasts all other cars of American origin and manufacture—regardless of price. And since then Reo has incorporated in the Flying Cloud features which add immeasurably to its long life!

Franklin Does Much To Set Style

Craftsmanship has never before been better exemplified than in the 1930 Franklin standard line of air-cooled automobiles. This is the opinion of one of the master coach builders of this country, Raymond Dietrich, who has contributed some of the most outstanding custom automobiles and has done much to set the style for American as well as European automobiles.

"The Franklin line is characterized by a pleasing rhythm and symmetry and a graceful contour," this well known automobile designer said recently. "We have striven to reflect lightness and grace in front and appearance and have achieved this aim by making the new Franklin series typical of what one might expect as being distinctive to an air-cooled car. For instance, the staggered dart type hood louvers and the gracefully arched hood mounted with a sleek cocomb ornament are expressive of air-cooled car design.

"The entire Franklin line shows the most effective employment of the designing ingenuity of modern automobile manufacturers. The Franklin car is a unified whole. There is no clashing between the hood and the body or between the various lines. Harmony has been established and the cars are in excellent proportion and carry out consistently a repeated style motif.

New Willys Six Stands Hard Tests

All claims for economy for the new Willys Six, outstanding offering of the Willys-Overland Company for 1930, are based on repeated tests made at speeds ranging from 35 to 72 miles an hour. The highest fuel and oil economy can be expected at the modern touring speeds, between 35 and 45 miles an hour.

"With modern high powered automobiles and roads that invite the tourist to travel at speeds seldom dropping below 35 miles an hour, it is evident that any test for economy conducted at less than 35 miles an hour is worthless," states a member of the Willys-Overland engineering department.

"Because of this, the Willys Six has been designed to deliver its highest economy at the modern cruising speeds, between 35 and 45 miles an hour, instead of following the general custom of trying to secure maximum economy at speeds which are now practically passe.

"The Willys Six has been put through every possible test. Averages for long swift drives over level highways have been checked against the mileage figures obtained in mountain climbing. Cross country tours, which include both level stretches and mountains, have been made. The results everywhere have been highly satisfactory."

Questions
the Wisdom of ever paying more for any car

Its rich appointment and appearance; its outstanding performance, remarkable economy and its pride of ownership, in every particular of motor car satisfaction, questions the wisdom of ever paying more for any car.

It is a question that motordom is everywhere asking. It is revealed in hosts of new owners turning to Hudson from every size and price field. It is confirmed in the most spontaneous welcome ever extended an eight-cylinder car.

This is the car which all Hudson's past achievements are set aside to produce. That fact alone speaks for a remarkable development. When you see and ride in it you will understand that an entirely new standard of motor value has been established.

It genuinely questions the wisdom of paying more for any car.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Industrial Stock Prices Unsettled In Trading

(International News Service)
 NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Industrial stocks were unsettled near the opening today by another wave of heavy selling, following directly in the path of the one which drove prices downward in the last hour Monday.

Announcement by the bankers' pool of the complete liquidation of the stocks bought during the big break last year was a great relief to Wall Street, because it removed the threat of a large floating supply to block the path of future bull movements. Every share of stock has been sold, according to the bankers, and none distributed among the members of the pool.

After a 1 point handicap, at its opening price of 17 1/2, United States Steel forged upward to above 180 near the end of the first hour. Westinghouse rallied from 170 to above 172; American Can from 134 to 136 1/4. Anaconda Copper to 74. The motor stocks and the oils displayed a much stronger tone, with recoveries up to a point

Finger Prints Of Little Aid In Solving Crimes

Chicago Police Find Method Useless In Crime Detection

BALLISTICS EXPERT
DECRIES SITUATION

By PIERRE JOHN HUSS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 25.—Finger prints, in police circles of some American cities, may be great stuff, but to Chicago crime sleuths they are absolute.

What they may come to mean, however, is another story, but for the present, as Acting Chief of Detectives John Egan expressed it, "there ain't no such animal." The other story concerns the advent of Chicago's first scientific coroner, Dr. Herman N.
Bundesen, and the wheels he set in motion with the coming here of Lieut.
Col. Calvin H. Goddard, ballistics expert.

In the detective bureau on State and Eleventh streets, there are more than a quarter of a million cards containing ten fingerprints of criminals dating back many years. But criminals are not in the habit of being convenient enough to leave ten perfect finger prints at the scene of a crime and without the ten finger prints the bureau is helpless.

In Europe, at Copenhagen, Denmark, to be exact, where the international finger print bureau is located, they have advanced to a point from which they can identify a criminal from a single print.

In Chicago it's hopeless and useless to look up a prisoner on the evidence of a single print, unless the man is brought in as a suspect whose print happens to correspond exactly with the one found at the scene of the crime. Commenting on this, Col. Goddard remarked with regret that America in such matters is some 30 to 50 years behind Europe in scientific crime detection.

In a few cases satisfactory finger prints are found. Conditions have to be perfect, or nearly so, for a good print. A great many are smudged; rarely if ever have Chicago police found more than one or two good finger prints. And provided they have the unusual luck of discovering a good print, the cross-index system in use at the bureau is constructed so that it would require five months to five years, to check that finger print against the 250,000 record cards. Of course, if the police bring in a suspect whose finger prints corroborate crime evidence, they take it at its face value. Alone, finger print evidence has rarely, if ever, convicted a Chicago criminal. The biggest help it has furnished so far is that it tends to break a prisoner down and start him talking.

Expert opinion here further stated that ballistics, the science of identifying bullets as being from a certain weapon, could hardly be expected to convict a criminal, but that from all attendant circumstances, finger prints included, something in the way of more crime solution can be expected.
Chief of Detectives John Egan pointed out that the closest student of crime detection nine times out of ten is the smart criminal himself, who follows every new scientific crime detection method with hungry eye.
The criminal therefore early learned to wear a pair of ten cent gloves when "on a job," Egan said, and thus frustrate the "finger-print rap."

ROAMING

With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Believe it or not, but Winter is going back into his dance in a day or so, and for this we have the authority of Jury Commissioner Howard L. Leslie. And Leslie knows. Out in Pulaski Township, when Mr. Leslie announces cold weather, warm weather, rain or snow, it is as good as in the bag, and according to him, thunder in February means six more weeks of cold weather.

Just why thunder in February means six weeks more of cold weather is not made clear. It could just as well be five weeks or four weeks and three days, but he says it is six weeks, no more no less. In other words, until April 7 or thereabouts you can keep on your heavy flannels.

The ultimatum was handed down
Monday afternoon in the Jury Commissioners' room in the court house.
Outside the weather was giving a vest pocket edition of The Flood, but for a time it was just rain. Then thunder. Not a large peal at first.
Just a modest little rumble that wouldn't wake up a snake that was very fast asleep.

For a little time there was an argument. Cliff James thought it might be a couple of trucks coming together, while Ernest McCracken thought it was a load of coal being delivered. Mrs. Miller, the secretary, couldn't be fooled. She knew thunder when she heard it and said that was it. Another crack, this time one that must have been an alarm clock for the snakes, and came then the ultimatum, six more weeks of cold weather.

This in spite of the fact that some of the early spring plowing is done, that the Florida tourists are thinking of returning home, and that the coal bin is beginning to take on that worn out appearance. The groundhog may not be a certain sign, but thunder is, according to Mr. Leslie, and if he's wrong, you can sue him.

Just at the present writing, getting a driver's license for the coming twelve months is something that is occupying the attention of plenty of drivers. Since February 7th, B. N.
Hanlon, manager of the New Castle
Motor Club has sent out over 1100 applications for drivers' licenses and if his station sends that many, you can imagine what the total in the state will be.

The result is going to be a lot of licenseless drivers on March 1st, and probably a lot of inspections by the state highway police. You can imagine your embarrassment if a state patrolman asks you for the driver's license which you haven't got.

Spring weather always brings a lot of suggestions from the Curbstone Philosopher who is getting back out again after a spell in the house. He was on the curb on Washington street and the talk veered towards parking automobiles.

"It's getting so any more" he so-liloquized, "that you might just as well leave your car at home on Saturday afternoon or evening. The downtown streets are full and if a fellow wants to unload his wife near a department store, he has to take a chance on losing her, and there are lots of husbands who don't want to."

Biting off a couple of cubic inches of plug he continued, "it seems to me that Washington street from the East Side station to the public square should be kept free of parking on Saturday afternoon and evening.
There is a municipal parking grounds, and a lot of outlying streets that could be used. In addition, keep East Street free from North to Washington, Mercer street free from North to South, and Mill street from North street to the bridge. Allow five minute parking, which would be sufficient to load or unload passengers and let the traffic have the street."

The idea isn't so bad at that. And if the Philosopher had included the alleys in his restricted parking idea, it would have been still better.

Catch A Cold Daily Is Slogan Of Cult

(International News Service)
VIENNA, Feb. 25.—"Catch a cold daily" is the slogan of a recently founded Vienna club, members of which are compelled to take a bath every morning in the ice covered Danube during the winter months.
When the ice is too thick, a big hole is cut by the members on duty, under the personal guidance of the president of the club, Dr. Karl Panesch, a 65 year old Vienna physician, an ardent advocate of the cult of the nude.
Members are not allowed to wear anything but an extremely light bathing suit during their morning exercises. The club, which boasts of over 1100 members, celebrated New Year's Eve with a bath in the Danube at a temperature of 7 centigrade below

Catholic Conference On Industrial Issues To Be Concluded Today

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 25.—With sessions this afternoon slated to bring the regional meeting of the Catholic conference on industrial problems to a close, morning discussions featured the conference meeting here today.

The five-day week and the principle of unemployment insurance were stressed as remedial measures for the jobless by speakers at the conference.

Rev. Dr. John A. Ryan, professor of moral theology at Catholic University, Washington, D. C., declared the number of unemployed at the present time is greater than at any time since 1921 and is the result of the displacement of manual labor by machinery.

Two solutions are possible for the acute problem of chronic unemployment engendered by this rapid displacement, Dr. Ryan said. First, the raising of wages and, second, the reduction of employes' working time.

field for failure to have their dogs licensed.

He states that he is not through with the district yet where he finds a bad condition.

Dog owners who place any value on their animals and do not have them licensed will do well to get busy and this crusade will continue until all the non-licensed dogs are killed.

Traffic Jams Cost Paris 20 Millions

(International News Service)
PARIS, Feb. 25.—Traffic jams cost Paris about twenty million dollars a year, according to Pierre Bourdeix of the Society of Civil Engineers who calculates the loss of time of employees driving the machines, extra expenditure of gas and the wear and tear on all machines in the capital.
The tie-ups are most frequent between the hours of three and six in the evening. An average of four thousand automobiles pass through the big city squares during these hours. At the Place de la Concorde, 5,041 cars pass during this period, and at the Rivoli-Sebasopol crossing, 3,582 cars were checked during the same time.
Monsieur Bourdeix proposes the creation of four large subterranean passages by other engineers fear that the ground beneath the city is already too much undermined.

the youngest musicians who has ever won this award.
Offers poured in from America and other parts of the world immediately after, but Ginette's mother refused them all saying that she is very proud of her little girl but by no means wishes to make a prodigy of her.

Bothered With Red Pimples For Three Years. Healed by Cuticura.

"For three years I was bothered with hard, red pimples on my face and neck. They itched and burned so that I could not get a good night's sleep. I tried different remedies but only got a few days' relief and then the pimples would break out again as bad as ever. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample.
It gave me relief so I purchased more and in about four weeks the pimples were all gone. I was healed." (Signed) Paul L. Chapman,
